To the Graduating Classes of 1921:

AM told that the keynote for "Torontonensis" in the year 1921 is to be "Progress," and, therefore, in my message to the graduating classes I wish to put this idea in the forefront. You are going out into a world which has been disillusioned in regard to many of its ideals. One of the most prominent of these was Progress. Up till the War our Western civilization assumed that humanity was bound to progress towards a goal in which mankind would have reached a high measure of perfection. To-day, many voices are raised to question whether there is such a goal in sight. The idea of Progress is a modern one, but it was often interpreted in terms of material advancement indicated by the vast industrial development based upon the extension of scientific knowledge. Such advancement, however, does not in any sense give a complete definition of Progress. If we are to hold to the idea after all that we have gone through and are going through at present, we must interpret Progress in terms of man's control of himself and of the diffusion of those virtues which will make human society happier and more reasonable. In spite of the darkness of the present and the suffering of the immediate past, we should not abandon hope in a brighter future, especially we who have had the advantages of a University education. It is upon you who are graduating, and students of Universities the world over, that the higher hopes of a better humanity depend. May you go out with strong optimism and high courage, believing that although Progress is slow, although wisdom lingers while knowledge grows, illumination is gradually spreading throughout the world; may you continue to have high hopes to the end of your career and to be among those who will help to realize the dreams of the good and true who have gone before us.

Valedictory

by
C. M. VINING

FAREWELL" is a word which divides time into past and future. We who are about to say farewell stand in that neutral moment of time in which the emptied hour-glass turns, divided between retrospection and anticipation.

¶ In retrospection, we look back over a period of four years. We are conscious of change, but when we try to add the sum of those four years, the total is merely a medley of memories—a curious jumble of trivialities and things of consequence. Side by side with serious facts and principles which we have retained lies a memory of sun-warmed bleachers rocking beneath the roaring triumph of our fellows, a recollection of a jesting moment in the corridor, a remembrance of a handclasp. These fragments are our precious possessions, but they are not the measure of what has happened. The truest link with the past, and the surest measure of its result, is not found in memory; it is found in the present. What we are to-day, as we say farewell, is simply the sum of what we have been in the yesterdays, for to-day is a true total of impressions and influences many of which memory can not record.

¶ We to-day are the product of remarkable times. We saw a world at war. We saw thrones totter to their fall. We saw empires crumble. We saw humanity live through an agony of sacrifice, and, at a cost of ten million bleeding hearts, we saw a world make peace. We can not forget the proud sorrow of those days; we can not escape their influence. We must have learned something of the meaning of duty during the last four years, something of the reality of sacrifice, something of the virtue of fortitude.

¶ In anticipation, we peer impatiently into the shadows of an unknown future, our only guide the thin ray of hope and ambition by whose uncertain light we strive to read the magic word "success." How dangerous a guide, and how easily we are diverted to alluring imitations of the word we seek! We are venturing forth after these four years into a world which, in the grip of reaction from suffering and shock, has set its face toward materialism. We, too, are in the grip of that reaction; we, too, are in danger of valuing men and women, and thoughts and actions, by the cold test of materialism. The lessons we have learned of duty, sacrifice and fortitude, the ideals, the ambitions, the memories, we have cherished, we are likely to discard as out-grown and worn out. Thus, in place of success, we are likely to read fame, power, pleasure, wealth. These things may be the fruits of success; they do not spell the word itself. Many of us may never be famous, powerful, rich or at leisure, yet each one of us can attain success. Success consists simply of the fullest employment of the individual's ability, be it great or small; it is doing things with all one's might; it is sincerity. There is no royal road to success. There is only a narrow, uphill road which one must travel on foot. Its sign-posts are the lessons of the last four years.

¶ This is the gift of four years of undergraduate life—our equipment for the journey which lies ahead. For that gift there is imposed only one obligation—that we use it truly and well. Thus shall we prove our gratitude, and thus shall we travel safely. We honour Toronto's past; we glory in her present; we are confident of her future. With gratitude for her gift to us, and with a realization of our obligation, we bid her—farewell!

Foreword

GRADUATION day approaches, and before long the nine hundred and fifty members of the class of 1921 will be scattered. Soon, the four fleeting years which we have spent in the shadow of the Old Gray Tower will be but memories—though very pleasant memories; for on the eve of graduation we begin to realize that we are closing one of the happiest chapters of our lives. High ideals, sound knowledge, fine friendships—these are the gifts we carry with us as we leave our Alma Mater; and these are inextricably bound up with a thousand memories of our sojourn in these college halls. The function of the twenty-third volume of Torontonensis is to keep these memories bright; within these pages, portrayed in word and picture, is the history of the class of '21—the story of our youth—when we, too, “dipped into the future, far as human eye could see.”

The Torontonensis Board have desired that the theme of this volume be “Progress.” It is apparent that Canada, in spite of a slight temporary depression, has before her an era of great prosperity. Whether or not this shall also be an era of true progress depends on whether we have progress of ideas, which is largely a result of the distribution of ideas.

In the light of the recent investigations carried on by Dean Inge and Professor Bury, it would be presumption to attempt here any examination of the conception of progress as applicable to the world as a whole; we can only touch on it as it concerns the individual. For the past four years, we of the class of '21 have been testing ideas, rejecting many, accepting what were worthy. For each one of us these have been four years of progress. And now, as we are about to face the world—a world which is over-emphasizing material things—each of us must decide for himself whether this progress shall continue or not; the only alternative is mental stagnation. We who graduate in 1921 have gained a vision; we have seen our comrades, young like ourselves, lay down their lives for that vision. It is our privilege to live, and it is our duty to carry through life the lessons of true progress which we have learned. Let us be true to our trust.

—“for my purpose holds,
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars until I die.”

The foreword of this volume would not be complete without a reference to those who have kindly assisted in its publication. The editor desires to thank the members of the Torontonensis Board for the efficient way in which they have discharged their duties; especially are thanks due to Mr. Fred Hastings, the editor of last year's Torontonensis, for many valuable suggestions, and to Mr. Neil McKinnon, of Medicine, for his work in preparing the dedication. The Frontispiece and the Dedication page are the work of Messrs. Helme and Young, respectively, both of the Sketch Club. We are able to reproduce the photographs of Hart House owing to the kindness of Mr. Haight, of Sproatt & Rolph, Architects, who provided this series of prints.

For those errors which, however great the care, seem bound to occur in a work of this sort, the editor craves your indulgence. The work of publication has been by no means light, but those concerned will count themselves amply repaid if this year book meets with the approval of their class-mates. On behalf of the Torontonensis Board, the editor has great pleasure in submitting the twenty-third volume of Torontonensis to the graduates of 1921. It is his hope that it may serve in years to come as a Memory Book of our youth, and as a reminder of the ideals of our student days.

Joint Executive, Students' Administrative Council

"I carry in my world that flourishes the worlds that have failed."

—Tagore.

The organization of a Joint Executive of the Men's and Women's Councils is a milestone in the steady progress of our University. It shows that a little keener vision and a little larger appreciation of the master mind has been reached.

For many years the world has been suffering from growing pains and has been building up and tearing down, striving earnestly to grasp the truth, fighting rebelliously against the truth and all the while advancing steadily but slowly. The war came with its blinding revelations and seared the very heart of the world.

Our Alma Mater suffered as only a truly intellectual body has the capacity for suffering, emerging from the supreme torture stripped of artificiality and false standards, with eyes open to see the truth and brain sharpened to sense the infinite possibilities of all that throbs through the breath of life. We have been shaken out of a state of self satisfaction to a realization of our smallness. A bit dazed at first perhaps and very much humbled we started in to build up new and higher standards and readjust our whole organization to suit this new conception of things. We have caught fleeting glances though vague and misty of the infinite and our minds are pruned and humbled.

Not the least important change in the working of our social organism has been the new place assumed by women, during and as a result of the war. Many of the tasks previously performed by men in the public service, in business, in the professions, are now being carried on quite as satisfactorily, quite as beneficially to the community, by women, and in many cases the altered living conditions and altered economic conditions generally have made it necessary for women who had never previously considered the question to think as seriously of a career as ever man thought. But we feel that the wholesale influx of women into our Colleges has been prompted by a very high and noble motive—the ideal of service—the aim to make our country a better place to live in. That and not any idea of self is the motive that has prompted women to make their world-wide demand for political recognition.

It was natural that women students filled with the ideals that make for the highest type of student society, should want a share in the administration of student affairs. It was natural too that men should realize that they could manage far better with the co-operation of the women than by themselves. We now realize that the interests of the men and women students are so inextricably bound together that they must rise or fall together and no real progress can be achieved while the one works at cross purposes with the other.

Co-education at its beginning meant the larger vision of the few who always are nearer the hilltops than the rest of us. Beginning in a small way it has gradually unfolded revealing undreamed of possibilities. The realization of the necessity of an unifying force to bring into proper relationship the work of the men and women of the University has had its natural expression in the organization of the Joint Executive of the Men's and Women's Councils.

For the past two years this has existed by virtue of an agreement between the Men and Women Students' Administrative Councils, under which the Executives of the two Councils form a Joint Executive to which is entrusted the responsibility of publishing The Varsity, Torontonensis and the Students' Directory.

But a constantly growing conviction that there are other spheres in which the common interests of men and women demand concerted action has resulted in the drafting of a Constitution for the permanent establishing of the Joint Executive, which has passed both Councils, and at the time of writing is before the Caput for ratification.

Problems affecting the whole student body will be dealt with by men and women working together and the results are bound to be more satisfactory than from action by either the men or the women alone, but the development of the joint work of men and women in this University, however, has only begun. There will be many new tasks to face—many new problems to solve. This new organization has within it a splendid power—the power of growth.

PRINCIPAL HUTTON

PRINCIPAL HUTTON

It has happened by a happy coincidence, not altogether accidental, that at the very time when the President and Governors are asking the Government for further assistance to the University and College, and the Government is moving in answer to that appeal, the students themselves have opened a campaign to increase the esprit de corps and the corporate life of University College.

The two movements after all are allied to each other. The Governors are asking for more space for University College because its own building is being trespassed upon by the administration, and the students of the College are noting the lack of esprit de corps, because the same trespass tends to confound the College more than ever with the University, and to make it more difficult than ever to preserve for the College its separate identity.

Separate identity the College has: but it is as difficult to define as the separate identity of England or Scotland in the Constitution of the United Kingdom. There is no college in all the Universities, ancient or modern, of that Kingdom, which bears so close a relation to the University proper, as University College to the University of Toronto.

But the Governors hope to mitigate at once, and ultimately to end this trespass; they are asking for new lecture-rooms to be built on to the College at its northern and unfinished end: for the quadrangle to be completed by a north front.

Furthermore, they are asking for the erection of an Administration Building per se: when this comes it will automatically restore to the College a large part of its original possessions and will still further emphasize its autonomy and separate identity.

And in the third place, the Governors are asking for the building of a purely College Residence for some two hundred men. This residence will do as much as the other two projected buildings to increase College spirit. A residence—unless, like the old and disestablished Residence it house but a mere handful of students—is a sine qua non for the creation of a real College.

Even the Old Residence, small though it was, was by no means negligible in this respect. When the College and its Library were burnt down in 1890 it was found that the public spirit among its graduates, necessary for its restoration, came largely and in a measure quite out of proportion with their small numbers, from members of the Old Residence. They were the men above all others who had learnt to love the College and think of it as the place where they had found the four pleasantest years of a man's life. But no man thinks, no man has ever thought, no man will ever think of a Registrar's office or a Bursar's counter as the home of the happiest memories of his happiest years.

If this session leads to the restoration of the name University College to its proper use for its proper building, and to the disappearance of the colourless and vague name of "The Main Building," it will be a clear gain.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

F. B. ADAMSTONE

"Whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof."

Born many years ago, this young man slowly grew up. Attended Oakwood Collegiate, alias "Midge"; but at Varsity more kind associates called him "Adam." No Eve has been discovered, but, in summer, he roams his Garden of Eden, the whole map, pursuing plants, animals and skeletons with peculiar names.

RONALD ALEXANDER ALLEN

"Ask the man who knows him."

Born: Carleton Place, Ont. Educated: Carleton Place and Oakwood Collegiate, Toronto. Studies: Modern Languages. Won the Julius Rossin Scholarship 1920. Athletics: Varsity tennis team 1920. Class activities: Member executive 1918. Hobbies: Canoeing, George Bernard, tennis, literature, skating, discussing. Favourite expression: "I don't know and I don't care." Philosophy: Mostly negative.

EWEN CAMERON ARMSTRONG

"Everything has a limit."

After three years at St. Mary's Collegiate "Cam." entered Varsity with 2TD M. & P. Served with the R.A.F. and returned in time to find a place on the 2TD Squad of Mathematicians. Nothing worries him— not even lectures. Hobbies—Tennis and Music.

EDITH ATKINSON

"There's no time like the present."

Born somewhere in Canada. Educated— various places, principally Newmarket. Breezed into English and History and effervesced there for four years. President of Women's Intercollegiate Debating Union '20-'21. Devoted her life to skating, dancing and "jazzing around," but found the odd moment to read all the extraordinary books in the library.

CLARENCE C. BAKER

"My idea of an agreeable person is a person who agrees with me."

Born on February 15, 1897, at Ottawa, Ontario. Ottawa Collegiate Institute, Royal Military College, Canadian Expeditionary Force, Varsity, January 7, 1919. Pol. Science.

LESLIE R. BALLANTYNE

"Let's have a drink with kitch, a book concise and a man with pep."

Landed in Atwood, Listowel C.I. and Stratford Normal graduated him a pedagogue. The 43rd Battery made him a soldier. Varsity hasn't made much change. It rests with Knox to try her hand. A man of influence. A friend of many friends.

WALTER FOSTER BARFOOT

*"And thus he bore without abuse
The grand old name of Gentleman."*

Walter Foster Barfoot entered General Course, Arts, 1911. War demanded four years' service. He was awarded Croix de Guerre, retired as Captain and resumed his studies in Philosophy. The high regard of his comrades and prominence in College activities testify to the esteem in which he is held.

JEAN EDITH BEASLEY

"We may live without friends, we may live without books, But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

Jean received her preparatory education at Sandwich and Windsor Collegiate Institute. She has danced her way through college and right into the hearts of her many friends. She is a born optimist and never too weary to smile.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

JACK HESKETH BEASLEY

*"He speaks of things that are not,
As of things that are . . ."*

Jack is an evolutionist, an ardent Imperialist and an embryo surgeon. He revels in anatomies and military science. This planet and especially Toronto, was graced by his presence in 1899. He was educated at Parkdale C.I. and R.M.C. before entering Varsity. Cela suffi.

ALEXANDER DOUGLAS BELL

*"Here he is full of mirth and laughter,
The ladies first, the ladies after."*

Born 1900, still going strong. A Sarnia public schools and Collegiate sent "Doug" to Varsity. A prominent member of the "Alfalfa" fraternity and all dance committees; mascot of the "Fusser's Club," Steward of Hart House, 1920-21. Hobby women. Otherwise a good sport—ask Queen's Hall.

DAVID W. BELL

"An empty vixen makes the most noise."

Shakespeare. Ontario, became aware of David's existence on November 11, 1897. He matriculated from Stratford C.I. in 1916 and entered U.C. in Mathematics and Physics. He left College to enter the Air Force and on his return came to the class of 2T1. His favourite diversions are swimming and skating.

ANNIE MARGUERITE BELTON

"Her air, her manner; all who saw admired, Courteous though coy, and gentle though retired."

Marguerite first saw light in Thorndale. After attending St. Mary's Collegiate she yielded to the lure of Moderns, entering Varsity at the age of seventeen. An adept in tripping the light fantastic; a good student and true friend; class potter '18; vice-president Anglican Club '19.

CHARLES HERBERT BEST

*"A youth there was, green-eyed and pale of face,
With temper amorous as the first of May."*

Charlie was young and lively when he arrived from 'way down east by the sea. He was first year President of '20, and changing to the F and B. course acted on the third year executive of '21. He is now absorbed in special research work on Man's heart action.

GLADYS MARION BILLINGS

"To beguile many and be beguiled by one."

"How many between East and West
Are 'Glad' you passed their way,
At Branksome Hall awhile to rest
And then towards U.C. stray.
A member of the Moderns class,
W.U.A.'s President,
A faithful friend, a bonny lass,
A blessing heaven sent."

ERNEST C. BOGART

"Every difficulty yields to the enterprising."

Toronto saw the joyful event some 21 odd years ago. Honor Matric. from Newmarket C.I. 1915. Taught "the young idea" for a couple of years and then reversed the process and came to U.C. as a "fresh soph" with Pol. Sci. 2T0. Exiled to Siberia, 1919, saw the joyful homecoming. Pres. Pol. Econ. Club, 1920-21. His ability to make and keep friends indicates a successful future in his chosen profession.

HENRY BORSOOK

"To burn always with this hard, gem-like flame, to maintain this ecstasy, is success in life."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

FRIEDA CAROLINE BREITHAUPT

"'Tis midnight, but small thoughts hover I of sleep."

From Kitchener of such renown
Right to Toronto Freddie came down,
In search of Household Science Knowledge
Entered University College.
Dances or lectures, pleasure or work,
A-lways dependable, never will shirk.

JANET TEMPLETON BRISTOL

*"Nature made her what she is
And ne'er made such another."*

Matriculated from Branksome Hall,
Came to college in the fall,
Registered in General Course,
In the college world became a force,
She sometimes played at basket-ball,
Painted posters for every hall,
On her fourth year well away
Striving after a B.A.!

UNA KATHLEEN BROWN

"Some actual air-maiden incorporated into tangibility and reality."

Born in Toronto, attended Jameson Ave. and Humberdale Collegiate Institutes and the Toronto Faculty of Education, taught at Kunynunde School in her native city, three years she bannet College halls with the Toronto Teachers and annexed a Commercial Specialist Certificate, then joined UTI and the School for Fishes.

HELEN L. BRYANS

"When I have got a truth, that truth I'll keep."

English and History has been a fatal trap for graduates of Jarvis Collegiate Institute, Helen being caught in 1917. Her chief hobby was swimming, and especially in her fourth year, when not studying history or attending discussion groups, she devoted her time to fancy diving and to teaching less fortunate mortals, the noble art of life-saving. A true friend, and a "good scout."

WALTER ARCHIBALD BRYCE

"And if we would speak true, Much to the man is due."

Born in Toronto in 1900. Educated at Riversdale Collegiate. Entered U.C. in the General Course as a fresh soph. Vice-president of class and member of Hart House
Music Committee 1920-21. Manager Varsity
Junior basketball team and captain of U.C. team 1922. His hobbies are photography and syncopation.

FRANK LEES BULL

"I dare do all that may become a man."

Weston cradled him in his youth and gave him his honour matric. in 1914. Spent one year in P. & B. 178. Enlisted April 1916.
Saw service in France with the 58th Batt'n.
Returned to Varsity with 2T2.
Prophecy: A brilliant career in the medical profession.

WILLIAM F. RUSSELL

"Weary of myself and sick of asking What I am and what I ought to be."

"Bill" was born in Sept. 1900. Educated at Toronto, he matriculated from Oakwood Collegiate, and entered the General Course.
Throughout his college life he succeeded in hiding the snares of co-education. He's a terror to all traffic cops. His inherited philosophy is "To be 'agin' what everybody else is for."

FLORENCE MABEL CALEY

"Oh! What a weary race my feet have run, Since first I walked these tiled floors."

At Jarvis her career she starts
A-hunting Wisdom's apple-tree
Then hither comes to seek an Arts Degree.
Her only fault's a little one
If with her you should make a date
Be patient, she'll arrive there soon
Or later!

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

BEATRICE L. CAMPBELL

*"She does not say what I expect
But I'm the better pleased."*

INGREDIENTS:

Oro, Music,
The Class of '18,
The glories of '21,
The Residence House Committee,
The McGill-Varsity game at Montreal,
The "Ref"—a little sleep,
Much tea,
Season this with Humour.
The Result:
Most satisfactory to us, Beatrice.

ELIZABETH H. CHANT

"Round, rosy and rigorous."

Francis Thompson at the Lit,
A lab, or so a day;
Discussion clubs, the hockey team,
And swimming by the way;
A treasurer's hook, the class's poem,
Exams, she has to pass;
Then having some odd moments left,
She leads a Bible class!

E. M. BERNICE CLARKE

"The people who never get into scrapes are not the people we love the best."

Bun is just a bunch of moods and optimism.
In spite of four years in the General Course she still has her optimism. Her great ambition is to be Shahrazad the second.

MARIAN LESLIE CLARK

"Even though vanquished, she could argue still."

Unselfish, Marian possess that rare gift of loyalty to her friends, and in the hour of need will always prove herself the proverbial "friend indeed." If ambition, a decided will of her own, and four years spent in the pursuit of physics have aught to do with success, Marian's future is assured.

HENRY MAURICE CODY

"Histories make men wise."

1897 gave life to one who is notable for scholarly pursuits and an amiable temperament. From U.T.S. entered Modern History in 1914 and became vice-president of his class. Then for three years was Captain and Quartermaster in the C.A.M.C. Resumed studies in October, 1919, and graduated 1920, but like the poor is with us yet.

MARY I. CONNELL

"You never know your luck."

Twenty years ago Mary began life in Lucknow, Ontario. In '18 she joined the class of '21 and by amazing good luck she has been with them ever since. It is impossible to predict the future, as to the frequent question, "What are you going to do?" She still replies, "I don't know."

MYRTLE ALICE CONNOLLY

"Sweet, sweet and gentle is she."

Alice received her preparatory education at St. Margaret's College, and Glen Mawr.
Then a thirst for knowledge led her to seek the broadening culture of General Course, through which she has gaily danced her way. Her friendliness and bright manner have won her many friends, who prophesy for her an interesting future, not too academic.

GERTRUDE MARJORIE COOK

I sing of scholarships well won with ease,
Of best immunity from paying fees;
I sing of Moderns,—lectures, groups and such,
Of lofty scorn for English and not much
Of love for German; and I sing of zest,
Of breezy chats, of dances, and the rest;
I sing of this last year and one more fling,
I sing of work—then Europe in the spring.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

C. L. (DOTT) CORNETTE

"If music be the soul of love, play on."

At Dundalk, Ontario, "Dott" received her primary and secondary education. Twice ZTL elected her to their executive—twice she proved her ability. "Dott" is an all round girl—a fondness for music, a ready wit have endeared her to her many friends.

JOHN McDERMOT COUTTS

"He is what you behold him and his doom depends upon his deeds."

"Cootie" was born in 1898 in Thamesville, Ontario. His early education brought him two scholarships. He then entered political science and graduates without further mishaps of this kind. Meanwhile he has broadened out in the fields of bridge and "social gatherings"—long may his barometrical blue eyes shine.

KATHERINE S. COWAN

"All's well that ends well."

'Tis the voice of Kate Cowan: I heard her declare
'They have worked me too hard, I must cut off my hair.'
Her time is so full with teas, parties and books
That her friends have to help her fasten her books.
But in spite of all this, unassuming and sweet,
A maiden more charming one seldom will meet.

INEZ VINETTA CREERY

"She doth little kindnesses Which most leave undone or despise."

Inez first lived in Huron County near Exeter. Attended St. Mary's Collegiate. Since then University College has claimed her interests, during which time she has been an active member of the Anglican Club. At 94 St. George, she has made many friends through her wholesome disposition.

ELIZABETH R. CRINGAN

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

Taking an active interest in all phases of college life, Bessie has filled many executive positions, taken first-class standing in Political Science throughout the course, and won a place on the tennis team. Her chief distraction is "Varsity" on which she has been reporter, Managing Editor, and for two years Women's Editor. Her creed—"ideal" co-education.

JESSIE H. CRUMB

"She's little, but she's wise."

March 17th is her birthday, but she insists her ancestors were Scottish. Came to College from Parkdale with a Classics Scholarship the glory of which has never faded. She can discuss Greek Drama, dancing, or housekeeping with equal skill. Our "Jill" intends to devote her future to the study of domestic science.

JOHN ELGIN CURRIE

"One hour of glorious crowded life Is worth a century without a name."

Advent near Wingham, 1887. Early academic training at Wingham. Graduate of Faculty 1910. C. & M. honour course 1914. Enlisted 1916, 3 years active service with C.G.A. Re-entered Varsity 1919. One of the interfaculty rugby and soccer stars of 1920. Ambition pedagogy. Exit Elgin.

THOMAS JEFFERSON DARBY

"May every day of our daily life, Be Armistice Day with its cease of strife."

Aug. 29, 1896 was the occasion for a festival at Hiteman, Ia. Matric. at Weyburn, C.I. Sask. Won Governor General's bronze medal (Sask.) in '15. Service in France with 4th and 5th Canadian Infantry battalions. Arts.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

OSCAR DAVIS

"Why should life all labour be,"

Was born in Russia, Jan. 11th, 1900. Matriculated at North Toronto High School in 1916. Intends to go to Osgoode Hall and take up the profession of Law.

DOROTHY A. DINGLE

"She hath a natural, wise sincerity,"

She came here from Brockville Collegiate Institute, and goes forth wiser for her task of enlightening her younger sisters leads her. During her four years she has acquired academic intelligence, formulated many a friendship and invariably radiated good nature.

ALLEYNE MORTIMER STEUART DUGGAN

*"What I have been taught I have forgotten; What I know I have guessed."
—Talleyrand.*

Born in Toronto and educated at The University Schools. One year with Class of 118 and next three with the Infantry and Flying Corps. Member of Class Executive. Represented U.C. in Inter-Faculty Debates. "Dog" wants to be Chief-Justice and usually gets what he wants.

CLARENCE GRAY EAKINS

*"And love the high embowed roof,
With antick Pillars massy proof,
And storied Windows richly dight, Casting a dim religious light."*

Gray was born at Belleville, October 26th, 1897. He went to school in Napanee and, reaching years of discretion, was sent to St. Andrew's. He served in France with the 18th Battery C.F.A. On his return entered Wycliffe College.

FRANK IRVING ELDON

"Here will be an old abusing of the King English."

Frank Eldon was born in Toronto. He matriculated from Oakwood. Joined the University Battery in 1916 from the class of 118, was gassed at Hill 70, returned in 1919 and was immediately made treasurer of the Arts Chemistry Society. An Irish strain shows in Frank in his ready wit and inordinate love of punning.

BESSIE ENUSHEVSKY

"A Bonnie Wee Lassie."

Bess was born in Toronto not so very long ago. High School life spent at Jarvis C.I. A thirst for knowledge lured her to Varsity where she graces the General course. She has a decided leaning towards Philosophy and music.

*"A friend in all your friendship true,
What more can or need I say of you?"*

THOMAS TAYLOR FAICHNEY

"How good to live and learn."

Born in old Scotland, Tom sailed westward in '14. He followed the trails of western mission fields for three years. Then turned eastward to Toronto—University College, Philosophy, a city mission, soccer and—matrimony. Tom anticipates a saturation in Theology in Knox. Always a man's man everyone predicts a successful ministry. Good luck.

HELEN FINDLAY

"A merry heart goes all the day."

Helen was born in Carleton Place accompanied by excitement in the heavens. She was shepherded through C.P.H.S. and in 1917 impulsively came to Varsity. She has done most anything in four happy years and a host of good wishes follow her. Likes supps.—dislikes 9 o'clocks.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

DONALD MUNRO FINDLAY

"When men are rightly occupied their amusement grows out of their work."

Donald first saw the light of day at Niagara Falls on October 1st, 1901. Matriculated from Richmond Hill H.S. in 1915 and obtained Faculty Entrance at North Toronto. Joined the forces of 2T where he set the pace in Chemistry and is still going strong. Pet diversion, "Findlay's phase rule."

BARBARA M. FINLAYSON

"There still are many rainbows in your sky."

An interest in people for their own sakes; sincerity; tact; a capacity for seeing and making others see the bright side of things—these characteristics make Barbara's four years in General Course memorable to all who know her, and they are many.

HAZEL J. FOLSETTER

"The quiet mind,—no grudge, no drift."

Hazel.
Noun.—Proper.
Gender.—Very feminine.
Number.—Al.
Case.—Objective,—object of the love of all who know her; but occasionally Nominative,—subject to Social Service tendencies.
Modifiers,—the adjectives witty, refreshing, and true blue.
Derivation,—Paris, Ontario.

EWART WILFRED FORSYTH

"A little work, a little play, to keep us going And so—good-day."

Born 1897; Matriculated from Stouffville Continuation School 1913; Honour Matriculation Harbord Collegiate 1915; 1918-19—war service—chemist and army. Graduate in Chem. & Min. Div. 1.

ELEANOR GERTRUDE FOX

*"If ought of prophecy be mine,
Thou wilt not live in vain."*

Combat with the forces of nature begun at Cainsville, Ontario, September 10th, 1899. To England five years later. There commenced the course that culminates this year. Returned to Canada 1906. The village school, and Brantford Collegiate, were the via media to the Faculty of Education, 1918. Graduate of general course in Arts, University College, 1921.

DAVID HENRY GALLAGHER

"Smile and the world smiles with you."

"D.H." was born in the manse at Airlie, Ont. educated in Toronto at Humberstone, T.N.S., and U.C. Before entering upon the Arts course he spent some time in laying down the law for the younger generation. A lover of clean sport, he indulged in swimming and thus won several medals. His executive ability was seen in both church and school life; and his cheery manner ensured him of many friends.

ERNEST OTTO GALLAGHER

"With what strength, what steadfastness of mind he triumphs!"

"Otto came to University College and Wycliffe from Barrie in 1917 and with characteristic courage tackled a hard job—Modern History. He has held a number of important offices including Vice-President of the Lit. twice Treasurer of Athletic Association. His phenomenal physical endurance has made him famous. He's a sport!

MARGUERITE EVELYN GAMBLE

*"The college all declared how much she knew;
'Twas certain she could write."*

Marguerite, a bright and shining light of Brantford Collegiate where she won a gold medal. Transferred her flame to the altar of learning at Toronto. Interests: Modern Language Club; Literary Society. Characteristics: Always handing in essays late. Always losing books. Finding them again. Rather keen about Sassoon.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

WILLIAM ROSS GEDDES

*"Nature made him what he is
And ne'er made such another."*

Strathroy, Ontario, was the lucky town of Ross's youth. Aspiring to intellectual heights enters "Polly-Con" '15. Reconsidered and spent three years with the P.B.I. Fooling the Hun, he resumed "Collegitis" in '19, where mock parliament and "Varsity" claimed his literary efforts. Recreation and favorite expression—"A little game."

EDYTHE A. GLAZIER

"Her bark was worse than her bite."

Came from Brockville and still answering to the roll call of Honour Household Science 271. During her college course her life was very useful. She ran a clinic on the second floor of Queen's Hall where she swabbed throats impartially. She achieved respect by the frequent exercise of her favorite expression "shush." Ambition—a willow frame.

ALICE ANN GRANT

"He knows best what good is who has endured evil."

Born St. Thomas, Ontario. Schooldays Red Deer, Alberta. From childhood was her father's assistant in his medical and surgical practice. Thus saw the trials, sorrows and joys of widely varied spheres of life. Came to Varsity. Saw totally unexpected phases of life. Mathematics and Physics Course; Mathematics fourth year.

KATHLEEN HILDA GRAY

"A merry heart goes all the day."

St. Joseph's Convent was responsible for launching Kay into English and History and the Registrar for launching her out. Since then she has gone merrily along in General and has been an added asset to 271. Her happy talent in cartooning has lessened the tedium of many a weary lecture. But her posters really are greatly appreciated. She is bright, peppy, vivacious and always ready for a "rattling good time."

ALLAN RICHARD GRAYDON

"A man not of words, but of actions."

Allan R. Graydon was born in Toronto, 1898. He received his preparatory education in the University of Toronto Schools, from which he graduated in 1915, and entered the University in the Political Science course. In December 1915, he left to go to the Royal Military College, Kingston. He re-entered the University November, 1918.

WALTER EDWARD GREEN

"A handful of good life is worth a bushel of knowledge."

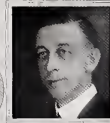

"Walt" first exhibited his vocal powers at Moose Jaw, Sask., Sept. 27, 1898, and has been a "howling" success ever since. Senior Matric at Moose Jaw C.I. Forsook the prairies to join 271 Chemistry class. One of the mainstays of the U.C. rugby team. Still single.

KENNETH ALEXANDER HAMILTON

"Mens sana in corpore sano."

Four years of Rugby—twice in Intermediate Intercollegiate Championships; a year's service on the Class Executive, the Vice-Presidency of the University Rugby Club and of the University College Athletic Association; plus consistent Honour standing in P. and B. exemplify the above quotation and explain a universal popularity which can spell only high future success.

GEORGE SHEARER HAMMOND

*"Always cheery, always bright,
Never weary, never tight."*

George, "husbandman," born Nov. 8, 1887, taught neighbors at Kingswood, Ont. to farm till 1907. Matriculated from Listowel Collegiate 1913. Had C.O.T.C. training and active service with C.F.A. in France. Made "Blighly" April 1917. "Main" object in life to make others happy, and to hold out the "Olive" branch of peace.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

ELEANOR M. HARBERT

"Of softest manners unaffected mind, Lover of peace, and friend of humankind."

Toronto born and bred Eleanor cast in her lot with Eng. and Hist. In her senior year she was Pres. of the Women's Lit. A conscientious student, she is known among her college mates for her sympathy and gentleness, and a rare personification of the qualities of true friendship.

DOROTHY STANTON HARDY

"To live, as well as to think."

"Dot" entered the University armed with scholarships, and though professing disdain for such encumbrances, has maintained her brilliant record. She has "mauaged" The Varsity, presided over the Women's Press Club, and sat on the Students' Council. An unconventional taste in reading, combined with talent and inclination, predict Oxford or the literary world,—or both.

ISABEL HEARST

"Private sincerity is a public welfare."

Hereditry and environment may be responsible for Isabel's entrance into Political Science, but ability alone can account for first-class standing in that course. Distinguished as the first woman to hold office in the Political Economy Club. A straightforward personality, combined with independence of thought and a capacity for genuine friendship, insure the future.

EVA MARGARET HENRY

"I'll find a way or make it."

Enough brains to win two scholarships, and to get first-class honours twice in M. & P.—human enough to get third-class once and a star, a fault or two,—a dash of humour,—a wealth of common sense. This is Eva.

EDITH M. HILL

"Her Modesty's a Candle to her Merit."

Edith cherishes memories of Crediton, and Windsor Collegiate Institute, but Varsity has added many more. Sympathy she gave, and a friend she was. Philosophy, Household Science, and Letter-Writing are her hobbies. Future—we think we know.

DOROTHY M. HOBDEN

*"Small herbs have grace, great weeds do grow abace,
And since, methinks, I would not grow so fast
Because sweet flowers are slow, and weeds make haste."*

Dorothy is a graduate of Harbord Collegiate. She entered the General Course in 1917 and has left an enviable record not only of scholastic attainment, but also of helpful service.

BURTON ALLEN HODGINS

"For this relief, much thanks."

Born London, Ont., Sept. 26, 1897. Entered P. & B. 119, re-entered 271 in '19. His drawl of relief and his "Monday morning" look are famous. Well known to every professor in his furious pursuit of the "why" for every "wherefore."

LILLIAN M. HUNTER

"Glad, sorry,—but indifferent, not"

Genus—Hunter. Species—Lillian M. Habitat—Found on skating rinks, in swimming pools, on snowshoes, and in libraries. Places of Cultivation—Bradford High School, Toronto Normal, and University College. Flower—A budding poetess. Leaves—Friends. Classification—Classified at first with 194; reclassified with 271. Peculiarity—Pedrewski's Mennet.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

IRENE VICTORIA JACKSON

"She has the truest, kindest heart."

JOHN ALLEN JACKSON

"A fine sight"
—Musketty Regulations.

JOHN DesBARRÉS JENNISON

"He thinks too much."

ELTON JOHNSON

"Listening to others, considering well what they say."

Irene learned that two and two are four at Elia. Riverdale C.I. taught her enough to get her a scholarship in Mathematics, and Moderns. Her friends who are many, will remember her as the girl who was always ready to help others.

Jack was born in July '97 at Leamington near Detroit, which fact hampered him none at all for he passed through the I.H.S. and entered Varsity with '19. Took three years' holidays touring with the Canadian School of Musketty in role of Sergeant-Major Inst. Played for Varsity II and studies C. and F. on the side.

Born: New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, 1899. Educated: New Glasgow; Western Canada College, Calgary. Studies: General Course, yet studies. Athletics: Tennis, tennis, more tennis. Otherwise: Secretary class executive 1920-21. Music committee 1919-20; Players Club. Hobbies: Dancing, motor cars, Boppers, tennis, music, literature. Favourite expression: "An infernal nuisance. Philosophy: "This is a vale of tears."

Born May 21st, in Hamilton with a penchant for writing. Began his activities by editing his collegiate magazine—followed this by two years of reporting for city dailies. Was originally in '19, but army service interrupted. Managing editor of Varsity, editor of the Blast, and Regisseur, Players' Club—to date.

L. A. KNOX

*"Thou art an independent mind
With soul resolved and soul resigned"*

Lorne began this life's experience at Alma, March 1898. Since then he has added the required years at, "The Little Red Schoolhouse," Elora High School, and Varsity—mere "Stepping stones to greater things." Knox will guide her Knox over another step and then—a future.

JENNIE V. LANE

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

As Varsity knows her—an ardent supporter of the Women's "Lit," the Chemical Club, the "V," Head Girl of the U.C. Women's Residence. As we know her—a never failing source of cheer, consolation, and inspiration. It were superfluous to wish her success and the love of friends.

E. GEORGINA LEGGETT

"Every tale told, she capped with a better one."

Athens and Newboro felt a strange silence when George departed for Toronto, via Brockville. In Toronto she attended the movies assiduously and never failed to weep. Queen's Hall hopes that some day she may attain her ideal combination of a business man and a college girl. Course—Honour Household Science. Vocation—Head of No. 7.

S. LEHRMAN

"He thinks much, is a great observer, and he looks Quite through the deeds of men."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

AGATHA LEONARD

"A thing of shreds and patches."

I sing of various activities
Lit, press, discussion clubs, all run with ease.
Some time spent too on books, or so they say,
(I know that this is true just before May.)
Debates, hot argument, sleep caught in snatches
And last, but far from least, editing Patches.

MATTIE LEVI

*"Brilliant and witty and helpful is she,
A friend to be proud of, a praise to U.C."*

Mattie possesses one of the most versatile natures that ever came to college. Competent and willing, no matter what she may be called on to do, she smilingly accomplishes it. We leave her future in the hands of the Fates, who we know will be kind.

ELIZABETH ISABELLA LINDSAY

"For the quiet kind whose nature's never vary Like streams that keep a summer mind snow-bid in January."

"Ella" matriculated from Weston High School. She first saw the light of day in "the land o' cakes." This explains why she gravitated towards Household Science. She is known as an "artist" in the game "Try it on the dog."

GEORGE DOUGLAS LITTLE

*"Man delights not me;
No, nor woman neither."*

Born at an early age, New York, 1899. After wandering through the Model School and U.T.S., "Dug" 'oozed' into Commerce and Finance and later Political Science. An active organizer of the Rooter's Club and the original "Goat." A Gentleman, "little" in name only.

HELEN LOCKHART SLATER

*"There is a destiny that shapes our ends.
Rough how them as we may—"*

After wandering about the world Helen at length decided to come to college. Queen's Hall was brightened by her presence; class parties enlivened by her music. But alas, along came Jim and snatched her from our midst. Lucky Jim!

DOROTHY C. LOGGIE

"Why might this not be the skull of a lounge?"

Few there be in University College who have not crossed swords with the great Miss Loggie. Three years ago she came from Chatham, New Brunswick, and finally decided General was a good course.

FREDERICK REGINALD LORRIMER

"He only hopes that Fortune send A little more than he can spend."

First put over on an unsuspecting public in Thorold, Ontario, A.D. 1898. Attended Thorold High School and St. Catharines' Collegiate. Played basket-ball and hockey with U.C. Served with the 71st Battery, Canadian Field Artillery. Universally known as "Dad." Chemistry and Mineralogy, U.C.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

EDNA HELEN LYLE

"Gives everyone her ear; but few her voice."
In a Kingdom of her own,
Sits our Edna on her throne.
Came from St. Thomas to U.C.
Where she's as popular as one can be.
Every morning up for prayers
Even tho' she slid down stairs;
She is a royal girl and true
And brought honour to the White and Blue.

LAURA LYLE

*"Sometimes from her eyes,
I did receive fair speechless messages."*
"Tolly" comes to us from Smith's Falls.
After a year at Faculty she entered Varsity with the class of '20, disappeared for a year and is now finishing with '21. A little study and much optimism have helped her through a Modern Course.

ELIZABETH MARY MacDONALD

*"I have one heart, one bosom, and one truth,
And that no man has; nor never none Shall master be of it, save I alone."*
Born at Walsville, Nova Scotia. Matriculated from Westminster College Toronto.
Instead of the fiery temper habitually accompanying burnished copper hair, Beth is most amicable. She is sincere to a degree and incomparable as a friend.

KATHERINE MacGREGOR

"A trusty hand, a merry heart and true."
Kate's slight interest in "higher education" brought her from Clinton C.I. to Varsity with two scholarships. For four years she laboured in the noble course of Modern Languages, and though her trials were many "she persevered therein to the end." Her chief hobbies—China, her Scotch relations, and the fascinating occupation of "household science."

ELIZABETH MACLENNAN

I sing of eganymity, of poise;
Of English and of History and their joys;
I sing of transmigration from those fields
To Modern History, and the joys it yields;
I sing of quiet humour, cryptic ways
That mark the even tenour of her ways;
I sing of clubs, discussion groups and all;
I sing of hopes for Oxford in the Fall.

HUGH ALEXANDER MACMILLAN

"Was e'er a man so humble and yet so worthy."
July 1892, enter "Hughie." Lucknow witnessed his adolescence. Then—Pedagogy—The Army—Varsity. Knox is next to gain. Enthusiastic Pres. of U.C., Y.M.C.A. A humour—his own. A character—sterling. A leader of men.

GRACE MACPHERSON

"De moon and de stars above is gone, Yet someth'g tell me I mns' go on."
Grace hails from Dutton, Ontario. By a process of elimination she has drifted into B. & P. However, the question of what next still remains undecided.

AGNES ISABEL MAIN

"Her lively looks a strightly mind disclose."
Fired with zeal for higher education, and determined "to make the most of her college course," Agnes came from Hamilton to enter English and History. With all her happy enthusiasm, she soon entered into all the activities of college life. She is now a staunch believer in the merits of General Course.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

HENRY HOOPER MARSH

*"Though sprightly, gentle; though polite, sincere,
And only of thyself a judge severe."
—Beattie.*

Henry entered General Course 1916, transferring to Modern History the following year. An able athlete, playing every line of sport, won the Wycliffe Field Day in 1919. President, Wycliffe Athletic Association and University Glee Club 1920-21. A good student, and a decent fellow.

GLADSTONE MARSHALL

"He fuzeth up in the evening and goeth away to a far land."

"Ganey" bade Guelph farewell to enter M. & P. Chased periscopes on the "Iriny" several years. Likes haritack, codfish and calculus. Hates spats, bowties and nine o'clock lectures. Favourite expression: "Where's the rest of my lab. deposit?" Always carries an actural text book.

EDITH MATTHEW

*"Who broke no promise, served no private end,
Who sought no title and who lost no friend."*

Frivolous? Yes; but capable, too; Studies as much as a girl should do. Goes out to dances; goes out to plays. But when results come out sometimes gets "A's." This is our Edie, always the same, Jolly, affectionate, loyal and game.

WILBERT JAMIESON MATTHEWS

"Hail to thee blithe Spirit!"

Born 1899, at Port Arthur, Ontario, where Matty speedily learned his a.b.c.'s. Matric. Woodstock College. After two years spent in a frantic search after knowledge at Mc-Master, he joined Class 2T1. Member of various committees. Player's Club. Vice-Pres. U.C. Lit. 1920-21. Hobby—Boasting the Lie. Ambition—?

HELEN MADELINE MAXWELL

"If to her share some female errors fall, Look on her face and you'll forget 'em all."

St. Mary's found itself unable to satisfy Helen's thirst for knowledge and sent her to Toronto. She has remained true to her choice of Moderns, but has found time to mingle much fun with her work. Her versatility will be her greatest aid to success.

M. JEAN MCCOWAN

"There is none like her, none."

When she outgrew Malvern Collegiate Jean came to Varsity, whither her popularity followed her. In college she has displayed remarkable executive and social ability as W.U.A. treasurer, class prophetess, and vice-president of her senior year. Her many friends in and out of college are witnesses to her capacity for friendship.

FRED M. McDOUGALL

*"His briar old is seldom cold,
For he's an optimist."*

Reached Toronto, in 1914, via Ottawa. 1915-1919 learned to 'Old Soldier' overseas. 1919 returned to Varsity and continued said game with the Class of 2T1.

JOHN LORNE McDOUGALL

"But still the blood is strong, the heart is Highland."

First offence—Born Jan. 1st, 1900. Ensuing years a blank. 1917—Entered 1st Year General. 1918—took part in the great migration into Pol. Econ. Has also served on the Executive of his class (Jun. Year) and on that of the Modern Language Club, and the U.C. Lit. Habitat—Ottawa. Probable destination—Business.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

EARLE W. McHENRY

*"The good the young . . .
He liveth for evermore."*

Born at Streetsville, existed in London, lives in Toronto. Fondness for mixing things led him into chemistry, but Lash Miller says his vocation is law. Learned so much about soap last summer that he never uses any now, otherwise perfectly respectable. Favorite Motto: God helps those who help themselves (at Varsity).

CLARENCE HAROLD McLEOD

"Still waters run deep."

Harold came to stay in Collingwood, Ont., on Oct. 15, 1897. Matriculated from the collegiate there in 1917. In Varsity he has been an industrious student in Biology and Botany. He is shy and quiet but a real good pal. One needs to live with him to know his virtues—Somebody Someone will.

LORNA JEAN McMURTRY

"She bath a charm all her own."

Lured by the prospect of Household Science, Lorna came to Toronto from the West. Pleasure-loving, yet not adverse to study in moderate measure, her happy disposition has won her many friends.

MARGARET McTAGGART

"Wearing all that weight of learning, lightly, like a flower."

Peg happened Nov. 5th, 1898. During her spirited career at Clinton Coll., Havergal, and College, she has been an outstanding figure in Athletics, despite the fact that she carried 31 and 1. On basketball and hockey teams throughout four years, gained T swimming '20. Pres. Federal '20. Pres. Athletic '21.

MARY KATHLEEN MILLEN

"Type of the lass who soars but never soars"

Throughout her course Mary has chosen those things which are worth while and has thrown herself into them wholeheartedly. Her hobby is the dramatic art and although her course is Household Science—well, "You never can tell."

JOSEPH RALPH MORDEN

*"He most lives
Who liveth most, feels the noblest, acts the best."*

"Can any good thing come out of Hamilton? Sometimes. In 1915 Ralph left the H.C.I. to enter the class of 118. In '16 he joined the 3rd Battery with the Knox boys. After three years in France he is now completing his course with 271. A prominent member of the "Bolsheviks," East House, Knox College.

JOSEPH ALAN MORRELL

Exp. No. x. Harrison, 1897.
Purpose—To make a chemist.
Raw Material—Colloidal solution, Lipoid—Clo-Protein with Honor Matric., H.C.I.
Method—Chemistry in vacuo, 15-17.
Dialyzed with European mud, 1917-19.
Imbibition recommenced, 1919.
Process to be completed, 1921.
Notes—Catalytic agent "Nicotiana tabacum." Reaction accelerated by acquisition of an English bride.
Conclusion—Research probably successful.

MAYME B. MULVIHILL

"An open-hearted maiden, true and pure."

A native of Arnprior, Mayme, after completing her early education at A.H.S., entered F.O.E., Toronto. With others of her profession, she attended the summer sessions at U. of T. Latter joined class of 271. With her kind sympathy and contagious laughter, she made a lasting impression on the hearts of all who have come within her sphere.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

GLADYS MARGARET MURPHY

"Unperturbed by stress or hurry, Inclined to work but not to worry."

Soon after she came to College her friends began to call her Glad. Her invariable cheerfulness, her good fellowship, unflinching sympathy and understanding and a laugh which runs up and down the scale, have made the name peculiarly her own. Her destination varies from England to Peru.

MARY I. MUSTARD

"Oh, What a Pal was Mary."

From Uxbridge came Mary with youth and enthusiasm. A little learning she desired, and a little pleasure too. Never flustered, always cool, she mastered any situation. As a worthy pioneer of Argyl she was chosen chief of the clan. Only a part has been told—the future will reveal the rest.

WILLIAM McLACHLIN MUSTARD

"After it, follow it, Follow the gloom."

Bill is from Uxbridge, do you know Bill? One year in M. & P.—three years at the front—back to Varsity. This time it's Philosophy, but Bill is no dreamer,—an active soccer player is he. His next pursuit is Theology—more of him shall yet be told.

EDWARD CLARKE NOBLE

*"Ye fair, Be greatly cautious of your sliding hearts."
—Thomson.*

Brampton, Ontario, Dec. 23, 1901. Model and U.T.S. Toronto Senior Matric in '16. President of class 271 in first year. Is aspiring to the medical profession through the medium of P. and B. Displays considerable interest in T.H.

WARWICK HODGETTS NOBLE

"You little know what a ticklish thing it is to go to law."

—Plautus.

MADLINE MARGARET O'MEARA

"There is so much that no one knows."

Madeline was born at Ottawa. There she received her preliminary education. Her four years at Queen's Hall and University College have been a solution of the problem "How to achieve the greatest possible results with the least possible effort."

AYLMER B. PAISLEY

*"You call this election do you not?
Why 'tis the forced march of a herd of bullocks, Before a shouting driver."*

—Scott.

Subject—See above.
Object—The Actuarial Profession.
Predicate—Uxbridge H. S. and F. of E.
—Four years a pedagogue.
—1916 entered M. & P.
—1917 R.F.C.
—1919 Back to Varsity.
—Vice-Pres. and Pres. of Math. & Phys. Society.

EDNA MAY PEAREN

Ever working Day by day,
Never shirking
Along the way,
Mathematics she mastered
And Physics too,
Yet that's not the limit to what she could do.
Pleasant companion,
Earnest friend,
A heart strong and true,
Right to defend,
Ever may she prosper, success attain,
No reverses suffer, good fortune her sustain.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

LILLIAN MAY PHILLIPS

"Rich in saving common-sense."
From J.C.I. to Varsity
Into the course of M. and P.
Came Lillian.

She danced, she skated, she conversed,
Yet always managed to come first.
To standing.

A future bright before her lies,
We wish all laughter and no sighs.
For Lillian.

DANA HARRIS PORTER

"On their own merits modest men are dumb."

Born eight days before the close of the "Victorian Era," received his preliminary education at U.T.S. Winning a scholarship, he entered second year Political Science in 1918. Was elected President of the Fourth Year in 1920. He is one who happily combines athletic and social qualities with those of a good student.

NOREEN PORTER

"The years that try and make and mend,
Have proved her worth the title friend."

A resident of Toronto and a graduate of Parkdale Collegiate, Noreen entered the General course in 1917, and has made a splendid record each year. Energetic, capable, vivacious, good, always doing what she should—her many friends fortell a bright future.

JEAN RAE

"An she's your friend to-day, she'll ever be."

Born in Toronto, graduate of Harbord,
Jean came to 'Varsity to brighten Moderns
2T1. Keen for play, she took a vital interest in the Modern Language Club; keen for work, she headed her year in '18. A friend, true, jolly and unselfish, Jenn takes with her the good-will of her fellow-students.

S. LORENA A. RICHARDSON

"She made it a practice to put all her worries in the bottom of her heart—then sit on the lid, and smile."

An insatiable desire to file everything.
A fund of wit, and a genius for mimicry.
A cheerfulness that is infectious.
A club-bag—full of things. This spells Lorena.

Twice president of the Anglican Club and a noble ornament of the Household Science course.

ISHBEL ROBERTSON

"A heart to resolve, a head to contrive, and a hand to execute."

Somewhat of a "globe-trotter" Ishbel has gleaned an education from English, French and Canadian schools. After two years at McGill she came to U.C., specializing in Mining Club. Lectures and labs. were merely a minor thing. In friendship she always proved sincere.

R. MAXWELL ROBERTSON

"Philosophy is efficient and obscure."
Both Law and Physics are for Petty Wilt." —Marlowe.

Robbie first gave Hagersville fame in 1899 when very young. In early life a jeweler, but after acquiring the knowledge of the home town 'prep' decided to forego the study of watch structure for that of the more intricate molecule. A witty, interesting personality, Robbie has made himself a host of friends besides finding time to be a leader in his studies. SAC-Rep. 2nd yr. Arts 1917.
18. Pres. Arts Chem. Club '20-'21.

JESSIE ROGERS

"Give to the world the best you have
And the best will come back to you."

A graduate of Pickering College and Jarvis Collegiate, Jessie entered the Household Science course in 1917. Always willing and ready to enter into the spirit of College life, she has gained the goodwill and friendship of all. As Vice-President of her Sophomore year and in numerous executive offices, she leaves an enviable record.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

RUTH WALLACE ROSS

"East is East."

From Halifax came Ruthie three years ago, to uphold the standards of "Dal," and a splendid academic record in General. She showed a fondness for Latin and dancing, was much averse to committee meetings and organization, but graduates as President of the Three Arts Club, and a member of the year executive. A Scotch Presbyterian.

JAMES BURN RUSSELL

*"The moon that's worth while
Is the moon that can smile
When everything goes dead wrong."*

Scenes of action: Brampton, Toronto, Hillsburg, Orangeville, The "Briny."
Course: M. and P.
Recreations: Hockey, tennis, Mock Parliament.
Vices: "Fish" stories.
Hobbies: Eats, neat notes, fussing.
Chief characteristic: Unfailing geniality.

JAS. W. RUSSELL

*"A man not given to words nor strife,
And once a friend, a friend for life."*

H.S. teacher at Waterford, '12-'14, 2nd Fulton Scholarship as ITD freshman. Three more years teaching started his hair to whiten so he hurried back to Varsity, and now goes forth—a poorer, but a happier and a wiser man.

MARGARET ELIZABETH RUSSELL

"Call me 'Maggie' but don't call me early."

A shy freshette was Marg. on entering Household Science. Strenuous labs, made her an absentee from many breakfasts and early morning lectures. Many a time and oft did she talk in her sleep. "The Dignified Senior" we find her with bobbed hair and a strange taste for music and commerce.

HELEN C. SCHELL

"Her jokes Kept all the table in a roar."

To Woodstock the luck befell
To be the birthplace of Helen Schell—
Matriculated from: Havergal Hall;
Entered Varsity the following fall;
Studied at University College.
And there she added to her knowledge.
In athletics for her Alma Mater
She showed her worth as Tennis Curator—
An Alpha Phi, and full of fun
She graduates in ZTI.

BEATRICE MAY SCOTT

"Her hair is not more sunny than her heart."

A Toronto, an Oakwood and Varsity girl! Cheerfulness her disposition, class historian in her Junior Year, frequentest at Modern Language Club with an ever keen interest in other faculties—that is our May!

EDITH H. SCOTT

"You see that mercury—it's full of water."

After a happy youth spent at Seaford, Edith entered M. and P. armed with the first Edward Blake Scholarship in Mathematics. Likes swimming, but finds it hard to float. Her career in the Physics Lab. was a "smashing" success; she finished in Math. Still happy—there's a reason.

ELLA RUTH SCOTT

*"We may live without friends, we may live without books,
But civilized men cannot live without cooks."*

The "Why" of this is pictured above. Age under fifty, moderately useful, at times ornamental, reads funnygrams, discusses women's rights, studies Household Science, practices Household Economy, an average graduate with best wishes followed.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

GRACE SCRIMGEOUR

"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."
 Fauciensis—A triangle has three corners.
 Hypothesis—Let two given corners be Stratford and Varsity.

To prove that Osgoode is the third.

Proof—Whereas Grace argued through Collegiate and petitioned through College, hence she will plead her way through Osgoode.

Corollary—"I'll be quiet and talk with you and reason why you are wrong."

HELEN D. SHAFNER

"Our cheerful faith that all which we behold Is full of blessings."

After two years at Acadia University, Helen entered Varsity as a Fresh Junior. She saw both sides of a question; knew her own mind; made many friends; told their fortunes in tea cups, and was never too busy to help them.

HARRY F. R. SHAW

*"One crowded hour of glorious life
 Is worth an age without a name."*

Clinton, Ont., gave Harry to us in 1888, and looked after him till he was old enough to enter Political Science in 1917. He was a member of the Year Executive, 1918-19, and of the first Hart House Library Committee.
 Arts Dance Committee '21. Curator of the "Lit." 1920-21, and for a time acting Vice-President.

TERENCE SHEARD

*"He, above the rest,
 In shape and gesture proudly eminent, stood like a tower."* —Milton.

Terry made his way in 1915 from Upper Canada College to the historian's shrine at University College. After two years, he turned crusader and distinguished himself in France. Since returning he has won First Class Honours and the Intercollegiate Tennis Championship. He is everywhere known as a brilliant talker, a thorough scholar and a gay cavalier.

EDITH M. SHEPPARD

"You know I say Just what I think, and nothing more or less."
 From the shores of the Georgian Bay, through Wauwassee Public School and Haverall came Edith into General, THE Conscience.

Vice—Early rising.
 Hobbies—Sleeping out, arguing, rooting.
 and psychiatry.

Aversio—High heels.

Future—Ready for anything under the sun.

JEAN IRWIN SIMPSON

"An eye made quiet by the power of harmony."

The West has claimed her, and after graduation Jean will pursue her career as a Household Science teacher in the prairie provinces. She will be followed by the good wishes of many friends, to whom, through her sympathetic understanding of the deeper things of life she has proved an inspiration.

RACHEL L. SMILOVITZ

*"Up in the morning's nox for me,
 Up in the morning early;
 When all the hills are covered w' snow,
 I'm sure it's winter fairly."*

Origin: Historic old Quebec. Her college career chiefly distinguished by her uncanny ability to pass exams. at a moment's notice.
 Early attached to Moderns, then drifted into Political Science.

Chief Diversions: Music and—(stage wis-per)—les affaires de coeur.

HUGH GRAYSON SMITH

"Much instruction but little wisdom."

Born May 16th, 1900, at Toronto. Spent four years at T.C.S., Port Hope. Survived four more in Mathematics and Physics and can still enjoy himself in spite of it.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

JANET HOSSACK SMITH

"On her forehead sits a fire."

Lucan and the Presbyterian Ministry of Canada, blessed the day when Janet started for Toronto. Four years from that date, Toronto looks back over a scarred and troubled period, during which the S.C.M. trapped Modern Languages. In time, perhaps, the casual visitor will not be informed that Janet attended University, but the tea-fights will never be the same.

MARGRETA ELIZABETH SNELL

*"She tho't to climb Parnassus
By dint of Greek."*

Latin and Greek she reads, who from the preparatory school of Seaford, driven in search of learning came to study the works of the ancients. Much she endured in the noble course of Classics 'ere she left the dim portals of Knowledge—wearing this weight of learning lightly like a flower.

FREDERIC HUBERT SOWARD

*"He did the utmost bounds of knowledge find,
And found them not so large as was his mind."*

Fred celebrated his advent at University College by taking the Riddell Scholarship in modern history. Joining the class of '19 he left the University early in his second year to serve ultimately in the ranks of the 15th Battalion. He returned to complete his course with the class of '21. He has always shone brilliantly in the Modern History constellation.

ROY VERNON SOWERS.

*"—to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."*

London, Ont., Aug. 7th, 1907—then—L. C. I. and Faculty of Education. Royal Air Force. Political Science, U.C. Class President in junior year. House President East Resurgence 1920-21. Wrote for "Varsity" under "Don Quixote." Editor of "Patches" and of "Torontonian's" Passions—Life Insurance and Journalism. "Scribbling" will be the ruin of him.

LILLIAN SPEERS

*"Merry to walk with; Merry to talk with;
And a good friend with all."*

Lil received early education in Yorkton, Sask. The expanse of Western horizon, a love of music and an unflinching interest in Political Science and Social Service have combined to give Lil a sympathetic enthusiasm and breezy energy that will carry her far afield in whatever vocation she may choose. As Vice-President in her junior year, she proved her strong executive ability.

CAROL STANTON

*"She was in logic a great critic,
Profoundly skilled in analysis,
She could distinguish and divide,
A hair from south and south-west side."*

From Riverdale Collegiate to University College, from University College to the Central Neighborhood House. If this can be done in three short years, what does the future hold?

RUSSEL GEORGE STEACY

"A light heart lives long."

This '15 product of Wiarnton High School made his appearance Feb. 23, '98. He couldn't settle down with IT9 M. and P. during wartime, so October, 1946, saw him a "Divvy Sig." Hun shrapnel landed him back with '22. "Trip" is an all round good fellow, and here's luck to him and to—well wait and see.

HUGH JOHN FISHER STEWART

"In the Spring a young man's fancy,—"

Jack came in with the century, at Brockville, Feb. 15. Educated there. Came to "Polecon," class of '21. Served his time on the "Varsity," Class and "Lit." Executives and generally fussed around. Good luck to you Jack at Osgoode. He is already a member of Delta Chi Fraternity.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

JOHN ROSS STIRRETT

"Plain living and high thinking." Having exhausted Petrolea's possibilities Jack entered Varsity with ITs. He left in March, 1916, to join the Varsity Battery and in France covered himself with mud and glory. Returned to U.C. in 1919 with ambitions that were realized in Rugby and Modern History. A good sportsman, a sound student and above all a true friend.

JACOB MANN STUCHEN.

"For even though vanquished, he could argue still."

September 25, 1900. Early education Kingston and Gananoque. Matric. 1917. Since then has been looking for arguments at University College. Political Science. Served as Sporting Reporter on "Varsity," also on Executives of U. C. Athletic Association and Menorah Society. Found at hockey games and in East House Common Room. He'll soon have "the law" on his side.

ROSALIE ANNE SZAMERS

"Wearing all that weight of learning lightly as a flower."

Toronto may claim the honour of having been Rosalie's birth place. From Loretta Abbey, where she received her High School education, she came to University College, where, in spite of its difficulties she has managed to survive four years in the General Course.

EDITH M. TALYOR

"Her judgments sober, her principles sincere."

Thorough in work and play, loyal to her friends and steadfast to her principles, conscientious in her work, she combines enthusiasm with moderation, common sense with a keen sense of humour. As Vice-President of the Chemical Society she makes sandwiches and transacts business with equal efficiency.

ESPLEN WILLIAM THOMSON

Herein hath Fortune shown herself more kind than is her wont."

Esplen appeared in Dobbinton, Grey County, May 26th, 1905. Arrived via Owen Sound and devious routes in Toronto in 1913. Served overseas three years. Has shown versatility along many lines. Hopes to graduate in C. & F. His sportsmanship, industry, and sincerity have made a host of friends.

DOROTHY LOUISE TILLEY

"Oh thou! Whatever title suit thee!"

Sometimes serious and sometimes gay, Studying now, and now at play. For classes and masses she did her bit; She played at class parties; she made a hit Fall often behind the footlight's glare; Sat in the Dramatic President's chair; Her erst claim to fame? She ne'er was a shirker, But goes down in the annals as "Tilley, the worker!"

HERMANN LLOYD TRACY

"A pinch of irony, a touch of wit, Some classic lore, and sentiment—a bit."

First appearance, February, 1897, at Toronto. Honor Matriculation, Harbord Collegiate. Class '18 in Classics. Enlisted Infantry, February, 1916; finally Captain, R.F.C. Returned to studies, class '21. President Classical Association, '20. Genius, Music; weakness, telling jokes.

G. R. F. TROOP

"Now, Hal, what time o'clock is it, lad?" —Folstaff.

Appeared in Halifax, N.S., about 24 years ago. Early years spent in travelling abroad. Honor matric. with Edw. Blake scholarship from Ottawa C.I., 1916.

Entered C. and F. with class of 270. Temporarily submerged in the Postal Service, 1918-19, but reappeared in latter year to graduate with 271.

Interested in every course but his own, yet manages to keep at the head of it. Vice-President C. and F. Club, 1920-21.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

W. LESTER TURNBULL

"To be merry best becomes you, for out of question you were born in a merry hour."

"Pat" was born in Hamilton in 1899. Matriculating from the Collegiate there he came to Varsity still young in years and leaves it still young in spirit. Secretary of his class, 1915. In 1920 he became President of the Commerce and Finance Club. For four years he fought the battle between Toronto and Education and finally Toronto won.

ANNA ELIZABETH TWIGG

"I thought unguine calhoun be the thought"
—of Bessie.

Matriculating from Riverdale in 1917, and registered in University College with the class of '21—a faithful supporter of the general course. She hath the grace of consideration. Kind thoughts, patient words, gentle deeds may not seem of great consequence, but they make the world beautiful.

ALMA AMELIA VAN VELZER

"Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity."

From Aylmer Collegiate to the prairies, then back to Varsity and Political Science—Such is Alma's story. Shy and quiet, yet fun-loving and independent, she has ever been successful and has ever proved herself a true friend. Our confidence and best wishes follow her in her future work. Favorite pastimes—Riding and baseball.

WILLIAM STEWART VAUGHAN

*"... talked school nights long up in a tower
Of sine and arc, spheroid and azimuth,
And right ascension . . ."*

Born in Toronto, March, 1898. Early education in Western Ave. Public School, and Humberstone Collegiate Institute. Entered Varsity with '20, later joining up with '21. On M. and P. Executive, '17-'18, '18-'19. Chief diversions: Astronomy, music, chess.

CHARLES ARTHUR MACLAREN VINING

Chas. started touring from Winnipeg. Scholarshiped from Woodstock College, visited France with P.P.C.L.I. and entered Political Science in 1918. He has since adorned two "Lit." Executives, a couple of Arts Dance Committee and the Historical Club, indulged in Mulock Cup Rugby and speared a scholarship. He "has no past"—but is going to be a lawless lawyer.

W. LAWRENCE WALLACE

*"And discord flees before his smile,
The famous Wally smile."*

On April 24th, 1901, Wally became a potential Rugby player. He has been playing the game ever since he can remember. He won his "T" in 1919, and was a member of the Dominion Championship team, 1920. As class President during his sophomore year, and President of the U.C.A.A. this year, he has displayed keen interest in social and athletic activities. His popularity will continue at Osgoode.

MARION BERESFORD WEATHERALL

*"Fair tresser, man's imperial race enures,
And beauty draws us with a single hair."*

Marion, light of foot and of heart, "blew" in from Southampton—but alas! Sunny California has its attractions for her. During her four years at Queen's Hall the bleachers always found her chief rooster, midnight chief coffee consumer and Sunday morning always found her in bed.

AGATHA MARGARET WEBB

*"And the ladies 'at' turn round,
'I follow her forby,
For, O, she has the 'comehither'
The 'comehither' in her eye."*

In 1917 Bradford bestowed Gussie upon Queen's Hall and General. Greatest joy-setting freshes a good example. Greatest terror—proctors. Most constant friend—the late leave key. Motto—"In numbers lies safety." Future obscured, but wherever she is there'll be no dull moments.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

MARJORIE G. WEBSTER

"Of taste to please true appetites."

To a Scotch Canadian, favoured with Eastern associations, add equal parts of ability and application. Season with bacteriology, farming, and friendship. Mix well, and simmer in Household Science for four years. This keeps her in a warm place in the hearts of her friends.

FLORENCE MARY WHITELAW

*"Those smiles and glances . . .
That make the miser's treasure poor."*

A native of Woodstock, Florence spends her summers in the wilds of Alberta, teaching. Her cheery and unselfish nature makes her a favorite among her Household Science comrades as well as among her matly friends of U.C. Favorite recreation: Dancing. Favorite expression: "Oh say! Did you see . . ."

LOIS Y. WILEY

"Her modesty's a candle to her merit."

Coming to us from Brantford Collegiate Institute, she has spent four years reading books in divers tongues (her favorite poem being "Eloise to Abelard"), serving afternoon tea, and giving good advice. Throughout it all she has remained impeccable as to appearance, correct as to conduct, impenetrably serene as to temper.

REGINALD E. WILKINSON

"Much learning doth make thee mad."

Born near Owen Sound, 1896. Migrated at the age of four to Yellow Grass, Sask. Matriculated at Moose Jaw Collegiate. Entered Varsity in Mathematics and Physics, 1915. Enlisted in the 77th Battery, C.F.A., Regina, 1916. Served as a driver in the 8th Army Brigade, C.F.A. France. Returned to Canada, April, 1919.

JAMES TILTON WILSON

"I never tell the love of love, Nor mention's hand in mine" —Tennyson.

On the 19th of June, 1899, "Tilly" made his debut in Buckingham, P.Q. Destined for the law, after a career at the Ottawa Collegiate Institute, he established himself at U.C. Enlistment in Navy caused temporary interruption to studies. An athlete, a gentleman, and a confirmed misogynist, our loss will be O-goodie's gain.

JAMES HAROLD WRIGHT

"O, he's little, but he's wise, He's a terror for his size."

"Babe" born in Winchester Springs, received his preliminary education at St. Andrew's College. He entered the class of ZTL as an honour matriculant and, after a temporary sojourn in the Overseas Training Company, rejoined his original year. "Babe" is well known and popular around "Varsity," and we wish him luck in his work at O-goodie.

AUDREY MARGARET YOUNG

"Her hair is no more sunny than her heart."

From B.S.S. Audrey came to try out Varsity for a year or so. Developing a deep affection for this seat of learning, she's still here. Her "weeny rests" and "copious notes" and "let's take a chance" have won her undying fame. Always a lively member of ZTL she served as Historian in her second year. She has heaps of pep, a happy laugh, and is literally "a joy forever."

WILLA A. YOUNG

"No much to do, so little done."

Having completed her A.T.C.M. and matriculation examinations at Brantford, Willa sought further fields of conquest and entered Household Science with the year of "ZTL. Rumor hath it that she is particularly interested in Medicine, and we feel that she may later be led to link up with that profession. Quiet of humour and genial of disposition, she has won the affection of all those with whom she has come in contact.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE PERMANENT EXECUTIVE, 1921

STANDING:—A. D. Bell, Gent. Councillor; Miss A. Leonard, Lady Councillor; G. D. Little, Secretary-Treasurer.
SITTING:—F. H. Soward, President; Miss E. R. Cringan, Vice-President.

History of Class 2T1

As in the case of every class initiated during the years of the war, our class has undergone unusual experience. During the first two years of its existence, its ranks were depleted by the call to arms and to war-work. To those who remained to carry on, there will come memories of fuel-famines, residences converted into barracks, Red Cross campaigns, orders-in-council and numerous other sacrifices of comfort, time and pleasure made necessary by the determination of the people of Canada to subordinate all else to the attainment of victory.

The next year saw the signing of the armistice, but there came to our class not peace but confusion. We were called upon to adopt into our ranks the men, who returned to complete their University courses, and whose year of graduation had been postponed by their service overseas. Then presently, just when we were beginning to feel acquainted, many of them graduated with the class of 1920.

Only during this, our last year, have we been conscious of a return to normal conditions. We now know our class-mates, the ties of friendships made last year have been strengthened, we feel the presence of a class-spirit.

In the promotion of this feeling of camaraderie, there has been no more powerful agent than the class social functions. The "hike," the class dance and the reception have offered opportunities for members of the class to get together, and true to expectations, large numbers have attended.

At present, but one more function lies before us, the Graduation Dinner. This event, a landmark in every student's career, we cannot anticipate but with regret, marking as it does the approach of the nightly struggles over the midnight oil, and the day when we must say good-bye to the halls and associations of U.C.

Not only in the affairs of our own year have the members of our class taken an active interest, but they have made the symbols 2T1 conspicuous in the activities of University College and of the University as a whole. Many have responded to the appeal of athletics. Three of our men are to be found in the Interscholastic Championship Rugby teams, others have won distinction in tennis, hockey and soccer and on the track-team. Our co-eds have been no less loyal; several of them have helped uphold U.C. in the inter-faculty swimming, tennis, basketball and hockey contests.

In literary and academic pursuits, our record has been equally creditable. Three of our men, Marcns Tait, Jack Stirrett and Ken Hamilton, have been awarded Rhodes Scholarships. The mere mention of the "Varsity," the "Lit," "Patches," the "Women's Lit," the Y. M. C. A., the W. U. A. will recall other names too numerous to be mentioned here.

As we look back on the years we have spent together, we feel that however others may praise the merits of the class of their year, and whatever our previous associations have been, the Class of 1921 will always hold the first place in our estimation and memories, and we are confident that when its members enter upon the broader stage of life, it will be second to none in upholding the traditions of U. of T.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE FOURTH YEAR CLASS EXECUTIVE, 1921.

 CENTRE ROW:—A. M. S. Duggan, Treasurer; Miss M. J. McCowan, 1st Vice-President; D. H. Porter, President; W. A. Bryce, 2nd Vice-President; Miss J. E. H. MacLennan.
 FRONT ROW:—H. J. F. Stewart, Recording Secretary; J. R. Stirrett, Gentleman Councillor.

History of Class 2T2

The third chapter of the interesting history of 2T2 opened on registration day, 1920, with 175 students enrolled. The step from sophomore to junior brings with it responsibility and each junior seems prepared to shoulder these responsibilities and also to alleviate the burdens of our seniors. We have forgotten the helplessness of freshmen, the pride of sophomores and become imbued with college atmosphere.

But we have not forgotten that 2T2, the "potentissimus" desires to be known for its originality. Therefore class spirit expresses itself in various original methods. The first class party of the term was an old-time "hike" to the Humber River. A bon-fire, games, songs, and the kind of "cats" necessary to complete such a party made the 3rd year executive initial effort at entertaining a success. Just to be different a Hard Times party was next on the list and there never was a gayer party in U.T.S.

Friendly rivalry caused friendly intercourse and it seems that this year friendships became firmly established, friendships which will assure happy parties throughout this year and next and happy reunions after University College class of '22 graduates.

Juniors are helping make history for Varsity this year. A junior was chosen to represent our college at the Guelph Conference and we are justly proud of the fact. In athletics we do our share. The Girls' Basketball team of U. C. achieved championship for the first time in many years, and we are proud to state that the guidance of a junior led the team to victory. 2T2 shares in the glory of the never-to-be forgotten rugby season of 1920 since we were represented on the team.

Thus the third chapter closes and we await the completion of our history, anxious to read the fourth chapter but sorry to realize it will be the last.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE THIRD YEAR EXECUTIVE, 1920-21.

BACK ROW:—Miss M. H. Sherrin, Lady Councillor; W. D. Maxwell, Secretary; J. C. Armstrong, Treasurer; W. M. Mustard, Councillor; G. M. Purcell, Athletic Director; Miss G. Stanley, Athletic Directress.

FRONT ROW:—Miss A. H. Macdonald, Vice-President; F. Lorne Hutchison, President; Miss J. R. MacMillan, Musical Directress.

INSET:—Miss J. McQueen, Scribe

History of Class 2T3

Upon the opening day of the fall term, the class of 2T3 came back again with all the energy that characterized its first year. We put our shoulders to the task, immediately, as a formidable opposition looms up in 2T4, which desires to lead the way. Sagaciously we stood in the rotunda, watching someone's terrified eyes searching for directions. We chuckled one to another and remarked, pointing rudely, "Look! look! a Frosh." And upon his interrogation for the registrar's office, we did hold our heads high with disdain. However, we are very pleased to see such a spirit in the new arrivals, but we are at present very busy in teaching them that freshmen never become important until they reach their sophomore year.

In athletics we have done nobly. We are very proud of our representation on the rugby team, which brought such fame to Varsity. In all other branches of athletics, the prowess of the members is equally praiseworthy.

The women of the year are to be heartily commended for the spirit which they have displayed, both in their participation in many activities and in the general way they have helped to make their year a success.

As far as the social side of the second year is concerned, the programme mapped out by the executive for this term is calculated to bring out even the most drowsy members of the class. As we led the way last year, so history repeats itself.

"Mirabile dictu" we are supposed to have an academic phase to our history. Many of us have descended from the high and aristocratic pinnacle of honour work to the great democratic course that includes all classes — the general. We continue to skip lectures and proclaim our disgust over our studies. Many of our comrades have risen in the ranks of executive offices and academic standing, and shine out as bright stars with a promising future, not only for third and fourth years, but, aye, for the future of the country.

EXECUTIVE CLASS OF 213 UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, 1920-21.

FOURTH ROW:—J. W. Armstrong, Critic; H. R. Sutherland, Athletic Director; G. M. Graham, Judge; J. H. Booth, 2nd Historian; I. T. Strachan, Secretary.

THIRD ROW:—Miss Nita Carson, Musical Directress; Miss Madge Begg, Prophetess; Miss Winnifred Hudson, 1st Lady Councillor; Miss Erminie Carson, 1st Historian.

SECOND ROW:—Miss Jean Maxwell, 2nd Lady Councillor; Miss Helen Anderson, 1st Vice-President; D. F. MacLaren, President; H. M. Millar, 2nd Vice-President; Miss Phyllis Petrie, Poetess.

FIRST ROW:—L. B. Bond, Treasurer; R. A. Stewart, Orator.

History of Class 2T4

The matriculation examinations of the previous June must have been very easy for in October one of the largest Frosh. years in the history of University College assembled for the purpose of obtaining the much heard of higher education. However, the students of our year do not seem to be suffering from lack of brains judging by answers given in the mathematics period. We will therefore venture to hope that we will be able to uphold the historic traditions of our predecessors.

Our first problem of the year was registration. This caused us a great deal of distress and worry but provided our Soph. friends with much amusement. We were to avenge ourselves in the near future for these misguidances.

About the time we were recovering from the shock of registration, notices began to appear summoning Freshies to appear at certain places dressed in old clothes. We did as directed and went forward to give battle to our ancient enemies, 2T3. A battle royal was staged at the stadium and everyone received his share of the grease and shoe polish. It was a great fight and at the conclusion both years joined in giving the Varsity yells. A parade was then formed and Soph. and Frosh. marched around the University grounds, finally parting with the best of spirit on both sides. Since then a Soph. Frosh. banquet has been held which has further helped the good relationship of the years. The co-eds were also put through a good stiff initiation with many headaches as the result.

As has always been the case the elections were fought with great zeal by Progressive, Democratic and Independent parties. Political bosses were much in evidence and the voters received enough blotters to last the whole year. The Frosh. executive is now trying to live up to the platforms which they used as propaganda.

The executive at once set to work making arrangements for a class party. U. T. S. was the scene of operations. A large number of Freshies assembled for this party but a shortage of the male element was noticeable. Dancing was the order of the evening and everyone proceeded to have a good time so that eleven o'clock came all too soon. This party was the first time the year had a chance of mixing and it was a success in every way.

The second class party was an even greater success than the first one. It was again held at U.T.S. and again dancing was the attraction. The freshettes and freshmen appeared to know each other much better which doubtless contributed much to the enjoyment of the evening.

For 1921 plans are being made for a further benefit of the Frosh. All the beauty and chivalry of our year which is an event to be looked forward to. Ours will be the last of the receptions of University College, but we again will endeavor to prove "last but not least."

Our social activity is not the only sign of our enthusiasm. In athletics we have more than held our own, having been well represented on the University and Faculty teams both in rugby and swimming. There are also high hopes of our hockey or basketball teams winning a championship.

The year 2T4 has promise of a bright future before it. A good start was made and a strong finish is expected. In years to come when the glorious deeds of the year are retold we shall be proud to say that we belonged to 2T4.

The Women's Undergraduate Association

The Women's Undergraduate Association is the self-governing body of the women of University College and its purpose is to unify and control their interests. Every woman enrolled in University College is a member.

The executive consists of an elected president and the presidents of three of the most representative women's organizations, the head girl of Queen's Hall, two representatives elected from the third year, one from the second and one from the first.

The W.U.A. is becoming each year more disciplinary in character, but it has many other interests. Mass meetings are few but important, and deal with matters of self-government and questions of general interest.

Freshies are the particular realm for the endeavours of the Association. The "Information Bureau" is organized for their benefit and is operated during the two days of registration. This includes a system of pilotage through the labyrinth of enrolment. The annual schedule also includes initiation which comes at the instigation of the W.U.A. Later the freshies are formally welcomed at the Autumn Tea, which is also an opportunity for the undergraduates to meet the wives of the Faculty and the graduates.

In view of the fact that war work is no longer necessary, the W.U.A. has this year endeavoured to stimulate interest in University Settlement work. To this end it is organizing so that the students may be of assistance to the Settlement, and that the settlement may become of vital interest and instruction to the undergraduates.

EXECUTIVE OF WOMEN'S LITERARY SOCIETY OF UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, 1920-21

The Women's Literary Society of University College

The Women's Literary Society for the year 1920-21 decided to continue the work of their predecessors in studying contemporary literature, with the papers on individual authors contributed by students. To give a background to the work three members of the staff were kind enough to give papers on literary subjects of a more general nature. The first of these was by Dr. Alexander, who spoke on Literary Criticism.

Two evenings in the fall term were devoted to Canadian Literature, with papers on Robert Norwood by Jennie Lane, on Marjorie Pickthall by Marjorie Twitchell, on Service by Eloise Telford, on Agnes Laut by Margaret McLellan, and on Drummond by Edith Atkinson. The versatility of Canadian writing shown in these papers fully justified the decision to devote so much time to our own writers. At these meetings distinctly Canadian music was an enjoyable feature; the society is much indebted to its members who contributed the musical programme at each meeting.

A debate was included in the regular schedule to choose two representatives for U. C. in the Intercollegiate Debates. The subject was "Resolved, that a separate women's college is more suited to present needs than co-education as it exists in U. C."

At the first meeting of the spring term Professor McNaughton spoke on "Some War Poets." This was followed by a Kipling evening with a paper by Ruth Home. Modern essayists and novelists were next studied and illustrated by papers on Benson by Marguerite Gogo, on Chesterton by Myra McLean, and on Masfield by Rose Broadbridge.

Miss Waddington's paper on "English Classical Poets as a basis for Poetical Criticism" was the third landmark in the year's work; this was followed by a paper on Sassoon by Marguerite Gamble. The final meeting was in the hands of the alumnae.

Queen's Hall

by

MISS LOUISE LIVINGSTONE, B.A.

MISS LIVINGSTONE

It is two years since the war ended and nothing seems settled yet. The holiday spirit of last year has to a certain extent subsided and the determined gayety has given way to a more quiet hard-working state. The reports of the terrible condition of things in Europe have at least had one good result—to make people hate war and its results more than ever they did.

Every year at college has its particular interest. There is a much more keen feeling this year about athletics. It has expressed itself in an impulsive desire on the part of the women to go to Montreal and Kingston to see the football games, and a number of the especially chosen left with the men to cheer them on—much greater too has been the interest in basketball and swimming.

Even more than other years, for obvious reasons, those who are in residence have considered themselves very fortunate as they have realized the great advantage and pleasure it is for all students to live together, eat together, and talk together. "Experience shows that that is how minds really grow." "The life in common is the absolute right of every student." And we agree again with Stephen Leacock that "the greatest of all our needs is the building of college dormitories to supply to our students a wider college life than we can give them now."

The President's last message to the students in his opening address in the fall term has been observed well—to give earnest attention to their work, to maintain high standards in sport, and to be moderate in their expenditures in view of the present economic situation. I don't think this graduating year, who have made their influence felt so much in the Hall, have any idea how much we shall miss them next year. Most of them have been in the Residence for four years and it is impossible to realize each house without these head girls and those who assist them so well. We wish them all the very greatest success in whatever they undertake.

Queen's Hall, Our University College Women's Residence

Of all the joys of college life, those which will remain greenest in the memory are probably the ones which are peculiar to residential life. Only the girl who has lived in a residence will fully appreciate the significance of this statement. Certainly in view of the present campaign for Women's Buildings it is the residence girls who should be most active in securing residential accommodation for their less fortunate sisters.

When in the years to come one looks back upon one's life at Queen's Hall, what reminiscences there will be! The mad rush for breakfast at 8.29; the crowd surging excitedly around, as the morning mail is being distributed; the wild scramble "to make" a nine o'clock lecture (a feat of seeming surpassing difficulty); the casual air with which one's friends drop in, cup in hand, whenever one is inspired to make tea; the inevitable fortune-telling at such tea-drinkings; the secret misgivings over "missed" telephone calls; the desperate efforts not to outstay "early leave"; the spirit of camaraderie which is evidenced when a dozen people fall over one another helping you get ready for a dance and the cheerful assurance on such occasions "What's mine is yours"; the midnight parties when "the box from 'ome" is generously shared with "nmpteen" ravenous pals; those informal talks which wax so hot and long (even until 3 a.m. 'tis said)—These are some of the daily events, the memory of which the years cannot erase.

One of the most interesting and stimulating aspects of Queen's Hall life is the intimate contact with girls of such varied endowments and attainments, habits and manners, ideals and ambitions. The friendships which spring from such associations are often of the Damon and Pythias type and—in the last analysis—these friendships are the things which are of most vital significance in one's university life. When other things of college days are long since forgotten, the friendships remain and are of enduring value.

Burke says "to love the little platoon we belong to in society is the first principle of public affection." To the Hall girls, the Hall is their platoon. To further the best interests and to maintain the best traditions of this platoon is the sincere wish of every Queen's Hall girl.

The Modern Language Club of University College

The executive this year followed the accepted policy of the Club in holding seven meetings during the year. Three were held in the Michaelmas term, and the remainder during the Easter term. In conformity with the policy of former years, three meetings were devoted to French; the other meetings were in Italian, Spanish, German and English. The programmes of the French meetings were as follows: "Post-bellum conditions in France," by Prof. de Champ; "Cathedral Architecture," by Prof. Cameron, which was illustrated by lantern slides; and "French-Canadian Literature," by Prof. Will. Prof. Shaw addressed the Italian meeting on "Carducci and Modern Italy." The German night took the form of a musicale, the programme of which was arranged by Prof. Holt. All the meetings were well attended, and the largely increased male membership was particularly gratifying, as it would seem to suggest an increasing interest in modern languages.

The annual play was given in Hart House Theatre on the evening of November 19th, and was a pronounced success. In choosing Pailleron's "Le Monde ou l'on s'ennuie," a three-act comedy, the executive was enabled to give to a large number of students an opportunity of appearing in a foreign play. The proceeds of the play amounted to one hundred and fifty dollars, which was divided between the Club's French war orphans and the Women's Building Fund.

"Patches"---University College

In the spring of 1920 a few interested spirits in University College started an agitation for the establishment of a U.C. Magazine. Quite obviously there was need for such a publication in our college; the wonder is that it did not exist sooner. Two meetings were held, and the above-named Editorial Committee were elected and entrusted with the work of establishing a college journal.

The task was by no means an easy one, and on two occasions at least the whole venture was close to shipwreck; once on account of financial difficulties; and again on account of scarcity of literary contributions. These obstacles were finally surmounted, however, and the first issue of "Patches" appeared in November, 1920.

The policy of the magazine, so far as it has one, is really better described as a hope; the hope to produce something of literary merit commensurate with the standing of University College, rather than a mere record of college activities. Quality is to be the only criterion.

The name "Patches" was chosen because it was believed that it well represented the varied contents.

The first issue was sold out very quickly, and seemed to be quite favorably received. The second issue appeared in February, considerably increased in size, and we hope, in quality; the sale was again successful.

Probably the most distinctive feature of "Patches" is that it is exclusively an undergraduate production. As such it should fill a real need in University College, in promoting college spirit, and in providing a medium for undergraduate literary expression.

A committee has been elected to continue publication for 1921-22, and it is the fervent wish of those associated with the birth of "Patches" that from the small beginnings of this year, there may develop a magazine, worthy not only of our college, but of our University.

University College Literary and Scientific Society

The U. C. Lit. has had a long and very honorable career. From the foundation of the University in 1854 until the war it was a strong and flourishing society. Many men now prominent in Canadian public life can look back with pleasure to the training which they received at its meetings. The outbreak of war made it necessary to suspend activities, but the Society was reorganized in 1918-19. The break in tradition, together with the changed interests of many of the students, however, made reorganization a slow and difficult task. The Executive and active members fully realized that this session—the third since the war—would be a critical period in the life of the Society. Accordingly special efforts were put forth to place the Society on a broad and firm basis.

Meetings have been held weekly in West Hall. Outside speakers were heard on different occasions, Premier Meighen, Premier Drury and Sir Robert Falconer being among our most distinguished visitors. Debating was very strongly encouraged on subjects serious and otherwise. In some of these debates members of the staff took part, in others prominent barristers, in others the speakers were all undergraduates. An interesting feature was the throwing open of all debates to all present after the principal speakers had been heard. Interest in the debating was keen and the College can well be proud of many of the speeches made. Not the least pleasing feature was the great improvement shown by many of the members.

Two successful smokers were held in Hart House and served to bring the men of U. C. together. In the Michaelmas term the Mock Parliament was held, and in the Easter term the Arts Ball was given in Hart House.

But however successful the Society was as a debating club it was not fulfilling its proper function as the representative body of University College. The feeling was general that a radical reorganization was essential if the Society was to form a real bond of union among the men of the College whose interests are so divergent. Accordingly the following committee was appointed to consider the matter: Principal Hutton, Professors Wallace, Smith and Cochrane, and Messrs. Bryce, Glover, Wallace, Wilson and Mathews. After much painstaking work the committee presented a most illuminating report to a mass meeting of the College. Their chief recommendations were the alteration of the name to "Literary and Athletic Society," and the blending of the two forces in the College life, the adoption of a compulsory fee, and a change in the nature of many of the executive officers. The committee also recommended strongly the principles of regular meetings and responsibility of the executive. After much discussion the student body accepted the report and the constitution of the Society will be altered accordingly. In this way the new Society retains its connection with the past, while it comes into closer touch with the present student body through its control of athletics. University College has in times past had a greater spirit of unity than recently, but the change has come and we now look to the future confident that she will again take her rightful place.

Victoria College

To the Graduating Class of Victoria College

by

CHANCELLOR BOWLES

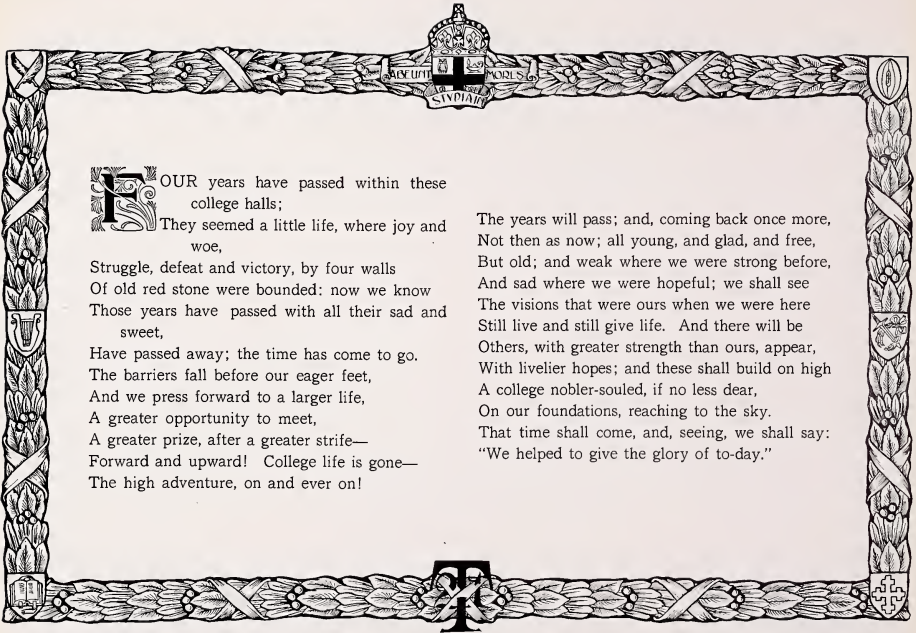

CHANCELLOR BOWLES

It is many years since the work of education in Ontario secured so large a measure of attention from all classes of citizens as at present. New ideals are agitating the rural community. Whether the consolidated school will ever arrive or not, something will surely be done to increase the efficiency of country schools, and by efficiency is not meant simply the advance along recognized lines of study, but in other directions equally important; health, recreation, social life, hold a relationship to the school they were never given before.

The secondary education of our High Schools is demanding the thought of our best citizens. New experiments will surely be tried here. If residence accommodation should in the near future be considered an essential part of High School and Collegiate work, no one need be surprised. It is quite certain that our High Schools are capable of exerting a much profounder influence upon their students. As for the Universities they, too, are securing more intelligent appreciation of the country at large. A graduate of the University is at a premium in the business world. Not many years ago his reputation was below par for business efficiency. It is true not only of our graduates of Schools of Science and Medicine who are trained for technical and professional work, but it is pre-eminently true of those who are taking the more old-fashioned courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. It is being demonstrated that the claim of these institutions to train character and increase the power of personality is not a mistaken one, and to-day the great industrial world is in need of these things quite as much as of finer technical training. Industry must have applied to it the best scientific knowledge, but most of the difficulties of the industrial world to-day are not problems of production. They are problems in human welfare, problems which can be solved only by the application of spiritual forces to them. Idealism, to use the modern phrase for religion and character, is going to find one of its greatest and finest applications in the realm of commerce and industry.

Victoria College teaches the more old-fashioned courses of the B.A. degree. Her aim has been, and continues to be, largely idealistic. Knowledge without love would fail in the earth. Of this the world has been receiving ample demonstration. The path of progress in higher education will be through spiritual lands if it is true and permanent progress. The world needs educated men, but they must be men of the human and religious type. It still remains true that the two great commandments are, "Thou shalt love God," and "Thou shalt love thy neighbor."

FOUR years have passed within these college halls;

They seemed a little life, where joy and woe,

Struggle, defeat and victory, by four walls
Of old red stone were bounded: now we know
Those years have passed with all their sad and sweet,

Have passed away; the time has come to go.
The barriers fall before our eager feet,
And we press forward to a larger life,
A greater opportunity to meet,
A greater prize, after a greater strife—
Forward and upward! College life is gone—
The high adventure, on and ever on!

The years will pass; and, coming back once more,
Not then as now; all young, and glad, and free,
But old; and weak where we were strong before,
And sad where we were hopeful; we shall see
The visions that were ours when we were here
Still live and still give life. And there will be Others, with greater strength than ours, appear,
With livelier hopes; and these shall build on high
A college nobler-souled, if no less dear,
On our foundations, reaching to the sky.
That time shall come, and, seeing, we shall say:
"We helped to give the glory of to-day."

ALLIN FOSTER ANNIS

"But they always called him ANNIE."

First heard from, Feb. 23rd, 1899, at Tyrone, Ont. Until 1917 at Bowmanville H.S., since when he has shone in Pol. Econ.

Diversions—Class executive, Bob Committee, Y.M.C.A. and U.I.S. Cabinets, "Acta" Boards, Historical Club, and the U.F.O.

Aspirations—A state of society where poetry and speed limits do not exist.

ALLAN MCNIECE AUSTIN

"Dost thou think because thou art virtuous there shall be no more cakes and ale?"

The savour of books, and rich tobacco smoke, the dansants and tiger-hunting, epigrams and political science, tennis and a cosmopolitan, and just a piquant dash of cynicism.

Contributing factors—Renfrew Collegiate,
178. Four years' exploration of Europe and Asia on foot, the mellowing influence of 271.
A future captain of industry.

MORLEY J. AYEAST

"Vivez Joyeux."

Learned of the charm of ladies' society just before the dawn of the century. Has since mastered the subject. Served acceptably on Bob, Lit., and Class Executives. Chief interests—Dramatics. Slightly educated in various places, principally U.T.S. His course of Pol.
Econ. and Moderns are designed as foundations of an architectural career. Success?
Undoubted.

FREDERICK JAMES BAINE

"Active natures are never melancholy."

Fred's first vocal achievements disturbed
Torontonians. His career at Humberstone and Harbord Collegiates taught him how to fool examiners; two years at business taught him how to work. Since then he has been doing both. A thorough musician, he has been the leading spirit of the College Orchestra, serving as conductor and President. Faithful, capable, and always good-natured, predominates those qualities which assure success.

IRENE K. BALFOUR

"There are plenty of acquaintances in the world, but very few real friends."

Jolly, serious, sympathetic, loyal, friendly, enthusiastic, "Ikey" came to Vic. one day.
Besides Moderns, she was found time for Executives—Class, Choral, and S.C.A.—and what would life be without the occasional good time?

RICHARD LLOYD BELL

"Youth shows but half."

Born at Springford, October 32, 1896. Matriculating from Ingersoll Collegiate, he entered Victoria in M. & P., and was with the class of ITS until enlistment; had his final year granted, and has entered the Ont. College of Education. He is a good student, ranks high in his studies, and is a true friend.

GEORGE ERNEST BOTT

"A most marvellous capacity for friendship."

Born in B(ackwater), he hastened to catch

SADIE BUSH

*"For thy marvellous gift to call
From our common life and dull, Whoso'er is beautiful."*

Sadie came up from Morrisburg with the class of '18. She decided that better things were coming, so waited for '21. Besides writing for "Acta" and working on the "Lit." Executive, Sadie always finds time for tea and a chat with a friend.

EVELYN M. BUTCHER

*"A winsome lass, she's fair and sweet,
Her heart is true, she's trim and neat,
But best of all her pies and cake
Are such as mother used to make."*

After five years at Jarvis Collegiate Evelyn entered Victoria in Household Science. She has taken a lively part in College activities, and her sunny disposition has won for her many friends.

JOHN WILLIAM BUTTON

"To make the best of what is in your power and take the rest as it occurs."

Born 1889 near Seaforth, Huron Co. Hon. matric. Seaforth Collegiate, 1914. Vic. 1914-1916. Munition work, 1916-1918. Village parson, 1919-1920. A quiet conscientious worker, John makes study his sport and home and family his society.

JEAN DOUGLASS CAMERON

*"Friend-making everywhere, friend finding you,
Fit for the sunshin, so it followed her.
A happy-tempered bringer of the best
Out of the worst."*

Frail, studious, original, Jean brought from Willard an ambition for Academic fame and friends. Vice-Pres. of Lit. and W.U.A., successful debater, interested in all College activities, she has grown more frivolous, but no less loving.

JEAN M. CHAPPELL

VICTORIA COLLEGE

EDWARD PIERCE CONGDON

"Not lean enough to be thought a good student."

MOTTO—Order.

AMBITION—To effect it.

TRAVELS—Weston, Ont., April 28th, 1891. A boyhood on the farm; five years in the office; Hamilton C.I.; a Saskatchewan sky-pilotage; Vic. '17; University Hospital at Sabonia and a platoon in France.

INCIDENTALS—Bob Committee—(Sec. '14).

U.S.—(President, '20). Historical Club.

FUTURE—A Lady's Aide.

THELMA M. COX

"She doth indeed show some sparks that are like wit."

Thelma came to us from Leamington, bubbling over with a zest for life. Her cheerfulness won her many friends. She chiefly excels in Dramatics and Choral and despite her many responsibilities as President of A.S.G.A., she still finds time to be the jolliest companion imaginable.

J. H. CREIGHTON

"All care is, I think, an enemy to life."

Parkdale Collegiate Institute, a year at Victoria, and the war consumed most of Jack's time up to 1919. Since then without neglecting the call of the social world, he has rowed on the Varsity Canadian Championship Crew, and has seemed to find time to tread the intricate paths of Political Science.

ERNEST PERCY CROSSEN

"Arma virumque cano."

"Percy" has been wandering ever since he left his quiet home in Sunderland for Lindsay Coll. At the war "Arms and the man" was his motto, as later at "Vic", although it acquired a totally different significance. Like Aeneas he is now developing that longing for a quiet settled-down life.

ESSA C. DAFOE

"A bit of independent mind,
A gracious manner, sweet and kind."

Last, but not least, Essa followed family tradition, came to Victoria, and distinguished herself as leader of the Government and Opposition in "Lit." A keen debater and an enthusiastic champion of fourth year General Course. "The Little Old Man" too, is fond of such frivolous things as afternoon teas.

M. WINNIFRED DALES

"True of heart, of spirit gay."

After sampling several High Schools Winnifred matriculated at Norwood. Joining the class of '21 Vic. she was interested in every side of college life especially "Little Vic." While successful in her work, she never allowed her studies to interfere with her education.

J. G. ("TRUE") DAVIDSON

"Laughter, Love and Tears."

Weaknesses—Class, Dramatic, "Y," Presidency of Lit.

Strong Points—Consuming chocolate bars, composing rhythmical nonsense.

Glory—Debates, oration contests.

Shame—Last month's essay unwritten.

Extraordinary—Passion, vitality, energy, nerve.

Ordinary—Her "bete noir."
Past—Ubiquitous, various, rainbow-hued.
Present—Flaming, intense, moody, alive.
Future—Inky black or rosy gold.

MABEL E. DAVIS

"And in her time, played many parts."

Borne is on the tide at St. John's Newfoundland; arrived at Vic. '17; has done her duty by Modern History, but Dramatics is her obsession, has fully justified the Presidency; has a fund of humour; is a sort of law unto herself—a disturber of the family peace; may take an extended course in Engineering—what?

VICTORIA COLLEGE

ROSAMUND DENTON

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

Rosamund has danced, played, sung and worked her way through College successfully and cheerfully. She intends to take up post-graduate work as an M.R.S. and we all wish her great happiness.

HATTIE J. DEWEY

"For she's a jolly good fellow."

Hattie first opened her big brown eyes in St. Mary's. A truly lucky star guided her to Vic, where in four brief years she played many parts. A lively share in dramatics, "Lit," Acta, and "Varsity" made her known; telephone calls made her famous. A charming personality and delightful pal-in fact dozens are bewitched by the rogue's company.

C. HEBER DICKINSON

"In fact, in most respects he's well behaved."

"Dick" made his first impressions on the farm in 1899. Matriculated at St. Mary's Collegiate. Came to Vic. with the class of '21. Active on many executives, Boh. '18. Seely Glee Club '19-'20. Leader of "Lit." Gav't. '20-'21. Everybody was his friend, ladies not excepted. Vic. will miss you. Good luck, "Dickie."

D'ARCY WRIGHT DUGGAN

"None but himself can be his parallel."

"Bill"—the younger Bill—to distinguish him from old Bill who went before. They both went to Victoria and "said it" with flowers. He became well known by all the students—including the men. When not otherwise occupied he played hockey and rugby. His closest friends have the brightest hopes of his future success.

JAMES CLEAVE EASTCOTT

"I can't believe he is a theologian."

Born at Ottawa, Feb. 19th, 1892. Reached maximum stature at twelve but continues to grow in wisdom and popularity. President of '20 at "Vic", then went overseas. Decorated with "D.C.A.M." (Deep Cut from Army Mule.) Returned to "Vic." President '22. Jack-of-all-trades and master-actress—editor, — administrator, — fustee, and — punster.

M. LILLIAN ELLIOTT

"Though conquered she could argue still."

Talker, debater, critic of Lit. Wise and witty, Lillian's it. "Lilli se couché" the name she must keep. Fond of Laura's music, and sleep, Ancient history, religious knowledge. Her absorptions are at college. Her friends, her hobbies with no invention Are far too numerous to mention.

HELEN ELIZABETH FISHER

"Friends—like angels, I receive 'em."

From Pembroke High School she entered Household Science with '20, but soon jumped to Political Science, still however evincing her early tendencies by a fondness for a cup of tea. Due to a serious illness she graduated with '21. A personality that wins friends everywhere. Elizabeth's future will be one of success and happiness.

LILLIAN M. FOLLICK

"Ay, sir, she hath a pretty wit."

Lillian came from Port Perry to Vic. where she pursued Dramatics as a study, with Household Science as a side-line. Incidentally she has taken a good standing in said side-line. Her unfailing sense of humor is a most valuable stock-in-trade. But if you love her don't say anything against animals, —or Whitty.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

JAMES H. FORMAN

"Anything once!"

From Kirkfield via Albert College with '17, Jim came to Victoria, whence owing to a "fights" disposition he graduates with '21. A "D.F.C." (d— fine chap), blest with a priceless enthusiasm for everything from the Historical Society and Kipling to apple cider and the ladies. Will probably end his days on a farm.

DONALD FILMUR GIBSON

"Offending none, yet every inch a man."

"Don" bought his chips Jan. 6, 1899. Tillsonburg, which claims him, sent him beaming down to Vic. with '21. After a year in the R.A.F., '22 Pol. Sc. took him in. "Bob" Committee, Pres. Coll. Deb. Club, 1919; Circulation M'gr. "Acta," Min. of War U.L.S., 1920; Chief "F.P."—That's "Carp."

MARJORIE E. GILLEY

"The world loves a spice of wickedness."

As fresh as a breeze from her native mountains, Marjorie came to Victoria after the preliminaries had been completed in the schools of New Westminster, and two years spent at U.B.C. Her "bonne camaraderie," wit, and love for fun, are characteristics that have everywhere caused Marjorie to be acclaimed "a jolly good fellow."

HANNAH R. GOLDING

"Happy am I—from care set free, Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Hannah is a glowing example of the merits of the General Course. It left her time to complete her education. Her sportsmanship won her her "IT," her ability placed her on many executives' and her sterling qualities won her our loyal friendship. The Brass Band still welcomes her in Brampton.

WILLIAM JAMES GORDON GRAYDON

*"They're all sweeties,
Sweet, sweet, sweeties,
I can't help loving them all."*

Product of Brampton High School. Vic. 1917. Gord. has had a varied career at Varsity featuring shows, dances, women and the odd lecture. Pastimes—Manager Little Vic. Rink, Athletic Executive, Student's Council, Freshman president of '21. Political Science, Osgoode Hall, Business, then . . . Oh! Boy.

E. MARION GREENE

"For to know her better, was to love her more."

Marion brightened the halls of Vic. when first her golden halo and sunny smile appeared. A varied character, who loves Russian novels and rugby equally well. Like George, she never tells a lie, but—her imagination!

E. R. HALL

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy merits."

After hurriedly imbibing all the wisdom offered at the Guelph Collegiate, he prepared his constitution for Burwash rations by joining the army. Entered Vic. with 2T1. Reserved, sincere, his friends know him as the best of pals. Deeply interested in S.C.A. work; served on Class Executive and Bob. Com. Some lucky Chinese town will claim him soon. Good luck!

CLARENCE FRANCIS WILLARD HAMES

"A man of weight."

Gunner started drinking Aug. 6th, 1897 in the good old-fashioned Methodist parsonage of Birtle, Man. After years of wandering on many strands his father sent him to Victoria where, after a false start in Classics he found his true home in P. & B. but soon booked passage (steerage) re the late unpleasantness in Europe. Captained Mulack Cup Champions, 1920. Favorite flower "roseMary."

VICTORIA COLLEGE

ARTHUR HAMPSON

"... the heart
Giveth grace to every Art."

Matriculated Mt. Forest, Vic. '17. Enlisted Feb. '18. Gunner in 4th B'de A.C. C.F.A. Awarded "M.S.M." July '18. Commission Dec. '18. Returned to Vic. Oct. '19. Art possesses a hidden yet ever-ready sense of humour, waxes eloquent in argumentative strain and delights in tennis, swimming and hand ball.

MARGARET LUELLE HARRISON

"She is herself of best things, the collection."
Luella came to Vic. from the rock country of Madoc, Ont., and has left no stone unturned in investigating college life. Her executive ability and sense of fair play made her Head of Annesley Hall in 1918-19. At social functions she proved a desirable companion. Altogether, studies, a host of friends, and abundant gaiety promise for her a topping "alter life."

ROBERT HOPPER HARSTONE

"The empty verbosity of exuberant rhetoric."

"Bob" has shown symptoms of intelligence upon three occasions. Choosing St. Marys for birthplace, 1899, playing hockey at St. Andrews 1917, and transferring from U.C. to Vic. 1919. Noted for his original essays, intrigue in "Lit." and attendance at the rink. Will be heard from later either in Parliament or penitentiary.

GORDON ROY HUKINS

"Why worry? It never was worth while."

"Hukie" hailed from Yorkton, Sask. Wended his way Eastward 1912 in search of light. In 1915 spirit moved him to travel. Four years with C.F.A. sight-seeing in Europe. Resumed studies with class '21. Good athlete, poor singer, fair dancer, consistent fusser. We wish him luck.

HELEN M. IRWIN

"I have a jewel here."

She's so little and so young, but behold she manages many things. First a college course, and that most excellently—next, the U. of T. Girls Basketball Team—then as captain of the Victoria team, she rules with an iron hand. Unhappily for Toronto she didn't arrive from Winnipeg until her sophomore year. The University of Manitoba mourns—we rejoice.

WILLIAM ARTHUR IRWIN

"Speech is silver, but silence is golden."

Arrived at Ayr, Ont., attended Wesley College, Manitoba University; overseas in artillery two years; then to Vic. Glee Club and senior basketball. Though Art does not wear his heart on his sleeve, he is liked best by those who know him best. Wields a wicked pen, may yet be heard from.

STANLEY ROGERS JOHNSTONE

"... cuts at once
The knots that tangle human creeds."

A bright light from Albert joining '17 in second year. Enlisted in artillery Dec. '15. In blissful ignorance transferred to A.S.C. to make France. Infantry commission Sept. '17, served with 78th Batt. Re-entered Vic. 1919—Philosophy still beckoned. Expert at boating old friends. Miles of yarns for all occasions. Tennis for recreation.

WILFORD LORNE KEELING

"Every night he comes With music of all sorts, and songs composed."

At Gargill, Ontario, Lorne first winked those Irish eyes that have smiled ever since. From 1913, Victoria has felt his worth in Class-Executives, Lit., Acta, the Y, the Orchestra, the Glee Club. Returned from war to resume his favourite study, English and History. A future? Yes! For he's friend, ever beloved and loving.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

JEAN D. KEENLEYSIDE

"Out upon it, I have loved, three whole days together And am like to love three more, if it prove fair weather."

She has chortled, bubbled, gurgled and enjoyed life ever since the angels turned her out. Wherever she is she is. Quick at repartee, with a fine sense of humor and superlative spirits. She's alive from Dan to Beersheba. She's always glad she exists.

SEIZABURO KIMURA

*"Just when I seemed about to learn!
Where is the thread now?"*

From the land of Cherry-blossoms with high hope for learning, Jiu-jitsu championship, and gold medal, H.M.S., to Vic, class '17. Salomonica with the University Hospital, '15-'17-'19. Edinburgh University, '19. Class Executive '14, '20. Historical Club, Glee Club, all-round athlete. Artist, poet, usually "Ki(m)ing."

WILLIAM FREDERICK LANGFORD

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

A product of Calgary Collegiate, drifted into T.S., appeared alternately at the pay table and the canteen for three years. Was one of "The returning brave" to T.E. Helped win the Mukook Cup. "Big Bill" is a striking combination of the qualities of Hercules and a Drone Bee. A staunch opponent of Labour in any shape or form.

NELLES ROYD LAUGHTON

"Veni, vidi, vici."

Was first aware of solar energy Sept., 1896, at Walkers, Ont. Enlarged cerebrum at Strathroy Collegiate Institute. Sought greater knowledge of Biology at Victoria, originally in Class '19. Three Scholarships testify as to the use of midnight oil. Secretary Biological Club in '17 and '20. Has hitched his wagon to Zoology and is exceeding speed limit.

OCTO GERALD LAWSON

"Virtue is beauty in it's best estate."

"Gerry" first attracted attention at Westminster, 1895. Matriculated from London Collegiate. Two years at S.P.S. The call to the ministry brought him to Vic. in '15. Bervie Circuit '16. C.A.M.C. '17. Vic. again in '18. Unselfishness, devotion to duty, goodnature, optimism, and a host of other virtues make it possible for us to overlook his one fault—fussing.

MARGARET RUTH LAWSON

"Born a diplomat, Sophist bred, Her nurse she silenced and her tutor led."

Ruth will ever be remembered for her enthusiasm for Political Science and her keen interest in the Victoria College Orchestra. One must know her well to understand that twinkle in her eye. Ruth will fool you if she can. Her future?—Who dare predict!

JOHN GEORGE HALL LINTON

"A courtly silence, that bespeaks the thoughtful mind."

"Ahe's" rippling laughter first disturbed the welkin Oct. 28, 1878, at Bright, Ont. Matric. at Woodstock C.I. Wandered into Hon. Sc. with '21. The O.T.C. converted him to Modern History. "Bob" Committee, Y.M.C.A. Ex., Sec'y Historical Club, 1919; Editor-in-Chief "Acta," 1920; "P. P."—"Har! Har!"

LESTER SIFTON LOCKE

"Less, but not least."

Science placed a new Student on her lists at Bradford in 1898. Orangeville and Toronto contributed an early share to the son of the parsonage, while Malvern and Humber-side Collegiates watched the scientific interest grow. Blossomed forth Vic. 17 and M. and P. England and France 17-'19. Major sport-tennis; minor pastime—Glee Club. Ambition—"Hydro" everywhere.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

MARY E. MARSHALL

"There behind her smiling mien, in her twinkling eyes, Purpose true is ever seen, seriousness lies."

An executive ability bringing her to any office from Basketball Curator to President of Choral Club—always ready for fun or to cheer at a game—bound to laugh at a joke sooner or later—the truest friend you ever had—that's Mary.

LENA N. MCGREGOR

"I'll try anything once,
If I like it I'll try it again."

Lena learned her A.B.C.'s at Hamilton and has kept on learning ever since. An ardent supporter of General Course and the "Movies." Has many friends with a tendency to concentrate. Plays jazz and grand opera equally well. A true friend, afraid of frogs and toads. Misses few pleasures but studies some too.

EMILY M. McLAUGHLIN

"True eyes,
Too pure, too honest in ought to disguise,
The sweet soul shining through them."

An optimistic spirit, warm heart, and love of fun make up the Emily. Peggy we call her, who, entered Vic. Household Science, ready for the best that College life affords, S.C.A., Acta, Choral, Dramatics, and a host of friends all claim her.

J. VERNER McNEELY

"Life without laughing is a dreary blank."

Born June 28, 1895, at Norwood, Ontario, where later graduated in Matriculation and Normal Entrance. Agriculture failed to quench his thirst for knowledge and study is resumed after a period of years. He served with the C.E.F., is a very ardent student, and a genial companion.

GEORGE CRAWFORD McVITTY

"Gie me a spark o' Nature's fire, That's a the learnin' I desire."

The "Isle of the Shamrock" greeted him in 1892; Canada in 1916. On casual acquaintance impossible to place,—"just Irish"; but sincere, enthusiastic, generous to a fault. As a friend, dependable, helpful, and true to the last. He will serve the church faithfully and well.

LESLIE HOWARD MILLER

"C'est la guerre! C'est la vie!"

Les entered this life on Oct. 5, 1889, at Milliken, Ont. Matric. at Markham High School '07. Entered Vic. Orientals '10. Became a Saskatchewan Pedagogue '12. Sought life in C.E.F. '14. Gravel crusher—'19. Two pipes. Saw the light '19 and entered Moderns Vic.

FREDERICK ROBERT MURGATROYD

"How much the fuzziest who has gone to roam Excels the fuzziest who has staid at home."

"Murg" began to make Smithville known Sept. 1899. Larva stage—consumed much knowledge at Smithville and Hamilton Collegiate. Cocoon—a lustrous green; did very little work. Wings developed—became interested in Page and Hist.; Bob, Y.M.C.A.; Historical Club and a Rugby "V." Horoscope—points towards Osgoode.

CLIFFORD LATIMER MULLETT

"He is no bookful blockhead, ignorantly read,
With loads of learned lumber in his head."

Born in Seaford, October 5, 1896; side-stepped education in "umpteenth" schools between Orillia and Vancouver; entered Vic. C. & F. 1915; overseas with artillery; "messes about" in basketball and rugby; Sifton Cup winners '15; Mulek Cup '20; takes no chances on "all work and no play making Cliff a dull boy."

VICTORIA COLLEGE

LEO CARL MUTART

"Well fellows, how about a little ball game."

Born in Toronto and likes it still. Matriculated at Niagara Falls C.I. Entered Vic. 270. Manager of Victoria College Rink. Expects to be a preacher some day but you've got to show us.

EDITH URMY NEFF

"Oh! Why should life all labor be?"

Edith is a thorough Torontonian. Her formal education began on crossing the threshold of Parkdale Collegiate Institute. Edith's great desire to learn all things pertaining to cooking led her to enter Household Science. To friends a friend, she radiates good nature and boundless enthusiasm, wherever she goes.

WILLIAM GARNET NOBLE

"His modesty's a candle to his merit."

In Essex County, Apr. 14, 1891, Bill began to mark time, and has since set himself a lively pace: Essex H.S., London Normal, and three years' teaching; one year with 11's, returning after overseas service to 271. The Blake and Wilson Scholarships are unavoidable "flukes" in the way of chemical knowledge. He "daunces" a little.

BEVERLY L. OATEN

"A man of cheerful yesterdays, and confident to-morrow."

And 't'here arose in Huron a stripling, Beverly by name, and, journeying eastward, he waxed wondrous intelligent at Humber-side. Departing thence, he came unto Victoria and dwelt for a season among the Polycomites, finding favor in the eyes of examiners and fellows. As class president, chairman Bob Committee, locals editor, Acta, business manager Glee Club, his ability was manifested.

VAUGHAN WHITTIER PEARSON

"Without seeking friends, he can't avoid them."

The fourth scion of the family to come to Vic. and no less honoured than the others. Began kicking his way to fame at Davisville, Ont., July 4, 1898. Entered Political Science '15. Overseas—artillery '16. On Vic. rugby and basketball teams throughout his course and with Varsity '19.

ALFRED EVERETT CULLEY PENTLAND

"Myself when young did eagerly frequent Doctor and saint, and heard great argument About it and about: but evermore Came out by the same door wherein I went."

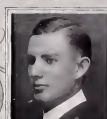

"Cully" struck his first musical note at Dunganon running up the treble clef at Chatham C.I. and Leamington. Vic. 177. Discard—Three years overseas. Dominant chord—General. Accidentals — Glee Club, hand ball, tennis, piano.

JAMES THOMPSON PHILLIPS

"Who steals my purse steals trash."

Born Perth, Scotland, June 30, 1895. Matriculated Hamilton, Ont., '14. After a session in M. & P. he joined the "Gang" for four years. Vice-Pres. Math. and Physics Society '20. Bon Voyage.

CARMAN E. POWELL

"It's easy enough to be pleasant, When life goes along like a song, But the man worth while, Is the man with a smile, When everything goes dead wrong."

Carman, son of the Parsonage, arose at Murphett, Ont., '99. Dutton, Fort Stanley, Brussa, Exeter, Clinton, London, Lucan, show his abodes. Matric. at Clinton, '16. He makes friends wherever he goes.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

HARRY WILBERT POWELL

"An honest man, close buttoned to the chin, Broad-shouldered without, and a warm heart within."

Matriculated at Kemptville High School. Spent one year with the class of '17, later joined the forces of '21, whose treasure he guarded. Fusing is Harry's one great weakness, at handball he stars, and chemistry is his chosen profession.

MARION H. R. POWERS

"What should we do in this world of ours, Were it not for the dreams ahead?"

Past: Pro merito graduate of Redlands High School, California.

Present: (a) Duties—Moderns, Vic, first-class honors.

(b) Pleasures—Debates; oration contests; class histories; essays.

(c) Character—Meditative; humorous.

(d) Dissipation—.....?

Total: Senior Stick.

Future: May dreams come true.

HAROLD WARNICA PRICE

"Oh Crumpet! Isn't she beautiful?"

Toronto has the honour to be his birth-place. Jarvis was the scene of his youthful activities. Left IT9 to become an intrepid airman. In spare moments bombed Turks in Mesopot. Revised Vic. in '19. Dabbled in Biological Club and S.C.A. A ripping pal, with a secret weakness for fussing.

LAWRENCE WILLIAM RENTNER

"The things are few He would not do In friendship's name."

The sun first shone on Lorne near Collingwood, on April 4th, '98, and now he knows just how he saw that light.

On matriculating at Collingwood C.I. he entered Varisty in M. & P. with '20. After an absence of one year he joined the ranks of '21 to increase his knowledge of Physics.

A host of friends is an intimation of his popularity and good-fellowship.

MILTON ROY ROBINSON

"Him you will find in letters and in laws not misappert."

Schooled at St. Mary's Collegiate and Stratford Normal. Principal at Cochrane. Entered Vic. in '14. Won some scholarships. Overseas '16. Attended London University and Inns of Court. Completed law course at Osgoode. Called to the bar Oct. '21. Roy's ability and industry, his good nature and genial disposition, ensure him continued success.

FLORENCE E. RODMAN

"She seemed as happy as a wave That dances on the sea."

And so we call her "Traurige" and wish for more people like her, with the joy of life so adorably mixed with a serious thoughtfulness—that wins everything from heaps of friends to three years of first class honors in Moderns.

JEAN E. ROSSITER

"A roselind set with little willful thorns, And sweet as English air could make her."

Jean grew up in the Sault, and came East to continue her education at Victoria. Her kindness and sweet disposition won her many friends. Especially has she become famous as Athletic Stick, having won her "T" in Tennis and Hockey.

GERTRUDE L. RUTHERFORD

"Life is a challenge, not a truce."

Gertrude came from Brampton to help pilot '21 through its course. She has served on many executives but since Des Moines the S.C.A. has claimed her allegiance. In spite of varied interests Gertrude has obtained first-class standing in Political Science. May the ghosts of Adams Smith and John Stuart Mill soon forsake her!

VICTORIA COLLEGE

EVA MARY RYAN

*"A head to think quickly,
A heart to feel quickly,
And a tongue to speak quickly."*

Spent her salad days at Arthur; 1st class standing in Political Science and a jolly good time have not been incompatible; a strong personality and a convincing manner; a charming companion to those whom she likes. Probably will go into Law if not snapped up before.

HAROLD FERRIS SANDERS

"—down the aisle he strode with stately pace, With neither smile nor frown on that proud face."

A joy to his father and a bother to his sister since Oct. 16, '94. Starting at West Pittston, Pa., he travelled wide. Vic. '13, Sask. Conference probationer '14. Overseas '16. Prominent in Glee Club and Lit. Slow to anger, plentiful in mercy.

A. VICTORIA SCARROW

"She has wit and song and sense Mirth and sport and eloquence."

We strongly suspect that when Vic. first winked and blinked her blue eyes at Conkstown, she doubled up her tiny fists and shouted "Gurgie-dia" which, as interpreted by the best mothers, means, "Is not this a jolly old world?" With equal enthusiasm she attacked English, Lit., Choral, and to forget fussing and her doodles of friends.

EVELYN SHEPLEY

"Lovable, yet full of fight."

"Moses" came from Amherstburg to share with 271 the trials and tribulations of the stormy days in the Annex. She is studious, persevering and generous. Her wit and humour have added zest to many a midnight discussion and her cheery personality and real depth of character have won for her a host of friends.

HARRY A. LeF. SMITH

"Oh Hell! What have we here!"

First noticed Peterborough, Oct. 24th, '99, P.C.I., Victoria, Political Science, '12. "Royally" welcomed at Burwash; Bob '18.

First Year—Folly.

Second Year—More so.

Third Year—Convalescent.

Fourth Year—We have hopes.

H.A. actually attended four lectures during his erratic career, but was never caught at work.

Fusses overmuch.

JOSEPH LAVELL SMITH

"In conduct noble and in mind discreet."

Surviving High School at Caledonia and Ferguson, and four years of pedagogy in Toronto, he entered Vic. with IT8. In the army three and a half years, he became Captain, B.E.F. Returned June '19. President of Vic. Men's Council '20-21, of Fourth Year, and of Permanent Class Executive. Watch him.

LEWIS GORDON SMITH

*"... to variety inclined,
To all humors sportively I range."*

Training in Grimsby and Hamilton schools, educated with IT9 at Vic. and military service in the Signals have made "L.G." mentally mathematical, musically a pianist and haritone, and politically the leader of the Progressive Party. In athletics he shines at basketball, and he has shown his executive ability on "Bob" committee and class administration.

RALPH GRAFTON SMITH

"Leave me here and when you want me, Sound upon the bugle horn."

Ushered in the twentieth century by being born on the globe near Hickson. Absorbed much knowledge at Stratford C.I. Entered Vic. in 1917, taking active part in P. & B. and athletics.

Chief hobby: Seeing Canada during vacations.
Ambition: To wield a surgeon's blade.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

HAROLD F. SWANN

"Hail to thee, blythe spirit Bird thou never wert."

Has left B.C. to guide the verdant Froth of 117. His ability next utilized as "Bob" President. "To Arms" February, 1915. France that September. A commission soon merited. Years rolled by, 21 gave her highest honor—the Senior Stick. Interests broad—Fossils to fanning. Vocation—Geology. Standing—First with scholarships. Friends—Everywhere.

WILFRID L. SWANSON

"Still Waters Flow Deep."

Made his bow May 20th, 1896. Originally 117. On return from active service in France swept in the Scholarship in C. & M. II. Has now become famous as a "spotter" of minerals, including the precious jewels found in Victoria's Halls, where he has discovered some rare specimens. On graduation he will undoubtedly devote himself wholeheartedly to this important work.

WALTER F. TANE

"Variety's the very spice of life."

First dazzled by the sun at Markham. Later, when not acquiring knowledge from books at Oshawa High School, Queens, and the R.C.D.S., has tuned pianos for Williams, the Heintzmans, and the public. He graduates in Political Science and will take post graduate work.

GEORGE ELWOOD TRIMBLE

"His humble, pleasing, modest manner, Is surely to be envied."

George alighted via Stork Express at Erin, Ont. Matriculation, Guelph Model, 1911. Welded pedagogical rod three years. Victoria, 1915. Track Champion, 1916. After "sky-piloting" two years, returned to "Vic." Class '21. Active in College affairs, a successful student though a Romeo by nature. His friends prophesy "a bright 'parsonage' future."

DELBERT B. UNGER

*"A winning way, a pleasant smile,
In this dull world make life worth while."*

St. Williams knew him first. He finally reached Victoria in 1918 by way of Simcoe H.S., F.O.E., and the teaching staff of Nap-a-nee C.I. Political Science is the course that satisfies.

Activities — Historical Club, Soccer, I.C.D.U., Knights at Columbus. Ambition—To be an honest lawyer.

MERRY FRANCES UREN

"Her hair is not more sunny than her heart."

Merry eyes, a smile that's catching, a little bit of perversity and an overflow of fancy and imagination, this is Frances. Her course is Hs. Sc., and she shines in dramatics.

ELIZABETH JANE WALLEN

*"So unaffected, so composed a mind
So firm, yet soft, so strong yet so refined."*

A grad of Chatham C.I.

And of Faculty of Ed.

She comes then to Victoria.

And proves an all-round head.

In Women's Lit. she oft holds sway,

And in Moderns also shines.

The half her virtues can't be shown
In these poor simple lines.

A. E. R. WESTMAN

"Women are just like elephants—I like to look at them, but I'd hate to own one."

P. et X. Act V. Scene 4, 21.

"Westie" swelled Ottawa's population in 1900. Fussing, Rugby, Skating and the combinations thereof kept him busy while at Vic. Attended "Lit" and Chapel faithfully—once a year. Lots of girls would like to have him—for a brother.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

EDYTHE MAY WILLIAMS

"Of such affection and unbroken faith, do tempest life's worst bitterness."

After a varied career in numerous schools, Edythe came to Victoria, where her infectious smile won her many friends. Four years of study have left undiminished her hearty appreciation of a joke, and her capacity for blushing.

Often serious, but seldom sad, she never fails to make us glad.

KENNETH LLOYD WISMER

"What is worth doing at all is worth doing well."

At Humherstone on Oct. 18, 1898, the nurse said "It's a boy," and ever since Ken has been a howling success. Matriculating from Welland H.S., entered Victoria in '17. Was Vice-President in '17 and Poet in '18; then Vic. orchestra claimed him. Science is his special, the fiddle his hobby.

JESSIE EDITH YORK

"There is no treasure the which may be compared to a faithful friend."

She came—from Aurora.
She saw—Vic.

She conquered—the Classics.

Vice-President of the Classical Association and work on the Women's Administrative Council proved her interest in the serious side of college. But we know "Little Vic." and hosts of friends will miss her.

History of the Class of '21, Victoria

Names are usually considered rather useless things, detached from the people to whom they belong. But mere columns of appellations may inspire reflection and reminiscence and I doubt whether anything could be more suggestive of the story of great days than the lists in our respected calendars, for the class of '21, Victoria.

1917—and the proportion of twenty-nine to forty-four, which reminds you first, perhaps, that it was harder to have a good time than if the proportion had been reversed. You wonder, too, how a real “Bob” would have affected you, thinking of the heights to which your enthusiasm mounted over one annexed to a reception. Then you remember the greater fact: that you began your college course in a difficult time, when the real spirit of Victoria was with the struggle overseas.

1918! Down the list are queer little hieroglyphics, which being translated, are “Returned from active service!” And the prosaic page glows with the memory of November eleventh! Then we rejoiced, that, victory won, we might in our day see revived customs that had languished in days of war.

In our third year the list suddenly elongates. Joyfully and proudly we welcomed men of other years, who had brought honor to “Vic.”s name. Thirteen came from IT7 to strengthen the forces of our “Originals.” Then it was that we decided, the time being opportune, our company one hundred strong, and the ratio the satisfactory one of sixty-one to thirty-nine, that we should begin to appreciate college life, while we were yet untroubled by the vexatious ceremonies of Senior days. For if you do stand academically high in your third year, after having narrowly escaped annihilation in your first and second, it will be considered quite accidental; and if your first and second are excellently well done and you descend somewhat in your third it will be considered a little sad but not hopeless. Therefore why not? So we enjoyed ourselves and had a few parties.

And now having attained the traditional dignity of Seniors, it would be strange if we did not praise ourselves modestly. Few classes can show a better all-round standing than '21; and we have not a few people who invariably maintain a high standing in those pernicious tests of knowledge—examinations. In our second year members of '21 led six departments in the University, in our Junior year, seven—facts not unworthy of an honorable place in this enduring chronicle. Our women are famous for their speaking ability, judged by the number of times they have won the inter-year debating shield, or the number of people who are almost professionally good in dramatics or the number of people who are unusually good in just talking. Nor has '21 been unmindful of the hockey stick or any of the other implements of combat and we shall always think with pride of the part 2T1 played in bringing the Mulpek cup to “Vic.” in our Senior year.

'21 has had a unique experience and one more enviable than that of either those classes whose four years were shadowed by war, or those beginning in time of peace. We began in dark days and are graduating in the brightest days the University has known. We have seen Victoria meeting the new problems of peace and advancing toward a position of even greater influence than she has enjoyed before. We have had a peculiar advantage and a valuable experience in that we have been a factor in the college life at such a time.

While it is true that all years in their Freshman state are more or less alike, it is also true that as they proceed they develop a certain individuality. If '21 has one distinctive characteristic, it is reliability. We have said it is fairly brilliant and hinted that, collectively and individually, it thinks the joys of life worthy of some attention; but we believe that the truest thing we can say of '21 is that it is dependable. In our Senior year several important changes affecting student life have been made and necessarily a certain amount of responsibility for their success has belonged to us; in some degree, at least, we hope that we have been worthy of the opportunities that have been ours.

Class histories are things, which, if banished, we should miss both sadly and gladly. We mention a few facts about ourselves and call them the history of the class of '21. If one had some sort of magic power and could estimate the value to each individual of the discipline and training of these four years, if one could see how their influence will help us to make our lives count for the things that are most worth-while, if one could catch a glimpse of the memories, wrought of happy times and good comradeship, that will make life richer and more beautiful, somehow—I think that all of those things would be the real history of '21—for which we remember and love Victoria.

Victoria College Orchestra

This year the Victoria College Orchestra is entering upon the second year of its career. The management has been extremely fortunate in having again secured as conductor Mr. Frank Blachford, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Under his leadership success is assured.

Regular weekly practices are held in Annesley Hall. The membership of the orchestra is considerably larger than last year, and is representative of several faculties of the University, although the majority of the members are Victoria College students.

An annual concert is being given at which music lovers will have an opportunity of listening to a varied programme of orchestral music, and where it is hoped they will be able to appreciate the enterprise of a few far-sighted students in commencing what will undoubtedly become an indispensable college institution. They who actively participate in making a success of the Victoria College orchestra find that it is not the least important and profitable diversion of the University career.

Victoria College. Faculty of Theology

The Faculty of Arts of Victoria College was established in 1841, the Faculty of Theology in 1871. In federation with the University of Toronto, since 1892, Victoria College has become one of the Arts Colleges of the University, but the Faculty of Theology remains entirely independent, directing its own courses of study and conferring degrees in Divinity. Two closely parallel courses of study, each extending over three years, are offered to candidates for the Christian ministry, one for graduates in Arts and one for non-graduates, neither of which, however, lead to a degree. A somewhat longer and heavier course, requiring three years attendance upon lectures, and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, is prescribed for graduates in Arts only.

The names of those who are completing the course for B.D., during the present year, and of those who are completing the other courses and who will receive the college diploma are given below. Photographs of those who are graduates in Arts of the University of Toronto have already appeared in Torontonensis in their respective years. Of some others who completed their course of study in the Summer Session of 1920, it has been impossible to get photographs. Those which appear on the following pages represent, therefore, only part of the class.

PROVOST MACKLEM

PROVOST MACKLEM

In 1877, before the Canadian Pacific Railway linked together the East and the West of this young Dominion, the Marquis of Lorne, who was then Governor-General of Canada, was trekking across the continent by slow and tedious stages. As the wagons began to leave the Prairie, which had seemed unending in its immensity, and to draw near and slowly nearer to the grandeur of the Rocky Mountains, the Governor was inspired by the sight and by the reflections his journey had called forth, to write that beautiful paraphrase of the one hundred and twenty-first Psalm, so often sung in our churches to-day:

"Unto the hills around do I lift up
My longing eyes;
O whence for me shall my salvation come,
From whence arise?
From God the Lord doth come my certain aid,
From God the Lord, Who heaven and earth hath made."

In the forty-four years which have passed since then, such mighty feats of railroad construction and engineering have been accomplished that what was before an arduous journey of weeks, is now an easy run of a few days in a luxurious express train. This transformation is a tribute to the enterprise and the powers of a worthy generation of men, of whom few are now left to us. But their example remains; and their achievements are at once our heritage and an incentive to the younger generation of to-day.

In this year of grace 1921, the graduates of the University of Toronto are going forth to grapple with problems and undertakings which, while different in their nature, are not less difficult, and call for just such qualities as the great men of that earlier generation exhibited. The social and political upheaval, which is a heritage of the war, presents to the men of to-day enterprises quite as titanic, tasks as difficult, and problems as baffling, as those which were presented in physical terms half a century ago by the immensity of the prairie and the seemingly impassable barrier of mountains, when the vast solitudes of our Canadian West were waiting to be spanned by steel and peopled by a million souls.

Our familiar but unjust social conditions, which were an unhappy product of the modern industrial era, were already tottering on their false foundations before the war, and now they are gone never to be restored. To clear away the wreckage, and to build up a new social fabric on sound foundations of equal-handed justice, law-abiding liberty, and all the higher social virtues denoted by that good old word righteousness, will call for complete consecration and highest exercise of the powers of this young generation, which must deal with these mighty and far-reaching issues.

The men of a generation or two ago, who accomplished the difficult tasks of their day, were men who believed in their country, who had faith in God, and who staked everything they possessed on the work they undertook to do. The spirit that animated them will enable you to accomplish your equally great tasks, and to bind together with reconstructive measures the widely sundered classes and clashing interests of our twentieth century, post-war society. No words could paint too bright a future for this Canada of ours, if in these critical decades of social, political, and industrial reconstruction the country does not cry in vain for the services of men and women who will bring to the work not only trained ability and ordered knowledge, but also the vision that goes with faith in God and His sovereignty, the unselfish consecration of powers that is found in true disciples of Jesus Christ, and that firm stand upon the principles of righteousness which makes a man scorn to grovel in the mud of unworthy motives or short-sighted expediences. As graduates of Trinity College you owe a debt to yourselves, to your country, and to God. Show yourselves to be men and women worthy of your College, your University, and your forebears. You are citizens of a great Dominion and Empire; you are graduates of a University which honours God, and of a College which bears the name and upholds the faith of the Holy Trinity. Already, are you sons and daughters of God; it does not yet appear what you shall be, but your destiny is in your own keeping, and your Keeper is God. "The world is moving too fast for men who have no clear vision, not steady perception of the values by which men live." Live by your faith in God, and your life will be fruitful. This is the pathway of progress; this way lies greatness.

*"The fifth o' sense, the pride o' worth"
"Are higher rank than a' that."*

—Burns.

First saw the light of day on May 13th, 1897, Hamilton. Matriculated at Highfield School, 1915. First year at Trinity, 1915-1916. Joined 67th Battery in August, 1916, and 24th Battery in France for duration. Philosophy.

PHILIP ALBERT CHILD

*"In age, experience and ability
A man—in heart and soul a child."*

Born Hamilton, 1898. Entered Trinity with 19. On active service 1917-19. Enthusiast in sports and things literary. College football 15; Captain 16, 19, 20; Harriers 15. Member Dramatic and Glee Club. Secretary Lib. 1915-20. President Athletic 1920-21. Editor-in-Chief "Review" 1920-21. Victor Inter-College Debate 1920. Weakness for curls.

JOHN FRANCIS DAVIDSON

*"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays ..
And confident to-morrows."*

Born 1899, still going strong. Product of Trinity College School. Registered in Classics with 21. Active in all departments of College life. Has served on nearly all College Executives. S.A.C. representative, 1919-20. Varsity Harriers, and captained Brotherton Cup winners 19. Scribe of Episcopen, 1920-21. Hopes to enter the ministry.

KEPPEL WIGMORE HILL

"A Fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent fancy."

At Napance in 1899 Keppel began his erratic career. From Gravenhurst High School he came to U.T.S., entering Trinity with 270 and a vast fund of good humour. Left very soon to enter C.O.T.C., returning to his Arts after two years in England with the R.G.A. Divinity next year.

HUGH FERRAR KETCHUM

*"If thy then remains but well our power to use,
And keep good humour still what'er we lose"*

Note-dived to earth, Cobourg, Ont., August 31st, 1897. Matric. from Trinity College School '15. C.E.F. '16 to '19. Registered Trinity, March '19. Harrier team, winners Brotherton cup '19. Varsity Seconds Rugby champs. '19, '20. Active interest in College societies.

WILLIAM HAROLD REZEAU LAWRENCE

"Handsome is as handsome does."

Harold came in with 270 from Pickering College, then soon to Kingston, and points East with R.F.A., then Tanks. On his return he won the Field Day Championship, 1919. Rugby Manager, 1919, Captain of Hooley, 1921. A generous comrade, whose good-natured grin may be legalized next year.

FRANK HUBERT MASON

"—can keep honest counsel, ride, run, mar a curious tale in telling it."

—King Lear.

Natal day, May 9th, 1891, at Tunbridge Wells, England. Signs and portents unfavorable. Terrible storms at sea, and heat-wave in the Sahara. European tour Aug. 1914-1918. In France with 2nd Battalion. Ypres (1915). Gwynch, and the Somme. Entered Trinity Jan., 1919. Philosophy.

ALFRED SPAULDING PATTERSON

*"He was the mildest-mannered man
That ever scuttled ship or cut a throat."*

Pat arrived Hamilton, 1896; cool reception—20 below zero. Schooled at Appleby, Oakville, 1911-16. Ascended to Angels' Roost, Trinity with '20. Review Board Staff, 1917-18. All-round sport; college rugby team '16-'20, hockey '18-'20, basketball '16-'18, cricket '20. Has worked slowly, quietly, consistently, Everybody's friend.

TRINITY COLLEGE

JOSEPH CHRISTIAN DE PENCIER

"Go tell the Lords of the City I am here."

Only twenty years ago "Joc" blew into society at Uxbridge, Ontario. He matriculated by the instalment plan from University School, Victoria, and T.C.S.—thence to University of B.C., broken by a spell at R.M.C.—arriving in Trinity to graduate. Is a footballer, actor and not very shy.

CHARLES EDWARD PHILLIPS

*"He doth bestride the narrow world
Like a Colossus; and we petty men
Walk under his huge legs."*

Obscured beneath the burden of the Prince of Wales Scholarship, he yet was seen upon occasion in Trinity's dinky halls and flared up to daily brilliance where the erudite assemble.

OSCAR HENRY SNELGROVE

*"A jovial youth who thinks his Sunday task,
As much as God or man can fairly ask,
The rest he gives to love and leisure light."*

Gracing Trinity 2T1, he had a few mild flirtations with classical celebrities, mere trivial affairs to diversify a busy life. He now soars on light pinions to the regions of Theological thought.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

WILLIAM T. CARROLL

*"Variety is the very spice of life.
That gives it all its flavour."*
—Cooper.

True to his motto Bill tries a bit of everything: fond of reading, apt at athletics, and not altogether disdainful of the social world. An Honour Matriculant from the Joseph Collegiate he joined the class of 271 and after a year with the troops is back to finish up with it.

CLEONIA VERONICA COGAN

*"They say—What do they say?
Let them say."*

Cleo first peered into this dull world at Guelph. When she had fared across the sweet third lustrum of her days she came to S.J.C., where she took Matriculation lightly and entered Arts '21. Alert and keenly intelligent, she knows enough of life and history to identify truth at first glance.

FREDERICK T. COLLINS

"Of manners gentle, of affections mild, in wit, a man."

Born London, Ont., Aug. 17th, 1901. Prominent in all College activities. President of the graduating class and the Students' Council. Manager Intercollegiate and Mulock Cup rugby teams and Harrier team also last year's Intercollegiate and O.I.L.A. hockey teams. Inter-faculty debater. Secretary I.C.D.U. On the Varsity. Future bright.

MADLEINE T. DALEY

*"If of her virtues you evade the name,
Then for her faults you'll fall in love with her."*

Born in Toronto. Educated at Holy Family and Loretto Abbey. Came to L.A.C. in 1917, where she has been extremely popular in any enterprise requiring tact and dependability. Madeline believes in preparedness and has therefore armed herself with a Household Science Course.

J. FRANCIS DONNELLY

"He needs no foil but shines by his own proper light."
—Dryden.

Frank hails from Pinkerton. Born on July 31st, 1901, he is the baby of the class. Came to St. Mike's in '15 and on Matriculating in '17 he joined the class of 271. Alternates work with play. President of the Athletic Association. A hail-fellow well-met and all wish him success.

RICHARD P. GOUGH

*"Plays well the game and knows the limit.
And still gets all the fun there's in it."*

Since March 29th, 1898, "Ricle" has been convincing Peterboro and Toronto that he is a man of many parts. Active as Vice-President Grad. Year, Secretary S.M.A.C., athletic adviser, dancer, host and friend extraordinary. Princeton may specialise him in Economics.

ALLAN T. LEACY

*"Friend to truth, of soul uncore.
In actions faithful and in honour true."*

"Al" first saw the light of day on July 23rd, 1898, in Chapenau, Que. Moving to Pembroke he attended the Separate School there and matriculated from Pembroke High School in 1917. Joined the class of 271. President of the Literary Society. Of a genial disposition, he makes friends wherever he goes.

J. PAUL MALLON

*"He lives at peace with all mankind.
In friendship he is true."*

Ever a resident of Toronto, Paul's High School course was taken at De La Salle. Thence St. Michael's in Honour Moderns. Inter-Faculty debater '19. Chairman of College Literary Committee. S.M.C. representative to the Students' Council. Chief diversions—rugby, history and dancing.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

ALOYSIUS J. MALONE

"It is not what man does which exalts him, but what man would do."

Toronto is his birthplace. Commercial diploma and matriculation at De La Salle Collegiate. Later he joined the class of '21 at S. M.C., where each year he has passed with honours. In sport hockey is his forte. May succeed he his.

LOIS McBRADY

"She is a charming girl, as generous and spirited as she is lovely."

Toronto is the birthplace of this gentle maid. 1917 saw Lois come to Loretto Abbey College. Her brilliance has shown itself throughout by repeated success in defiance of sickness. In her sophomore year she won a prize for English. An artistic temperament. Very lovable, has many friends.

SUSAN McCORMICK

"Devoted, anxious, generous, cool of genius."

A fair fit gift did Sydney give St. Joseph's when this innocent child, as reckless as the air and candid as the skies came hither seeking knowledge. Her quest has not been vain, nor success inglorious. Her aspirations are high; may she attain them and with the pleasure that merit deserves!

JAMES F. MCGUIRE

"To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

Though born in Lakehurst on Dec. 27, 1899, Eustace receives the credit of being Jim's home town. Attended Lakehurst Public School and on matriculating from Eustace Continuation School came to St. Michael's to join the class of '21. A "regular" guy. Success will attend him wherever he goes.

WILLIAM H. MCKEAN

"A wise man is never a good philosopher."

"Whitey" was born in Windsor, Oct. 4th, 1900, and matriculated from Hamilton Collegiate and entered '21. An authority on all branches of sport and learning. Himself he never worries, his masters always.

THOMAS S. MELADY

"If aught of prophecy be mine, Thou wilt not live in vain."

Scarboro Collegiate, Faculty of Education and St. Michael's testify to the ability of "Tom." Despite army experience no "lead-singer." Pedagogue, journalist, bugapist, nomad-en tout-a man's man. Thurston's only rival. Violin solos when alone. Deeply loves Yeats, Books, Halls from Dublin, Ont. Oct. 10, '95 was his natal day.

HELEN FRANCES MULLETT

"Her look composed and steady eye, Betoken a watchless constancy."

A native of Carleton Place, Helen came to Loretto Abbey College 1917. Her tact and skill have influenced all college activities, social and literary. Her most striking characteristic is her business ability. Holds positions of Treasurer of the Student's Council and College Librarian. Her most lovable trait is sincerity in friendship.

FRANCES DUNN O'BRIEN

*"Made up of wisdom and of fun,
Medley of all that's dark and clear,
Of all that's foolish, all that's dear."*

"Fran" was born in Boston, educated at St. Walburg's Academy, New York, Loretto Abbey, Toronto, and finally Loretto Abbey College. Holds positions of Secretary Newman Club, President L.A.C. Student's Council, Skilful organizer.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

M. KATHLEEN O'BRIEN

"Forget yesterday—what's doing to-day?"

Kathleen glories in the fact that she is the first St. Michael's student to graduate in the department of Household Science, which in her opinion is "absolutely the only course for a woman." As President of the W.S.A.C. she proved that the practical problems of Household Science tend to develop resourcefulness, energy, and keen judgment; while the most strenuous series of labs. and demonstrations had no effect on her unquenchable cheeriness and vivacity.

KATHLEEN O'CONNELL

*"A heart at leisure from itself,
To soothe and sympathize."*

Kathleen was born and educated in Peterborough. Matriculated in 1916. Her success in College is shown by her being Class President and obtaining an English prize. French and Spanish were also strongholds. Loretto Dramatic and Athletic Annals record her faithfully, so may the "Annals of Successful Lives," is our united wish.

JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY

"God's in His Heaven All's right with the world!"

A De La Salle product. After graduating with distinction (1910) he studied pedagogy in Toronto, then spent three years in Montreal colleges acquiring French. Has travelled extensively in America and taught in secondary schools. His broad human sympathies, varied experience, serviceable disposition and keenness of intellect fit him admirably for his chosen profession. Moderns.

JOHN J. OVEREND

*"In thy heart, the dew of youth,
On thy lips, the smile of truth."*

A Toronto boy. Matriculated from De La Salle Collegiate, 1917. Hard worker, but not averse to having his share of fun. Proverbial for his smile. His notes have always proved a boon for those who skipped lectures. Chief delight—Modern Languages. Future—unsullied.

PETER JOSEPH RAY

"When love and skill work together, expect a masterpiece." —Chas. Reade.

Born at Waterdown June 25, '92. Early came to Toronto, where he continued his education at De La Salle Collegiate. Attended Toronto Normal School in 1911-12—completed First Class Certificate, and taught for a while. Entered second year general in 1918.

MICHAEL T. SHEEHY

"I miss my prayers to dress by noon."

Well, here's "Mike"—organizer of the "Irish Fusiliers"—a wearer of the M. for football—a born leader. First arrived in Peterboro, Sept. 29, '98. Obtained High School and Arts course at St. Mike's. An old boy. Where do we go from here?

LEO M. TROY

"The game's afoot!—and let the chase Lead on, whatever my destiny."

Born in Chatham, N.B. St. Michael's College 1912-14. On a Cook's tour with the C.E.F. for several years. A trick of fate caused him to join the class of '21. Awarded the M for football in 1913. Loves the bugler. Believes in Maritime Union.

FREDERICK T. WATSON

"A little nonsense, now and then—"

A son of the Queen City and a product of De La Salle Collegiate. Everybody's friend. Indulges in hockey, rugby and music. Has knack of sending professors "up in the air" doubtless developed while in the R.F.C. Said to resemble a certain Edward. Proudest boast—born a Canadian, January 9, 1901.

History of Class 2T1, St. Michael's College

We begin our class history very humbly by admitting that we were once freshmen. We shrink not from the avowal because we know that all great people have very lowly beginnings. Turning back the pages of history then, we come upon the auspicious day, September 24th, 1917. On that day there gathered together in the Registrar's office for specific purposes a band of youths and maidens, fresh from the honours of High Schools. These seekers after knowledge who were henceforward known as "St. Michael's 2T1" were courageously prepared to take the plunge into Varsity life and run the usual chance of sinking or swimming.

After a vigorous process of initiation, the first important event was a banquet given by the sophomores for the purpose we presume, of wiping out the memory of their former cruelty. Our first year was spent as are all other first years, in attending as few lectures and as many parties as possible.

Christmas term exams brought a momentary lull in our social life, but from Christmas to Easter we led a gay and care-free existence. After Easter the cares of the world descended with a thud on our shoulders, and we learned with sorrow the truth of the saying "life is real, life is earnest." Final exams left us in a state of mental depression but somehow or other did not take very heavy toll of our numbers.

Second year found us slightly diminished in number, ready to patronize the Frosh, and hold our own with the Juniors. The number of those who had gone down in the finals was practically made up by the advent of several war veterans whose services overseas prevented them from graduating with their original classes. On November 11th, 1918, the sane and regular course of our lives was disturbed by a mighty cyclone. With the utmost enthusiasm we went mad with the rest of Toronto and helped to swell the general din of armistice celebration with a hastily organized orchestra, the callousness of whose musical sensibilities has been likened to the hide of the much famed rhinoceros. The year ended uneventfully with the usual complement of social events, term exams, etc.

Third year is always a difficult year to put into history, owing to the fact that in it one has lost the astounding self-assurance of the sophomore, and has not yet acquired the authority and responsibility of the senior. Thus in our third year we rested to a certain extent from our strenuous efforts in keeping the Frosh in their proper places, and helping to run the University on a proper basis. Those of us who rejoice in the title of "fair co-eds" gave our attention to student government which was introduced in the latter part of the previous year, but which had to wait for us to develop into something like what it sounds.

It might be worthy of mention that in this year we won a debate, "Resolved, that social life is injurious to college education." We mention this not as an example of the spirit of our year but as an example of what we can do when we really exert ourselves.

In October, 1920, we woke up one morning and found ourselves seniors. Pardon us if we moralize a little at this point. In our freshmen days, we looked with awe and reverence on Seniors as people of a different species, as indeed we really believe they are. They were the lords of creation and to apply the term to any other class was to be deliberately and inexcusably sacrilegious. But now, O tempora! O Mores! Quid dicere? Quid facere? The Frosh look upon their seniors as the antiquated fossilized remains of a previous age. Ignorance of the "Cat hop" made us social pariahs until in self defence we had to eat-hop our way into their respect (we do not say "reverence" as the word has become obsolete).

In the month of November of this year several of our number made a little trip to Montreal and Kingston to exercise their lungs, while Varsity was winning the Rugby championship. Refreshed by this little exercise we hardly noticed that term exams were approaching until they were upon us.

The graduates of 2T1 have been privileged to go through the University during the greatest of the world's crises. The last year of the Great War saw us near the beginning of our college course, the next two years brought the confusion and economic troubles of reconstruction; 1920-21 brings at last the dawn of real peace and the promise of an era of prosperity the like of which the world has not yet seen. Truly we of 2T1 are honoured in setting out upon our various careers at such a time. Vivat 2T1!

The Dramatic Club

The Loretto Abbey College Dramatic Club is one of the most active organizations of the College. During the year 1919-1920 they presented a Latin play "Andromeda," the first Latin play to be given at the University, and which, therefore, aroused great interest in University circles. In the fall of the year, the club produced an 18th Century evening including scenes from "The Rivals" and "She Stoops to Conquer," as well as readings from Goldsmith. This year in November, scenes from "Les Femmes Savantes" and "Les Précieuses Ridicules" were given at a French Salon, presided over by Madame de Maintenon.

The most serious work of the year is a production of "Twelfth Night" under the direction of Dr. Kirkpatrick and will be presented during Graduation week. Several of the casts have studied under Dr. Kirkpatrick before in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." "Twelfth Night" is to be given if possible out of doors

The casts are as follows:—

Orsino	Eleanor MacIntosh
Sebastian	Genevieve Mulvihill
Antonio	Margaret Kelly
Sea Captain	Elsie Irvine
Valentine	Marguerite O'Donnell
Curio	Sheila Doyle
Sir Toby Belch	Maire Hannan

Medical Building

To the Graduating Class of the Medical Faculty

by

DEAN PRIMROSE

DR. A. PRIMROSE

The students of the senior year, "the fifth year class," are about to complete their course of instruction in Medicine in the University of Toronto. They have come through many vicissitudes during the progress of their professional studies, and have now arrived at a stage when individual responsibility must be appreciated under new conditions. They will, in future, be thrown more upon their own resources, they must exercise their imagination to the full to determine the particular environment best calculated to develop and maintain whatever talents they may possess which fit them for their life's work.

To determine one's future course of action, under such circumstances, demands most careful consideration, prophetic insight, and courage of the first order. A lack of courage may induce one to drift, to take the path of least resistance, to embark on a course which seems to ensure immediate success in what may possibly be a very limited field of usefulness. The course in Medicine, in our modern Universities, is an arduous one, its exacting nature with the annual determination of standing by examination, affords many opportunities for the student to estimate for himself his own ability. The end of the final year is a good time to "take stock" and, with the advice and aid of his teachers, the student should come to a decision as to the course to be pursued for the future. Let him, at this stage, be guided by no selfish principles. Success for a professional man comes in direct proportion to the ability he develops to serve his fellow man. The successful man or woman in medicine is he, or she, who contributes most to assuaging the ills of suffering humanity. This brings with it material success so that we need not worry over our ability to "make a living," that will be ensured if we are worthy of the confidence of those who may entrust their lives to our professional skill. The burden of responsibility must of necessity lie heavy upon a medical man: it may be his to determine whether his fellow is to recover health or live in misery, the victim of protracted disease, or again he may by his direct action settle the question of life or death. This responsibility would be intolerable if we did not possess the assurance that we had used our utmost endeavour to fit ourselves by effective and efficient training for our life's work. That training is not completed at the end of the final year in a medical course, but is continued throughout our professional life.

Looking back over the past five years we realize that we have passed through an experience unique in human history. The graduating class cannot fail to be impressed with the lessons of the great war. Many of the students in this class have experienced all the horrors of the battlefield and have been brought face to face with suffering and death in their most hideous forms. Some of their fellow students have sacrificed their lives in the cause of justice and freedom. Surely now, as never before, we may consecrate our lives to efficient service. The class of 1921 is capable of yielding efficient service, their standard of scholarship is high, and we look to them to go forward in the spirit of self-sacrifice, prepared to render to humanity the best of their powers, their ability and their skill to diminish pain and suffering and to relieve the sick. We wish them God speed. We wish them the highest measure of success in their future career. We express the fervent hope that when they have reached the end of the professional life, upon which they are now entering, they will have earned the verdict "Well done, good and faithful servant!"

GEORGE M. PENNOCK

"Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity."
Came to Dominion Capital Sept. 26, 1908. Early education at Ottawa. Matriculated 1914. Entangled in "red tape" inside Government Service 2 years. Entered the Medical Mill, 1916. Ardent worshipper of Caruso. President of the University Choir in his 3rd year.

T. G. W. PHILLIPS

"Judge thou me by what I am So shalt thou find me fairest."

REBECCA MAXIMOVNA PRICE

*"Through the long gorge to the far light."
—Lanyon.*
Russian by birth, Canadian by adoption, Cosmopolitan by nature. Thorough preliminary training in Libawa, then University of Petrograd. Vancouver, B.C., 1902, where she acquired a knowledge of the English language. Toronto, 1915. Entered Faculty of Medicine, 1916. Excellent linguist, clear thinker, ambitious scholar. Will make good.

REGINALD GUY RATZ

"On their own merits modest men are dumb."

Dick received his first inspiration in Ehmira, in 1898. Graduating from Kitchener Collegiate in 1915, he decided to allow the Faculty of Medicine to educate him. Since then he has done a little of everything and we find him now with a host of friends who wish him every success in the future.

R. NORMAN C. RICHARDSON

"A glance, a smile—"Oh Hello Cutie, where have I seen you before?"

Came ashore at Toronto May '95, where he received his early education. Won the Marathon at Pickering Collegiate '13. Matriculated at Humber College, '15. Entered Medicine with 270. Did his bit in the war on board a destroyer in the North Sea. Plenty of friends. No enemies.

ISIDORE WILSON RUSKIN

"Anything worth having is worth trying for."

On April 10, 1897, began his early training in Russia. Continued this at Windsor, Ont., in 1906. Matric from the W.C.L. Attended Trinity College in '14, and three years more in U.C. Thinks highly of the healing art, as a professor. Medical.

RICHARD ANSLEY SEYMOUR

"Myself not least, but honour'd of them all."

Ansley's first "pipe" occurred at Vancouver in 1894, and ever since he imbued wisdom with the aid of a succulent briar. Came to Varsity in '13 to study his fellow-creatures. Allowed a war to interrupt his course. Returned to the call of "Epistaxis." In lighter moments twangs the "uke" and leads the boys in song.

MEDICINE

RICHARD J. SHEPPARD

Were wisdom in the scorn of consequence."*

"Dick" first sprang into popularity in the beautiful Niagara Peninsula. Received his Academic training at historic Queenston. Graduated from Niagara Falls Collegiate in 1916. The peach field proved insufficient to combat the lure of Medicine. He has been a faithful student and ardent hockey enthusiast.

EVERTON S. M. SHUNK

*"In countless services he's fit
Of use, of pleasure and of gain
But lightly from all bonds he'll flit.
Nor lose his mirth, nor feel a stain."*

Everton first graced this world by his presence at Edgely, 1886. Matriculated from Humberstone Collegiate, West Toronto, and then undertook the study of Medicine.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SLOCOMBE

"What's in a name? Perhaps in after years When gray hairs hang in festoons from his chin, he too shall be called 'The Father of his Country'."

Born July 29, 1886, Port Dover, Ont. H.S. Entrance, 1908, Port Dover, Ont., Matriculated, 1913, Port Dover Collegiate. One year at Normal School, Hamilton. 1914-16 Pedagogy and Feminine-ogy. Entered U. of T. 1916. Uneventful solemnity thereafter.

ROD T. SMYLIE

"For he that thinks not of his belly will think of little else."

R. T. hails from the far north, and between the hockey seasons studies Medicine. Has won distinction as Captain of the Varsity Track Team. Mosher's cannot exist without him, and with the ladies (particularly nurses) he's a bear.

PAUL ALFRED TURNER SNEATH

"Medicine is an exacting mistress."—Ofer.

"Pat"—because he's not Irish—commenced exploitations at Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 16, 1888. Ventured east very early. Received some education at Montreal and Ottawa, the rest in Toronto. Matric. Parkdale Collegiate. Class Vice Pres. 3rd year. Held down seats on "Daffydil" Committees as well as Federal and Medical "A" Executives. Oblatary later.

IRWIN STOVER

Lured by Science to her lair,
To find out what, and why, and where;
Irwin left his native air
In Chatham, to breathe that rare
Atmosphere, of labs and classes,
That stimulates the student masses,
Long of limb, and light of heart,
Athletic and frivolous from the start.
A business deal is his delight,
O, he can string a line, all right.

JOHN LINDSAY SUTHERLAND

"They tell me neither, do they, Spin?"

We call him Spin for short. History says he hit Georgetown, 1894, and migrated to St. Kitts for his early training. Started with Meds. '99, but the Tanks beckoned and he left in 1916 for foreign fields. Meds. '21 found him again, however, and here he is.

JOHN WESLEY SWITZER

"He likes a joke, a quiet smoke, and friends to call around."

Grew on a farm in Anderson, Ont. Sprouted Dec. 23, '91. Budding Matric. '16, St. Mary's. Full Bloom Varsity Meds. '21. Blossomed as Pres. St. Mary's Varsity Club. Y.M.C.A. Rep., and Meds. Quartette. What will the harvest be?

MEDICINE

IVAN BERESFORD THOMPSON

"Get all experience is an arch show, his gleams the untravell'd world."

Born at Colchester, Ont., September 20, 1893. Matric. from Leamington High School. Entered O.A.C. Guelph with year '17. Earned a year, then finally cast in lot with Medicine. '20. Overseas with the R.N.V.R.

ANNIS EVELEEN THOMSON

"Subordinates will always remain subordinates unless you let them experience their individualities. Ambition turns to anteaquam unless given exercise."

Although born in Ironton, Ohio, this Miss grew up near New York City. She went to Bryn Mawr College. Studied at Columbia University, meantime fulfilling her childhood's dream by entering Medicine. She firmly believes in the quotation, Selah!

JAMES WINFRED TICE

"His mind his kingdom, and his will his law."

The auspicious event occurred at Madoc, Ontario, in 1898. After that Freddy wandered much, finally coming to Toronto in 1915. During his sojourn here he worked a little, fussed a little and danced a little, but made many staunch friends who predict for him a future full of the brightest prospects.

CLAIRE E. TIPPING

"Still Waters Run Deep."

From St. Mike's came this humble "trois!" unsponsored and alone. But it was not long before everybody knew "Tip." His quiet nature has not suffered change in the passing years. He still believes "Silence is golden." Never missed a hockey game, and the piano affords solace in dark moments. "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

JOSEPH ALFRED TRACKMAN

"Then to answer every man directly, and briefly, wisely and truly. Wistly, I say, I am not a bachelors."

A Christmas storm brought Joseph into peaceful Ukraina (Russia)—1897. Came to Toronto, 1904. Educated at public school. Matriculated in 3 years. Thus came about his entrance into 2T1 Medicine. On the Varsity for two years. Captain Jr. Meds. Basketball team '17. Dancing a hobby. Success to him.

ALEX. TURNBULL, B.A.

"I've never felt the kiss of fate. Nor maiden's hand in mine."

Arts U.C., '15. Overseas 1816-18 with the 24th Battery. Favorite sport, fussing (Blondes preferred). Favorite quotation—above, valued for its pre-war truth. Favorite research—the relation of the color of hair to disposition. A bright future with a glorious "Sunset" is predicted.

ARTHUR F. VAN WART, M.A.

"Because he came from by the sea, a bluecoat was he thought to be."

"Van" hails from the east, being born in Fredericton, New Brunswick, May 7, 1896. Educated in public schools, graduating from Fredericton High School in 1913. University of New Brunswick with B.A., 1917, M.A., 1920. Entered Medicine with class of 2T1 in fall of 1917.

ALLAN PARKER WALDEN

"Whether I am early or late or was behind before, matters not if I be first at last."

His arrival had been expected for some time, the 10th of April, 1918, being the date, and Peterboro the place. Matriculated from Guelph High School, 1915. Graduate of U. of T., 1921. Medicine.

MEDICINE

A. GERALD WALTERS

"Worldly experience is essential to success."

First heard of at Clifton Springs, N.Y., on July 4th, 1898. Attended the Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute. Came to Varsity in '16. Joined 2Ti and been with them ever since. Hobbies—Anatomy, Dancing and Fair Maidens. Habits—1 am only allowed a limited space.

WILLIAM McLEAN WALWYN

*"—[ro] the time that he first began
To ride out, he loved chivalry, Trouble and honour, freedom and carterize."*

Cracked his first smile, 1894. Matriculated Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto, '1912. Enlisted 1916, Military Cross, Amiens, 1918; returned a major, 1919. Vice-President University Y.M.C.A. President of the Historical Club. Pet aversion American oratory at Baltimore. Favourite remark—Double three royals.

GEORGE FRANCIS WATSON

"Let nothing disturb thee."

George and his fiddle first struck Toronto in 1914. His quiet manner and dry humour were his outstanding characteristics. Perhaps those connected with various College Orchestras knew him best because in these he always took a keen interest. Mine sweeping in the East and soccer were his other diversions.

CLIFFORD HAROLD WATSON

"By means of Indirections he found directions out."

First entered the arena of controversy at Bolton, Aug. 29, '98. Despite his eloquent protestations he was sent to school. Later matriculating from Humberdale Collegiate, he continued in the study of medicine, where he managed to argue his way past the profs. five consecutive times. He will be known by his able disputations.

LOUIS ARTHUR WEISSGERBER

"You have not seen a bull; better stuffed in the hold."

Born in Manitoba. Sr. Matric. at Calgary Collegiate. Completed the first three years in P. & B. '15. There is not space to mention his unfilled hopes and well-filled abdomens. To the historian, we leave the joy of recounting his future medical exploits on the prairies.

FRANK W. WILKINSON

*"A pleasing manner, (they all contend):
A modesty becoming, a worthy friend."*

Sutton, Ont., was the "honored" place of his birth. Orangeville High School witnessed his Matriculation. Entered Medicine in '14, but the Artillery in France enticed him overseas. Pastimes—Tennis, Hockey, Baseball and Track. Sedatives—Music and Dancing. Favorite Expression—"Well, hang them!"

MAYSIL M. WILLIAMS

"For she is just the quiet kind Whose natures never vary."

Early education at Beeton and Toronto Normal. Taught a little and joined Meds. '21. Besides pursuing a successful medical course and enjoying its social activities, was elected President of Y.W.C.A. and delegate to Des Moines Convention in '20. Acquisitions—facts, friends and fun.

AGNES BRUCE WILLIAMSON

"Sincerity is true wisdom."

Born in Beaverton. Matriculated with highest honors from Orillia Collegiate. At Varsity continued good work along academic lines, and in Athletics, still managing the odd art for fussing. President of W.S.A.C. and M.W.U.A. Made hockey team and head of swimming.

MEDICINE

FREDERICK HAROLD WILSON

"I love to be a sailor."

Harry was born at Stouffville, Ont. Matriculated from Stouffville Continuation School and came to Toronto to study Medicine with class 2TU. Overseas as surgeon probationer, R.N.V.R. Returned and came into class 2TI.

MINNIE WLADOWSKY

"She hath wit, and song, and sense, Mirth, and sport, and eloquence,"
Homes in many lands had she Ere she came to U. of T.
Every language doth she know
'Cept Zulu and Eskimo.
Harmony in soul doth linger
Expression finds in toe and finger.
Prophecy a future glorious Medical advance victorious.
Learning, skill, united thus.
Sorry "Min." is leaving us.

WALTER WELLESLEY WOODHOUSE

"O Hell, what have we here!"

—Shakespeare.

L.O.A. Jan. 27, '99, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.
Like proverbial Johnny Walker, "still going strong." Matric. Niagara Falls, '15, took honor math. '16. Class secretary and member Hall Committee, Hart House. '20-'21. Starred at "Prima Donna" Daffodil stunt '20. "Prosecuting Attorney" of East Residence.

FRANK FRASER ZWICK

"Well, where are we now?"

"George" came to Toronto in 1911, with good old U.E. Loyalist blood in his veins, and left in 1914 to drive an ambulance in France. Back in 1917. Married in 1919, and A.O.A. 1919. His favourite pastimes are arguments, billiards and looking for the man who said, "Two can live as cheaply as one."

Toronto General Hospital

History of Class 2T1, Medicine

The fall of 1916 witnessed the advent of one hundred and five men and eleven women to 'Varsity as "freshies" in Medicine. After the usual "faux pas" of "freshmen" we settled down to student life in earnest, but were soon aroused by the annual strife with the sophomore year, which as usual was won by the sophs. and all parted good friends. W. H. Middleton was elected President, and suffered all the tribulations commensurate with that position in the first year. Time passed quickly and Xmas was upon us with its shortage of coal so that we were forced to repair to the Veterinary College for a short sojourn. Towards spring a few members of the class enlisted for overseas service, and the remainder settled down in preparation for the oncoming examinations.

The return of several men from overseas during the summer increased the numbers for registration in the second year. George Dollar was president, and managed to engineer all difficulties of the year in a very able manner. Just before Xmas a sudden gloom was east over the class by the news of the death of one of the former members, W. T. Coutts, Flight Lieut. R.A.F., the first of our members to pay the supreme sacrifice, and we greatly mourn his loss. Spring examinations were ever in mind and before long we were deep in study, oblivious of all else.

In the fall of '18 the numbers of 21 were greatly augmented by the return from overseas of men from various years and the opening week witnessed men from '16, '17, '18 and '19 rubbing shoulders in the old familiar halls. Many were the handshakes and loud greetings, many the exchanges of experiences of "over there." It was only natural that, with such an influx of "foreign element," it was some time before the various members of the new '21 became acquainted and were able to carry on as a harmonious unit. Without doubt this was finally accomplished more by the ability of the executive which piloted the third year of '21 along its arduous voyage, than by any other influence. With W. S. Duncan as president and "Pat" Sneath as vice., assisted by a very able executive, a most successful and pleasant year was passed.

A keen desire for hard and earnest work was shown right from the opening of the academic year. Early in the term work was severely interrupted by the first great outbreak of 'flu and many of our number volunteered for service in various capacities. Work had scarcely begun when Armistice Day was a signal for general rejoicing and once more work or anything remotely pertaining thereto was laid aside for the time being. Many and vague were the reports of the various celebrations held under various auspices, but, unfortunately, space does not permit of detail. The year dance held in Columbus Hall in February was an unqualified success and marked the termination of a most enjoyable social season. Examinations then held sway, and we draw a veil over the next four months.

The beginning of the autumn term saw a slight increase in our members, owing to the return of some of the members of original 1T8 and 2T0 who had seen service as surgeon probationers in the British Navy. The first big function was our class dance which, as before, went off with great élan. We were ably led this year by "C.O.P." Green and a competent executive who worked incessantly in the interests of the class, with the result that our fourth year was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Daffydil night this year was conducted almost entirely by fourth year men, which probably accounted in no small degree for its tremendous success. An enthusiastic and hard-working committee took charge and Convocation Hall, as of old, was a scene of great activity for a few days. Owing to its immense popularity, Daffydil was produced on two successive nights, and our year stunt, cleverly composed by Ross Jewell, though it did not win the cup, was considered, by all, original and witty. Much credit is due Mr. Jewell, and his cast for the very able manner in which they carried out the several parts. A very keen interest was taken in the Medical Society elections, held in February and for some time the minds of all were befogged with electioneering smokes, so that for fully a week little desire was felt by anyone for concentrated effort. Long before the close of the session everyone was hard at work, realizing full well the seriousness of the approaching examinations, and appreciating the necessity of the high standard of efficiency now demanded for a successful medical career.

With pounding hearts and high aspirations we entered our final year with "Red" Mills at the helm, and the early hours of September the Twenty-eighth witnessed a motley scene, in all stages of consciousness and negligee, stretched out with camping equipment and various articles of light housekeeping, prayerfully awaiting the opening of the Secretary's office. Was not that, in itself, sufficient evidence of the earnestness and enthusiasm of 2T1? With regret we witnessed the splitting up of the year into the various clinical groups, but fully recognized the meaning of such and prepared ourselves accordingly. Intercollegiate Rugby was followed with keen interest, inasmuch as "Red" Mackenzie was back in his old place, doing his part in piloting 'Varsity to the championship. Our graduating dance in November was exceedingly well patronized and proved a fitting farewell to our undergraduate days.

And now we have come to the parting of the ways; we have reached the goal of our ambitions, but realize full well that we have only entered upon our student days. We have accomplished a little, a great deal lies before us. In parting we extend our heartfelt gratitude to our instructors in the noble art for their unceasing attention and inexhaustible patience. We have made many friends and sincerely hope that in future years we may have the pleasure of meeting them often in our wanderings.

The Track Team--Medical

In the past year great strides have been made towards the ultimate winning of the Intercollegiate Track Championship which we last held in 1913. Much of this success has been due to the untiring efforts and enthusiasm of the Medical Track representatives. At the Interfaculty meet, Meds., looked upon by many as having slight chance of winning the championship, took the bit in their teeth and were beaten only by one point in the hardest fought meet in the history of the Track Club. Among the newcomers, Uren, Caple and Lively bid fair to become towers of strength on future teams; while Croll, Bell, Smylie, and Middleton, members of last year's Intercollegiate team outdid themselves in their events. In the Intercollegiate Meet special mention must be made of Croll, who proved himself a runner of no mean ability and one who did not know how to quit until the race was won. His victory against heavy odds in the first few minutes of the meet did much to stimulate the team to their best endeavors and to make McGill extend themselves to the limit to win. Lively, also, made an exceedingly good showing in the broad jump. Jumping against the best broad jumper for some years he made a good second place and he is already counted on next year as a good bet for Varsity. The greatest race of the day was by many thought to be the relay race, where our team, running by the light of searchlights, won a decisive victory over the champion McGill relay team and Meds. have much right to be proud of the fact that three of the four runners were from the gray brick building—Naden, Uren and Smylie.

Medical Athletic Association Rugby, 1920

The rugby season of 1920 in Varsity has been characterized by keen interest shown in Interfaculty sports. The records of the Junior and Senior rugby teams justify the interest shown by Meds. in them.

Junior Meds. were defeated in two closely contested games with Junior Dents, thus losing out in the Group Finals. Senior Meds. were easy winners of their group, defeated O.A.C. U'nds in the semi-finals and were in turn defeated in the final game of the series by Victoria.

Although forced to relinquish the cup won by Junior Meds. last year, both teams had splendid material and we feel confident that Meds. will make a stronger bid for the cup next year with a more successful conclusion.

DEAN MITCHELL

Now you are shortly to leave. To some of you it has been a long four years for between times you have gone to fight the Empire's wars. To all of you however, whether it is four years or eight years since you first came to these walls, your University life has been made up of many things, your academic work, your social life, your summers' work and your war years. You now leave your University to go out into the World and take your place in it.

With your going out you are but starting your life's work. Some of you have lived a lifetime during the war years and to you the life's work you are now about to enter may seem easy by comparison, but you will find when you get into it that it will be easy only in places for there are many hard places in life and especially in the life of the engineers of to-day and to-morrow. But you who have been at the war or who have helped through it here at home are the better equipped for the years to come with a broad, rich and useful experience of men and things which will stand you in good stead. You are not young as graduating years go; you will have an average age when you graduate of well over twenty-five and that ought to mean something in dealing with the practical problems ahead of you. You will find many problems in which your general knowledge of the world may mean more and help more in their solution than does your technical education gained in your College course, but you must always remember that your technical education is the basis of everything.

From next May your fortune is your own. During your University life you have been guided by your professors and instructors and the many other influences which surround you in College which are here for your use and help. After you leave you must seek and select your own guides and assistance. One thing you have been taught to do at College is how to select, how to seek, how to apply your knowledge; your education so far is not so much how to do things as it is how to learn to do things, how to attack problems to be solved. Your life, whether you are to be engaged in professional work or not, only now starts and it is for this life that we now wish you success.

With this new life, upon which you are about to enter, there will come some curious turns. You have been taking various courses here at College presumably to fit you to follow those particular branches of the technical professions which form such an important part in the development and the activities of the Country. But you must not be too sure that you are really going to follow in these particular directions—you may find yourselves in quite different ones.

There is an old Latin proverb, Omnia non pariter sunt omnibus apta: All things are not alike suited for all men. You can see how this may apply. No particular College course will suit all men and many men are not suited to the course which they may have taken (perhaps some of you may have already found this out) and the abilities of many men may not have been developed by their College course. So too when they start out in life, opportunity may or may not offer, environment may influence or conditions may change and they may get diverted into various channels, some perhaps quite remote from those upon which they at first embarked. So I say, do not be surprised, do not be discouraged, do not think your College work misdirected or misapplied if perchance you find your later course deflected and discover yourself in other work than you had planned.

Applied Science education fits men in some form or other for almost any work of active life, especially in a new Country like Canada and even lays the foundation for professions quite different from Engineering. More and more do graduates in this Faculty find themselves entering into the trade and commerce and other business of the Country not wholly or even perhaps remotely, connected with Engineering as we generally term it. So I say get all the experience you can while you find the things you are best suited for—but do not drift—and soon enough you will find the niche into which you best fit in this Canada of ours. And be sure you do find the niche in Canada; we want you here.

Best good fortune to you all and with your successes always remember that your studies and the principles which were learned here are the real foundation of your after work.

School of Applied Science and Engineering

In Memoriam

WILLIAM HODGSON ELLIS

How often has the traveller turned his lingering gaze upon some fast receding hamlet, to rest his eye once more in admiration on a lofty spire, all silvered in the sun when every petty hamlet had long since slipped beneath the rim. Thus may we picture Dr. Ellis, standing out above the mass, linking us with a generation past whose style, manners, customs, forms, as year by year has glided into history, have imperceptibly given place to the new. With his going we wrench our gaze away to find ourselves in a changed world.

Not only was Dr. Ellis a chemist of wide and varied experience; indeed he was rightly regarded as the Nestor of Chemical Science in Canada; but his remarkable breadth of vision, his unrivalled judgment and his astonishing versatility impressed and fascinated his friends, his colleagues and his students, while his natural kindness endeared him to all who knew him.

Originality of outlook and the unexpected in his manner of expressing himself rendered his conversation a never-ending source of delight to his associates. The listener must ever be on the qui vive for a surprise. Unless both ears were on the alert the golden opportunity might be gone forever. A certain timeliness invariably characterized his conversation. His stories, of which he possessed an endless and varied collection, were always most apposite and harmonized perfectly with the nature of his audience.

When Dr. Ellis was called upon to speak, for example to reply to a toast, everyone expected to hear something really worth while. But however entertaining the speech might be, his remarks were always to the point, and no matter how serious his discourse it never lacked a certain sparkle of originality, a deftness of presentation and a touch of humour that combined to paint the dull drab of dry and dusty facts with the warm hues of human interest. An otherwise not unusual episode took on an element of expectancy; one always knew beforehand the recounting would abound with interesting details and that a good laugh or two would be discovered woven into the fabric of his narrative. It might be a fishing story, perhaps a tramp in the woods touched with local colour and decked with details stamped on the memory of a shrewd observer, or possibly an account of a meeting with some world-famous Man of Science years ago, or, indeed, something of pure invention drawn from the depths of his own imagination to illustrate a present situation.

Many graduates will remember a series of articles appearing in Varsity some years ago now, in which a number of student contributors expressed their views on "The Ideal Lecturer." At the time quite a wide interest was taken by the staff as well as the undergraduate body in these articles. To the surprise of everyone when Dr. Ellis was called upon at the "School Dinner" he threw upon the screen of our imagination a word-picture of "The Ideal Student." Many a wild, unruly and irresponsible youth that evening came to see himself as others see him and laughingly winced as the thrust went home. But Dr. Ellis' rebuke left no sting and his cartoons no bitterness. He used his humour "as a stalking horse" under cover of which he launched his shafts of wisdom, but the arrows carried no barb.

Those with whom Dr. Ellis sat in council knew that he would invariably take the broadest possible view of any problem. His colleagues might split hairs by the hour, driven this way and that by every gust of feeling, while Dr. Ellis sat silent and absorbed. Then at the proper moment he would clear up the whole situation in a few telling words; he had cracked the nut, thrown away the shell and grasped the kernel.

Dr. Ellis' special lectures were always a delight. "The Making of Fire," perhaps the best known of them, revealed how primitive man drew down the sacred fire from heaven. Another entitled "Animated Molecules," enlivened by amusing sketches in colour, was punctuated by sly and humorous thrusts at both student and teacher; through another recounting experiences of "Fly Fishing in Macedonia in Roman Times" there breathed the very atmosphere of maturity and mellowness.

As a lecturer on Chemistry Dr. Ellis was always popular with his students. Many a time the room resounded to the thunderous unison of "Who's the best man in the School? Dr. Ellis, Dr. Ellis!!" and the halls and corridors would echo and re-echo the rolling thunder of the shout. His students admired and respected him for his perfect naturalness and for his entire freedom from all pretense and affectation. From them the Professor could not hide the Man. For all these they admired him, but they loved him because they understood instinctively how big and generous was the heart his kindly smile unveiled. "We shall not look upon his like again." Let us repeat with reverence the words of Mark Antony over the corpse of Brutus—

"His life was gentle, and the elements
So mix'd in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world—'This was a man.'"

History of Class 2T1

A heterogeneous mass "is a mass composed of diverse elements," according to Dr. Webster. According to others such were we when for the first time we timidly turned in our names at the University Registrar's office. Since then much has transpired, and much, we hope, been accomplished, both as regards the elements themselves and also as regards the mass.

In the fall of 1917 the class was composed of but 70 men and 1 co-ed. The diminutive size of the class was a direct result of the war and it was further depleted during the year till at the beginning of our second year it had decreased to 51 men and 1 co-ed. The armistice—that day of days, and night of nights!—had its enlivening effect also upon the class, and ten of our former colleagues rejoined our ranks. An addition to our personnel was also made by the entrance of 28 men who had taken the Special Course for Returned Soldiers in the spring and summer of 1919. A further return of men from Service swelled our numbers to the comparatively large figure of 140 men and 1 co-ed. (approximately twice the size of our Freshman Year). These men were for the greater part men of previous years dating back to the class of 1913. Too great credit cannot be given these men for the manner in which they strove to overcome their tremendous handicap, which was of a nature and magnitude only to be entirely realized by the men themselves. Their lot was greatly alleviated by the painstaking assistance that was rendered them by the staff and the University, to whom they are profoundly grateful.

To our great regret, our co-ed deserted us in our final year, and so we became 135 mere males.

When the smoke of class elections had cleared away in our Freshman year, we found the inimitable "Art" Irvine the proud victor and guardian of our destinies for the year. Under his able leadership we navigated the troubled green waters and reached the more placid outlook of Sophomore life to find a new pilot at our helm, the precocious "Pete" Dunton. At the beginning of our Junior year "Tiny" Houston was our President, but the University decided that he could not play Senior Rugby, be Vice-President of the Engineering Society, President of his year, and also devote the necessary amount of time to his studies. Tiny saw the point, and resigned the presidency to (and in) which office "Mac" Mackenzie succeeded. "Mac's" forte was obtaining concessions from the faculty.

Our year of dignified (!) Seniority had for its guidance the versatile and energetic J. Roy McLean, ably assisted by J. Roy Gilley. This team was admirably fitted to draw us over the roughest places with the least possible jolting, and to pull us over the up-grades and hold us back on the down.

University life during the war was necessarily very different from that of peace days, and many of the usual fields of student activity were curtailed or entirely suspended. Upon their return to the Alma Mater, however, many of our number found scope for their erstwhile latent abilities, and we need only point to such as our prodigious "Joe" Breen (undoubtedly one of the greatest all-round student athletes of the day) to remind those who do not already know of our many and mighty accomplishments. Innate modesty here stops our pen.

The class has taken its full share in the celebrations which form part of each year's course—in the excursions, the dances, and the dinners. The versatile members have on the proper occasions shown themselves apt pupils of Mars, of Venus, and—dulce est desipere in loco—of Bacchus.

Of the future who can say? And what need is there to speak? Let us not make trial of the Babylonian Astrologers, but cheerfully accept what the gods may send.

ARCHITECTS

T. J. YOUNG

APPLIED SCIENCE—ARCHITECTURE

RON. W. GALLANOUGH

*"Always cheery, always bright,
Never weary, never tight."*

"Gal" first visited Toronto, Nov. 2, 1896. Absorbed sufficient knowledge there to admit to "School" 17. Got away to a poor start by joining the chemicals, but saw his mistake, and joined the "Atelier Crowd." Finds time to dabble in sports, has a jovial disposition, and an ear for music.

GEORGE ROPER GOUINLOCK

*"And made a string of pictures of the world."
—Browning.*

Roper's career at the University has been confined to Architecture and Athletics. An interruption occurred when he was lured to Belgium by a Hun Eagle, but on a second occasion he was persuaded to stay at home by a Winnipeg Falcon. After this season he intends to beat his hockey stick into a draughting board and his skates into pens and pencils.

ERIC WILSON HALDENBY

"A day of labour, a knight of love."

"Erase" belongs to the Macauldenie Clan as evidenced by the active part he played with the 48th Highlanders during the late war. At "School" he successfully avoids his duties on the Architectural Club Executive. Hobbies—Copping the berries and pleasing the ladies.

ROBERT WILLIAM HALL

"It is easier to criticize than to be correct."

Disabbling Egypt's Mystery and Rome's Glory, Bill chose the Nineteenth Century and Brampton as time and place for his debut. He drew inspiration for purity and style at Brampton's schools, migrating to Architecture in 210. Despite many distractions he has hopes of becoming a real Architect.

ARTHUR HEREWARD LIVINGSTON

"A rolling stone gathers no moss."

"Liver" deserted Brantford Collegiate for "School" in 1914, toured France with the P.P.C.L.I., and returned to 211 in 1918. He has dabbled in Architecture and wrestling, been Treasurer of the Varsity Veterans, President of the Boxing, Fencing and Wrestling Club and universally popular with all who know him—and there are few who don't.

HAROLD PERCY NIECE

*"When he plays he plays,
But when he works—"*

Born in Preston, I understand, Attended Collegiate on the Grand; Came to Toronto in '16. Fell in love with a perfect queen; Liked Architecture, entered in; Learned to build cities of clay or tin; Studies hard from morn' till late. Expects this year to graduate.

WILLIAM STEWART WILSON

"Many are called but few get up."

A victim of circumstances, "Bill" began his career near Hanover, Ontario, in 1894. Matric at Barrie, then entered "School" with the honest mob of '15. Downing Tee Square for the sword, he marched away but came up smiling with '21. A career of quiet study with no aversion to mild relaxations.

BRUCE H. WRIGHT

"I take lip from no man."

Toronto heard his first chirp about fourteen years ago, we think, and he arrived in the Dept. of Architecture by way of St. Andrew's College. Rapidly developed a talent for design in the Wop Renaissance style only equalled by the late Mr. Pollidie of Vicenza. Never allows studies to interfere with co-education.

THEODORE JOHN YOUNG

*"Ho! said the King,
What Ho! said the Parlet,
Ho, Ho! replied the King."*

"T.J." was born in 51 old Noo Yawk in 1896. He entered School with the gentlemen of '18, but at the call of Mars took unto himself wings. However, he made a safe landing to graduate with the class of '21. Rumour has it he wags a mean pencil.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CHEMICAL

JOHN KNOX AFFLECK

*"I wrong none about myself,
As ill I like my faults to tell"*

Brought along by the stork on June 3, 1894, Perth, Ontario. Matric. at Collegiate Institute, Perth. Started at S.P.S. with class '18. In war work, Dept. of Explosive Supplies, England. On return joined in with class '21.

T. M. BARRY

"Be sure when the great god lets loose a thunder on this planet."
—Emerson.

Murray was born Jan. 2, 1900, and educated at St. Mary's School, Hamilton Collegiate, and "School." Plays basket-ball with a great vim and does all things in like manner. He's some fish too. You can find Murray at Hart House tank about every day.

J. C. BELL

"Bhite spirit whose home is everywhere," —Shelley.

Seaforth is responsible for '16 which arrived in Toronto in the fall of 1916, hand-heaped with a scholarship. After a love affair of two months, in Arts, 219 J. C. found his ally in Analytical Chemistry, S.P.S. J. C. will long be remembered for his genial smile, quick wit and a strange habit of taking first-class honours into himself regularly.

DAVID BRODY

*"My humility is my pride,
My pride my humility."*

After graduating from Jarvis, he heard the call of "School." Played at basket-ball and rugby enthusiastically.

J. W. CHURCHILL

"Every man has in himself a continent of undiscovered Character."

John Winston Churchill was born in Toronto in 1900. "Church" was always a good mathematician, and so in 1917 he put two and two together and came to "School." Always clever in his studies, "Church" is bound to make his mark.

F. P. DOWNEY

"He may be slow but he is precious sure."

After matriculating in 1912, Frank came to School in '15 as U.F.O. Representative from Chatham, with the hope of becoming a chemist. In '17 he favored the Government with his services, until he renned his course in '19. Yes girls, he's married.

C. ROSS ELLIOTT

"Fair Science frowned not at his birth."

May 17, 1896, saw his arrival to an expectant world, at Bradford. After matriculating from Harbord C.I. in '16 he was relieved from mundane cares on entering "School" the same year. For two years the Ministry of Munitions interrupted his strenuous course and so he passed through this vale of bliss in '21.

VERNON H. EMORY

"For Brutus says he was ambitious And Brutus is an honourable man."

The time was 1897, the place Toronto. Matriculating from Harbord Collegiate he spent two years in Arts with class '19, prior to signing up with "School." "Probabilities—fair."

APPLIED SCIENCE—CHEMICAL

H. ALLEN FAIR

"The less of Routine, the more of life."

First saw daylight in the year of our Lord 1898, at Millbrook, Ontario. Completed Honor Matriculation at Riverdale Collegiate in 1915. Joined 'ye alchemists' with 270 Employed vacations with Imperial Munitions Board, Geological Survey and Electro Products, Shawinigan. Chemically speaking—he's there with the spirits.

J. E. FASKEN, Phm. B.

"In great atoms and small, I have always been thoroughly in earnest."

Entered the cold, cold world at Port Elgin in '88. Soon showed his chemical inclinations, becoming "Pill-Pounder." In 1910 graduated in Pharmacy. Registered at School in '14 in Applied Chemistry. Enlisted with Varsity Battery. In France with C.P.A. Secretary I.C.C. '15, '16. Leaves School with a real past and a real future.

R. R. FILE

*"What is spirit? No matter.
What is matter? Never mind.
What is mind? It is immaterial."*

Ronald is a chemist by profession and a debater for pastime. Ever since 1900 he has been inquiring into everything. The sum total of his "researches" should carry him far, even though burdened by his B.A.Sc.

ALSAIDAIR D. R. FRASER

"Var, I am the very pink of Courtesy."

Since Alasdair inflicted himself on the Queen city in '98 he has achieved much, but most notably a height of some 6 feet 5½ inches nett, and the Presidency of the Industrial Chemical Club. Executive ability and a bias toward matrimony are exemplified in him. May Fortune smile on his future.

D. GOLDSTICK

"Opened 90, closed 200, Market today."

"Dave" was born in Windau on the Baltic 21 years ago. He came to Canada a few years later. Being interested in wheels, and what makes them go 'round, "Dave" dropt into "School" for a few weeks in class '20. War claimed his services as a Chemist until 1918, when he entered class '21. Demosthenes has nothing on "Dave."

JOSEPH VERITY GUNDY

"I am always open to conviction, but I would like to see the man who can convince me."

"J.V." born at Ridgetown, Ontario, received his primary education at Windsor, matriculating from the W.C.I. Being mathematically inclined he turned to Engineering, joining the Chemical Class of '21. Served in the R.A.F. during the war. Gentleman, scholar—we predict a brilliant future for him.

W. U. HABERMAN

"Greater than circumstances."

Feb. 28, 1899, Riga, Russia, was the first great event. The next found him in 1916 matriculating from Oakwood Collegiate, Toronto, and the following year entering "School." For four short years he pursued his joyous course in Applied Chemistry and now the world welcomes another "Wise Man from the East."

HAROLD ARTHUR KNIGHT

"So gay a Knight they ne'er had seen."

Caedra rubbed his eyes when Harold arrived Nov. 7th, '98. After putting the Guelph Collegiate on the map he came to "School" with the class of '20. Played on the team winning Muelck and Sifton Cups. Spent two years in acid plants with I.M.B. After four years at School, South House, and Columbia, he intends entering business.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CHEMICAL

C. P. LAILEY

"Were he bereft of sight and tongue, He'd win them all with native charm."

Steeped in the traditions of U.T.S., "Petie" has ever filled a role of conspicuous importance in School. His endowment of a concert-pitch personality, that is genial and amiable to irresistibility has ever sufficed to give him a range of friends as wide as humanity itself.

I. M. LOGAN

"Nature made him but n'er another like him."

Ushered in by a thunderstorm at Niagara Falls, August 22nd, 1896. Probable cause for choosing electro-chemistry. Matriculated 1915. Entered S.P.S. class '19. Operating electric furnaces 1917-19. Returned to '21. Of a sober and industrious disposition, his success is undoubted by his friends.

BASIL M. McLEAN

"Not without Ambition."

Ever since '96 'Mac' has been chasing rain-bows and blowing pretty bubbles in the air. With him, variety is the spice of life, having been on numerous jobs but always with lots of pep. During his Varsity career was V.P. 1st year 270 and on Torontonensis's Board 271. Short and snappy.

JAS. FRITH PHILLIPS

"He pleased by his manly ways."

J. F. made his debut in Toronto on July 7th, 1899. Matriculated from Central Technical, and joined 271 in the dept. of Chemical Engineering. Helped King George at the British Acetones. Ambition: to take a nine o'clock lecture. Hobbies: fermentation processes and fusing.

RALPH PRESGRAVE

"There's safety in numbers."

"Press" came across from "old London" to Toronto, nine years ago, at the age of thirteen. While "Press" claims chemistry as his profession, he is by no means one-sided. He is a keen lover of the out-of-doors, an ardent photographer, and a great book-lover. He will make a great little husband for someone some day.

CHAS. P. SALE

"Unnamed as yet, at least unknown to fame."

"C.P." was born at Windsor and received his preliminary education there and thereabouts. Been creating "stinks" since 1916, with a period of "forming fumes" between times. Curator, Industrial Chemical Club, 1617. Student Representative, Society of Chemical Industry, 20-21. One of School's "chemically pure" products.

OTTO J. SHIERHOLTZ

*"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays
and confident to-morrows."*

Born near Elmira, Ontario, June 24, 1892. Spent a few years in the publishing business in that town before his tastes for the technical led him to forsake the "Fourth Estate" for the chemical field.

ALEX. H. WINGFIELD

*"He knew what's what, and that's as high
As metaphysic wit can fly."*

First landed on terra firma April 19, 1898, at Hamilton, Ont. Matriculation at Ham. Coll. Inst. Started with Civils '20, but later joined Chemicals of '21.

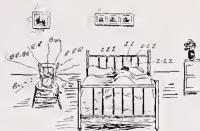

INDUSTRIAL CHEMICAL CLUB EXECUTIVE, 1920-21.

STANDING:—H. B. Meyer, 3rd Year Rep.; H. N. Baker, 1st Year Rep.; E. M. Begg, 2nd Year Rep.; C. P. Lailey, 4th Year Rep.

JUSTIN C. ANGUS

"He shed a radiant smile around And smoked a rank cigar."

"Gus"—a typical product of the "City of Churches"—first startled the world in '96. Graduated from P.C.'s halls of learning and entered class 178. Was a member of 1915 Junior School Mulock Cup "Speci' Fiends". By Royal consent, studied the humanities (?) of Europe from the saddle of a gasoline pony. His gloom-dispelling grin, belated by man and maid, now brightens class 211.

WILLIAM PERCIVAL AUGUSTINE

"What's in a Name?"

"Pud" grew up in Port Colborne and reflects the sunniness of Lake Erie climate. Great devotion to the task in hand, hearty support to the Y.M.C.A., and withal a refreshing pleasantness characterized his time at Varsity. His uncanny skill with the slide rule is proverbial.

"Worth makes the man."

Brought joy to a Toronto home on March 16th, 1898. He will always speak well of Queen Alexandra, E.S. and Riverdale C.I. Began to boost "School" with 210. Steps out to meet experience with 211. Regarded by his comrades as a true pal, whose sincerity and sterling qualities assure a successful future.

NELSON BOWMAN

"Better late than never."

N. Bowman heralded his coming in mid-winter, Bleuheim Township, Oxford County. For some years Kitchener Collegiate Institute was graced by his presence. His awesome gaze was first directed toward the two foot rule '14. Subsequent years at the Red school were not uneventful. 1st with 178, then 210, and finally 211.

JOSEPH MELVILLE BREEN

"At whose sight all the stars Hide their diminished heads."

"Joe"—born in Illinois, 1897—repented at the age of three and came to Toronto, where he learned the elements of rugby at Humber College. He entered class 178 and distinguished himself on the Jr. School Rugby team in 1915. Joined Europe on a motor-cycle and returned to class 211 and the captaincy of Varsity Senior Rugby team for 1919. Repeated in 1920 and led Varsity to triumph over McGill. May he meet with many more triumphs in the future.

HARRY ROBERT BURTON

*"And many a lecture he attended,
Or went not as he chose."*

"Bob" first saw daylight at Dundas, 1896. Early education there and Matriculation at Parkdale Collegiate. Began his real education in School '18. Three years abroad set him back to Class '21. Starred on Junior School Rugby team, 1915, manager Senior School 1924. Special characteristics—Originality, Self-reliance and Optimism.

W. DONALD COULTER

"He was a tall thin mischief-making devil"

Not being fond of noise (except of his own making) Skin chose the quiet village of Port Robinson for his earlier activities. Matriculating from Welland High School in 1914, he joined the class of 211. Tennis, basketball and sleeping were his chief sports.

PETER J. CULLITON

"Yes, yes, that reminds me."

The inimitable "Pete" became an eloquentist in Stratford, Ont., on August 25, 1896. Floated through Collegiate and entered "School" with class '19. Out two years and now with '21. Small? Yes! but oh, my—Size inversely proportional to executive ability. Curator Engineering Society, '18-19; President Civil Club '20-21. We wish "Pete" Good Luck.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CIVIL

RALPH WALDO DOWNIE

"I have more care to stay than tell to go."
Gave my first yell on July 2th, 1891, and followed it by a few more in various parts of the world, but in 1912 learned the "School" yell and since then have tried no other. Owing to academic requirements incidental to a university education have missed a few activities but have enjoyed every minute of it.

HERMAN JAMES ELLIOTT

"Being good is a lonesome job."
"Jimmy" was born in Hamilton, but reared and educated in the "Queen City," and coming from a scholastic family, chose Science as his course. His love of country cost him three years at College as he was originally an '18 man. "H. J." was always an ardent lover of sports—indoor and outdoor. Good luck, James!

CECIL BRUCE FERRIS

"And so he plays his part."
After attending Parkdale Collegiate, Bruce entered "School" with '13, where for two years his activities included: Year Athletic Representative, Science Octette, Rugby, etc. An intervening period on construction work followed, after which he went overseas with the "Original Firsts." Wounded at Givenchy, decorated, promoted, he resumed his studies when demobilized, 1919. "Nil Desperandum."

JAS. GILLESPIE

"A little, dry, old man, without a star."
He first saw daylight at Cromarty, Perth Co., on Sept. 10th, 1895. Matriculated from Seaford Collegiate. Joined Arts (TS. Enlisted with 161st Bn. Service improved his taste, accordingly on return he joined "School" 271. "Jimmy" is an ardent admirer of the ladies in spite of his claims to the contrary.

J. ROYDEN GILLEY

*"Conspicuous for mirth and laughter,
The ladies first . . . and after."*
Born? Yes!
Where? New Westminster, B.C.
When? April 3rd, '94.
Matriculated at New Westminster High School and then joined "177 Science Gang."
Won first "T" in 1914. Vice-President "School" Athletics '15. Served with "Emma Gee's" in France. Chief ability—to make friends.
Hobby—Oh girls! "G-T-R-L-S"!!

DAVID SCOTT GRAHAM

"Surely, surely slumber is more sweet than toil."
Inglewood, 1895. Had often heard of Toronto's beauties, so after Preparation at Georgetown and U.C.C., entered "School" as a means to an end. After several years of leave—and war—returned to resuscitate Toronto Society, and incidentally got his degree. May his success in the world be as great as his ability to make friends.

JOHN HAROLD LEGATE

"A ready wit, a happy smile, an eye that sparkles merrily."
Ham descended from Owen Sound in 1913 with ambitions to become an Engineer. Four years of active service with the 29th Field Battery, were to elapse before his hopes could be realized. While mastering science, Ham has struggled effectively for "School" in rugby and hockey. He is president of the Phi Sigma Tau Fraternity.

CHARLES H. MACLEAN

"A rare specimen, so studious (f) and so small."
On April 24, '98, some officious angels visited Chesley and left 'Chic' there. They escaped safely and 'Chic' has been trying to grow up ever since. Matriculating from Chesley High School in 1915, he joined the Civils of '21. Never a book-worm, he always spent his evenings at Varsity rink.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CIVIL

EARL J. MARSH

"Lithewie to-night I make good cheer Because the battle drageth near."

Grimshy, Ont., the place, July 14, 1898 the date. Matriculation Grimshy High School. Later graced Hamilton C.I. for one year. Entered "School" with class of '21. Summer session '19. Played rugby for "Senior School" in third and fourth years. Noisy draftsman.

G. DEANE MAXWELL

*"Nature made him what he is
And ne'er made such another."*

Deane was welcomed on Sept. 13, 1892, at St. Stephen, N.B., migrated to New Westminster, B.C., at an early age. Columbian College paved the way to the "School," arriving with the class of ITS. After six years' absence, he turned up the "Toske Olestra," 1930. President of Structural Club, Secty-Treas. year, 1921.

G. LESLIE MCGEE

"... I now do plainly see This busy world and I shall ne'er agree."

"Les." acquired an appetite for maths at Oakwood Collegiate, which brought him to "School" with class ITS. Spent three years "globe-trotting" with R.H.A. in India, Mesopotamia, Egypt and Palestine. Captain of Varsity Rowing Club. Member of 1920 Inter-Faculty Rowing Champions. Reputation for executive ability and modesty in showing it.

J. ROY McLEAN

"Never was seen such an angel, Eyes of a heavenly blue—"

"J. Roy" began to size up the "Universe" on Nov. 27th, 1891, at Pahrurston, Ont. Early education at Listowel High School. Entered "School" with '177 Gang. Played Soccer, then played with "Machine Guns" in France. President 4th year, '21. President Students' Court, S.A.C., '21.

JOS. CAVE MEADER

*"And proud indeed, to profit all by science."
—Taskin.*

"Joe" to all-made his first appearance at Orillia, after preliminary educational formalities matriculated St. Michael's College 1907. Joined '14. Owing to the desire for practical experience and "la guerre" finishes with '21. While at school has made many friends who wish him success in his chosen career.

JOHN CLARENCE MITCHELL

"What should a man do, but be merry."

1894. His lack of education was remedied at Western University, which institution, for lack of a better reason, granted him his B.A. From education he turned to Science, McGill, '18, but the call of blood was too strong, so he travelled. "School" claimed him in 1919. His education is now complete—happiness.

J. CLARENCE MONTEITH

"Inclined to work, but not to worry."

First began the great adventure at Stratford, 1895. Matriculated Stratford Collegiate, 1912. After various experiences joined "School" ITS. Served with 102nd Infantry Bn. in France. An ardent fan of "pinchle." As a hobby "Monty" dabbles in Astronomy.

WILLIAM HERBERT NIXON

"By ceaseless action, all that is subsists."

Received a hearty welcome at Toronto, in Oct., 1894, and after a riotous career at Winchester P.S. and Jarvis C.I., he finally matriculated from Farguharson's School. Entered '17, cycled Europe and soared in R.A.F. Welcomed at '21, supporting Rugby, congenial and steadfast, his friends predict a future of true success.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CIVIL

WALTER JOHN PARKER

"A member of the midnight crew."

"Red" hit the world a blow in 1895, brilliantly battled his way through Harbord and Technical into Science 178, was heard of on the Paris-Brussels line and finally burst in upon 211. A popular athletic, basketball enthusiast and member of Varsity II champion rugby team, "Red" was studying Spanish, but—we wish him an early conquest.

STEWART H. PEPLER

"You person doth comfort yourself With dignified mairty."

Although possessing a sensible sensitivity to syncopating saxophones and a true title to terpsichorean triumph, "Stew" has surmounted in a glorious succession all the academic obstacles imposed by the Model, U.T.S. and School 18 and 21. A keen yachtsman and has attained to Olympian heights in the circle of friendship. Of his future we are confident.

WILLIAM GORDON PINEL

"Th, why should life all labor be?"

With this idea firmly in mind, born, 1897, in Toronto, where he attended Public School and "Tech" then to "School" to become a knight of the slide-rule. Religiously attends all games and is well-known for his generosity and never-failing food humour, acting as Chief Gloom Dispeller of the Draughting Room.

WILLIAM DOUGLAS PROCTOR

"In company a very pleasant fellow."

Proctor became a citizen of Sarnia July 25, 1895. Matric. Sarnia Collegiate. Entered "School" in 1913 with class '17. Completed second year. Spent one year on munition inspection. Enlisted in 3rd Battery C.F.A. May 1st, 1916. 1 year, 9 months in France with 15th Battery, 2nd Canadian Tunnelling Co. and 12th Battalion. C.E. Demobbed as Lieut. Canadian Engineers. Returned to third year, 1919.

GEORGE VERT RAYNER

"Live and love."

One more "ambulation" from the Ambitious City. Saw light, 1896. Saw "School," 1914. Saw life, including London, Paris and Monte Carlo, 1915-1918. May have to saw wood eventually. Figured in the Engineering Society, 1919, but was disfigured at the last election, for which we are thankful, as he can now devote his time to other things.

FRANCIS C. RICHARDSON

"A merry heart goes all the way."

He was born in Toronto, November 20th, 1898, graduated from Harbord Collegiate Institute and commenced his engineering training with the class of 179. Throughout his course he has maintained a high standing without neglecting his lady friends. His ready wit coupled with a spontaneous optimism, has cheered us through many a drowsy lecture.

CAMPBELL T. SMITH

"Quietly he pursued the even tenor of his ways."

Sarnia saw him first in 1890. An overdose of knowledge contracted at Chatham was dispensed to the rising generation until School welcomed him in 1915. He enlisted in Sept. 1916, joined the Special Session in 1919 and here he is with the ambition and ability to go far.

GEORGE ERNEST STEEL

"And when a lady's in the case, You know all other things give place."

George aroused the peace loving village of West Huntingdon, Hastings County, on June 22nd, 1893. His early education was at Albert College, Belleville. Desiring further education, he naturally came to S.P.S. with the class of 178. His course, interrupted for a few years, was resumed in 1919.

APPLIED SCIENCE—CIVIL

FRANK H. TAYLOR

*"Why then the world's mine oyster
Which I with sword will open."*

In 1896 Frank started his career in Toronto with a yell. He matriculated from U.T.S. in 1913 and entered S.P.S. with the class of 1T8. In 1916 his course was interrupted while he was overseas. 1919 found him back at Varsity with the class of 2T1.

LESTER M. VARDON

"A man he is to many maidens dear."

"Les" first kicked off the covers in Springfield, Ont., Dec. 8th, 1897. After the usual round of mumps, measles, etc., he graduated from Aylmer High School and started with 1T9 Class. His desire to wig-wag a flag and top a buzzer, added to his patriotic fervor, landed him in Class 2T1. His strong point is a keen eye for "beauty." We wish him all success.

FRANK MELBOURNE WADDELL

"He, being a man who seldom used a word too much."

"Pete" first appeared Port Dover, April 10th, 1896. From Collegiate Institute, Brantford to join 1T7 Science Gang. Military V.M.C.A. 1915 to 1918. Engaged with 1st Batt. Canadian Tank Corps. Second year in Khaki University. "School" again in Fall, 1919.

ROBT S. WARWICK

"You can bank on its there's no philosophy like bluff."

Born in Brussels, Ont., April 15, '95. Matriculated at Searforth College. Saw fit to join the 1T7 "Gang." In France he navigated a ferry, then an R.E.S. Detests "a table askew and a twisted cue." "Bob" is noted for his dry wit and "blase" attitude towards lectures and life.

CLAUDE CECIL WIMPERLEY

Made so'emm entry in 1894 midst pastoral scenes of Belleville, Public School and High School in Toronto, and then to The Old Red Schoolhouse in autumn of 1914. Shortly after relinquished slide-rule for the sword, serving with 75th Batt'le. A potential artist tethered within the confines of his chosen craft, but withal "decori decus addit avit."

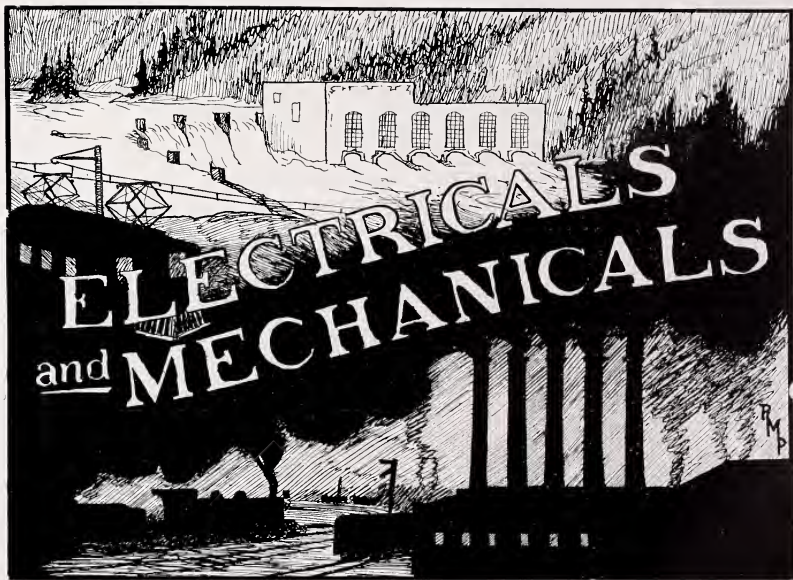

CIVIL ENGINEERS' CLUB EXECUTIVE--1920-21.

BACK ROW--T. S. Glover, Varsity Representative; T. R. Emerson, 1st Year Representative; C. B. MacQueen, Secretary-Treasurer; W. J. Foley, 3rd Year Representative; M. C. Kelly, 2nd Year Representative; H. J. Elliott, 4th Year Representative.

FRONT ROW--Prof. C. R. Young, Hon. President; P. J. Culliton, President; E. W. Cockerline, Vice-President.

GEORGE ARNOLD BRACE

"I, even though vanquished he could argue still."

This tough guy matriculated from Brockville Collegiate and finally joined ZTI Electricals after an interruption due to service with the 1st Tank Battalion. One of School's foremost debaters, he has served as President of the Debating Society, Secretary-Treasurer of the I.C.D.U. and on the E. and M. Club Executive. The ladies love him.

WILLIAM ALBERT DOHERTY

"If the ocean were whiskey and 'Doc' were a duck He'd dive to the bottom and never come up."

Born Aug. 21, 1899. Matriculated from North Toronto in 1917 and entered "School." Before ending first year became ether disturber for George Guelph. Returned to "School" with special session of 1919 and, God willing, graduates with '21. His weakness—the ladies.

PETER ANDERSON DURBROW

"I am part of all I have met."

Renewed C.I. was responsible for his entrance to ITT. Being one of the troops he later saw fit to join ZTI. Despite his many faults, conceded by all to be "good old Pete."

FREDERICK CHARLES ELEY

"Woof,—Woof!"

Born in London in the blooming bush, Nov. 15, 1897. After larrying both there and in Tigertown for a short while he came to Toronto. A graduate at Tech, he entered School with ZTI but his unalloyed love for switches (electrical) transferred his smiling face into ZTI, where he ranked as founder of the Woof—Woof's.

JOHN PATRICK FLYNN

*"I man he seems of cheerful yesterday,
And confident tomorrow."*

John was born at Merriton, Ontario, October 14th, 1897. From Merriton Separate School he progressed to St. Catharines Collegiate, where he matriculated. After a varied experience along electrical lines he applied his versatile talents in Class '21, "School."

HAVELOCK CAMERON GRAHAM

"They go wild simply wild over me."

He was first raised over in Elmvalle, Ont., on May 2nd, 1897—and still they rave. Entered School with ZTI and after two years' flying in R.A.F., sideslipped to earth again, landing in ZTI. It is said he is an artist with the telephone and is even known to go out occasionally!

ALBERT E. HAMILTON

"A little body often harbours a great soul."

"Hammie" descended on Toronto on Nov. 27, 1896, and has since held it firmly down except during his twenty-five months overseas with the Signal Co. Honor Matric. at Riverdale Collegiate Institute in 1915. Originally in class '19, but joined class '21 in autumn of 1919.

GORDON HEPBURN

"Along the strangely varied path of life Pursues the even tender of his way."

Gordon was born in 1899 at Kelowna, B.C. He came east to Milton, Ontario, where he matriculated in 1916. After overseas service with the Canadian Engineers he returned to the "Old School" to graduate in Electricity, class '21.

APPLIED SCIENCE—ELECTRICAL

MAURICE A. LANDSBERG

*"His 'School' life through.
He goes to conquer worlds anew."*

Landy was "wished" upon this world on Sept. 15, 1898, at Toronto. Early education received at McCaul School, followed by 4 years at Jarvis Collegiate Institute. At School he has distinguished himself by always being foremost in "tapping" operations, besides playing a little rugby.

GORDON MAXWELL LYON

"Strong in will and rich in wisdom."

Born in Barrie, Ontario, Gordon matriculated at Picton Academy, Nova Scotia and came to Toronto in 1915 to study Electrical Engineering. Leaving class '19, he threw in his lot with the 67th Battery. Of his return he donned the ermine with year '21.

H. KEITH MACLEAN

"Not to know me argues yourselves unknown."

Born in Ilford, England, on June 28, 1900, Mac. was soon mastered by the inherent colonizing instinct of his race and came to Canada in 1901. He matriculated from Seaforth Collegiate Institute in 1916, and entered the Electrical Department of the "School" in 1917, as a member of class '21.

J. DOUGLAS McLELLAN

"He wears well with acquaintance."

Doug. is a Toronto boy. His youth was spent at "Commerce" and "Tec." He embarked early on his career as an Electrical Engineer by operating the lantern at church. Realizing the value of the Calculus in his calling, he came to "School" for his higher education.

JOHN PERCY McCLELLAND

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

"Mac." entered the class of 178, later joined the "why-walks" and bumped a rough passage over the rocky roads of France, where he was an enthusiastic patron of the old estaminet. After a period with the R.A.F. he returned to 271, where he cultivated a fondness for red tams.

RALPH M. PRENDERGAST

"A man neither good nor great, but just like you and I and the rest of us."

Ralph was born in Toronto, Jan. 18th, 1899, and after matriculating at Jarvis St. Collegiate, he entered class '21, Electrical Engineering.

H. E. PRESTON.

Decided to belong to Midland in 1898; but fondness for the bright lights caused a change to Toronto where he entered school with '20. Thinking '21 to be a better looking bunch, induced him to throw in his lot with them. He is a persistent fusser, and like Harry Lauder, prefers breakfast in bed. Easily identified by very smooth hair, light moustache and genial smile.

JAMES HAMILTON RATCLIFF

"An Admiral grave was he."

Embarking on the sea of life in Stouffville, 1898, "Ted." got his bearings and steered for S.P.S. Surviving School "tappings" and the King's Navy," and having acquired the pipe so essential in the solution of electrical problems, he sets sail for new ventures. Bon voyage!

APPLIED SCIENCE-ELECTRICAL

G. ROY SHEPHARD

"A little woolly, but not all sheep."

Observations:—First appeared in Toronto, then observed at Parkdale Collegiate.
Calculations:—Entered School with class '18, leaving with class '21—Difference: 3 years overseas with First Divisional Signals.
Conclusions:—Successful in business and Studies. Favorite recreation—Musical comedy revues.

WALTER MAXWELL SMITH

"The World Belongs To The Energetic."

"Max" was introduced to this orb in the Telephone City on Nov. 27th, 1896. Honor matric at R.C.I. in 1914. Ambition to follow Bell led him to School in Class '18. Took 3 years vacation with the signallers, and installed some pep into Kings College, London, for six months. Re-entered School in Class '21.

WILLIAM DOUGLAS STALKER

"I sometimes work—and sometimes not."

"Doug" smiled first in Simcoe, 1898, and has been practising ever since. Neither "School" nor the Artillery could suppress it. Captivates the ladies and fools, the faculty, yet the man is not a villain.

GORDON F. TRACY

"His very step hath music in it."

Gord's troubles began Feb. 2, 1896, at Toronto. He took Honor Matric. 1914, from Harbord Collegiate Institute. Honored class '18 the same year with his presence. Forsook them for three years while overseas with the Signal Co. Came back to the fold with class '21 in autumn of 1919.

JOHN STEPHEN MOFFAT WALLACE

"Truth is by worth in every rank adored."

Born Feb. 27th, 1895, the above "J.S.M." set out upon his studious career to Pine Grove Public School. Later graduating from G.A.N. Collegiate Institute, he entered Class '17. After three years overseas; serving in France with the 4th Can. Siege Bty., he again took up things Electrical with '21. In all, four square is he.

JOHN WILMOT WARD

"He smiles and smiles and still may be a villain."

Joined up with '17 but fearing the onslaught of the second year exams, deserted and "opped it" for a four years' tour of the continent, returning in time to resume his academic efforts with '21. He is good at roulette, strong for the working man and a hear for the ladies.

ARTHUR S. WILSON

*"For the man worth while
Is the man who will smile
When everything goes wrong."*

As a product of Woodstock's educational system, started in '12 with the Electricals, honors being his yearly specialty thereafter. Helped along behind the scenes at School, and also as the first Master Electrician of Hart House Theatre, and member of Board of Syndics of the Players' Club.

MECHANICAL AND ELECTRICAL CLUB EXECUTIVE, 1930-31.

TOP ROW:—G. W. Smart, Curator; Prof. R. W. Angus, Prof. H. W. Price, Honorary Chairmen; A. W. F. McQueen, Treasurer.

ALBERT CRAWFORD BLUE

*"He was the mildest mannered man
That ever scuttled ship or cut a throat."*

"A. C." spent the early years of his life in Elgin County managing to matriculate from Dutton High School in '16; thence he came to 271 Mechanicals. Labs and exams, are his only worries, good stories and home cooking his delights. Albert is a regular guy.

GEORGE EWART BOOTH

Motto—Tact, Push, and Principle

Born May, 1895. Started school at Huron St. public, Toronto. Matriculated from "Old Technical" 1913. First two years at "School" 1913-1915. Four years of various war services including one year overseas. Gun artificer with 12th Can. Siege Batt., France. Finished last two years with 271.

SAMUEL CHAIKOFF

"Metaphysics be damned, I want life."

In 1891 in Russia, Chalkoff first counted the moments till he would become an engineer. With an ear to the wind and an eye to the future he bade farewell to boyhood scenes in 1903. Jarvis but whetted his desire. He started with class '21, but has also other virtues. His passion is social justice.

HAROLD CREIGHTON CRANE

*"Dark of form and lithe of tongue
But more than fair intelligence."*

On May 1, '29, Toronto saw the beginning of a brilliant career. After galloping through Riverdale Collegiate, Harold "pulled into" "School" with '21. Always awake to opportunity he grabbed the Third Year Scholarship in Mechanical. Social "hog" and Engineer. Passions—good books and pretty girls.

MALCOLM EDWARD DICKENSON

"Short and Dink Brought us a Lark."

Dick was delivered in Hamilton, March 16th, 1895, and graduated from Hamilton Collegiate. He came to "School" in '14 and enlisted in '16 with the Mechanical Transports, in which he served two years and a half in France. After the Armistice Dick attended the University of London for five months. Inclined to be quiet and has a very congenial nature.

FREDERICK WILFRED DUNTON

"Precum not that I am the thing I was."

"Pete" startled the countryside round Britannia in '97. Having a particular aversion to farm work he made for Streetsville H. S. Honour Matric, Brampton. Searching for easy quarters brought him next to "School." Class President, 1913-15. Enthusiastic "Y" worker. Past Master in welcoming newcomers to South House. Marked characteristic, vacillating temperament.

FREDERICK RUSSELL ECKERT

"I am not in the roll of common men."

Dec. 27, '97, at London, Ont., "Cy" first grazed this world with his presence. After matriculating at the London C. I. he entered "School." "Poor School!" Soon he became known as an intrepid football player and wrestler. Occasionally he has been seen to do a little work. Here's success, Cy!

S. LESLIE GALBRAITH

*"Since brevity is the soul of wit...
I will be brief."*

Spouted in 1897 near Alliston, Ont., but failing to take root there, was transplanted in 1906 to Macleod, Alta., from which he blossomed forth as an undergrad. in Arts and Applied Science in Alberta University. However an inherent dislike for Latin caused him to complete his last two years at "School." Never passes up a holiday.

JAMES BRUCE HAMILTON

*"Give me some music;
Music, moody food
Of us that trade in Love."*

Was ushered in on an unsuspecting world June 10, 1900, at Glen Huron, Ont. Matric. from Regina C. I. Arrived at "School" in '17. Has a taste for music. Played Rugby, Basketball, and Hockey for Senior School. Awarded a "T" for Rowing—Varsity "Tack" Four.

SAMUEL ELGIN HENRY

*"The bravest trophy ever man obtained
Is that which o'er himself, himself hath gained."
—Earl of Sterling*

S. E. used to examine the intricacies of alarm clocks, and sewing machines; now he studies automobiles with an equal enthusiasm. His academic work has been filled with experience, and his evenings with social affairs. "School" has been kind to him during his visit here—may the world be equally so.

WM. H. HEROLD

"Company, villainous company, hath been the ruin of me."

One of the proverbial good natured. Just "Biff" wherever he goes. A host of friends from High School days, from Air Force, and from Varsity wish him the best of luck in his chosen profession. May he never grow thin and may his pipe never go out.

REGINALD DAWSON KEENLEYSIDE

"He hangs around the taps."

The stork smiled on June 26, 1898, at London, Ont., and ushered in "Red." Matriculated from London Collegiate Institute. Spent a year in the grease before joining '20. President of his third year. Returned another year to the grease to be with the gang in '21. Game for anything.

C. HAMILTON LAIRD

"All that glitters is not gold."—Shorth.

"Red" was born in New York City, June 26, 1900, but admits he comes from Hamilton. Matriculated from the H. C. I. and came to "School" in hopes of someday being a Mechanical Engineer.

ALEX M. LAWRENCE

*The moving finger writes and having writ it
Hoves on to say, "He's Scotch but won't

The most unusual event in the career of this rare Scot, who likes to be called Irish, came in his first year when he barked in a lab. report on time. But, we notice, his many eccentricities are endearing both to luddites and ladies.

DONALD MONTEITH MACDONALD

"The same old sprint in the morning boys, to the same old din and smat."—Service.

Welcomed to Edmonston, in November, 1894. Trinity College School, 1910. Tried McGill for two years, then, after a break of four years with the C.E.F. and R.A.F., perceived the error of his ways, and is finishing his University career with 2T Mechanicals.

WESLEY FRANKLIN MAUNDER

"A man of action, yet of social grace."

"Wes" first worked at Little Britain in 1899. Lindsay C.I. endured him until 2T0 claimed him in 1916. Stripped gears with the C. A. S. C. and fitted with the pycnons with R.F.C. through 1917-18. Holds "2S" for interfaculty Hockey Champions, 1916-17, and 2nd "T" for Intermediate Intercollegiate Rugby Champs, 1920. Music, machinery and maidens comprise his daily toil.

FLOYD ROBERT McDONALD

*"A smiling eye, a brow serene,
A ready wit, a noble mien."*

Born in London, Ont. Beginning at London Collegiate and matriculating from Oakwood, "Mac" blew in to "School" in 1916. Occupies with Signallers. Plays rugby, hockey, basketball. Secretary, Varsity Hockey Club, and President School Athletic Society.

LESLIE T. McNAUGHTON

"Tis no sin for a man to labour to his vacation."

London Collegiate had the honour in 1916, after which "School" sheltered him. He has proved to be a persevering and conscientious worker. His motto "Better late than never." We predict an Engineer of ability.

JOHN DeWITTE RELYEA

"Jack loved his friend, and was true to his Molly."

Went from the schools of Prescott, Jack graduated into 177 and resolutely scrapped, fussed, C.O.T.C'd and—studied. 1915 saw him with the colors, and three years of active service followed. Latterly, he has gained fame as a debater and for his pioneer work on aeroplane surveying. Bonne chance, old timer!

J. ERIC B. SHORTT

"It short he was a willing agitation."

His voice first heard on June 21, '99—was named Eric but called "Jeb" for Shortt. At Humberdale Collegiate was athletic president and girl's favorite. Later known as school's renowned basketball artist and huge exponent of aeronautics—has social leanings and railroad aspirations—distinguished by a rambling locomotion and typical West Toronto grin.

JOSEPH ADOLPH SIMMERS

"Cool, unperturbed by stress and busy Inclined to sport but not to worry."

"Joe" first smiled upon the world in Toronto, 1895. Went to Jarvis Collegiate but started his education at S.P.S. in 1914. Early in 1915 he joined the "Princess Pats" and was invalided home from France. He escaped his second year exam at "School" by re-enlisting with the Signal Co. in 1917. Transferred to R.N.A.S. seeing service in France and Italy.

HARRY STORY SPENCER

*"Amongst a grove, the very straightest plant"
—Henry W. Pl. I.*

Six years ago "Spia" arrived from Picton with books in one hand and a tennis racket in the other. With the former he has won First Class honours, with the latter helped win the Intercollegiate Tennis Championships. At "School" and at the war, he has displayed an amount of "nerp" that makes his future full of promise. He is Vice-President of The Sigma Tau Fraternity.

MERRILL CLARK STAFFORD

"Heah and de handle fosh youn hoe, Katana."

Originated near Waterford, Norfolk County, July 11, 1899. Riverdale Collegiate sent him to "School" in '17. Activities not all academic. Pres. of E. & M. Club and "school's" rep. on Varsity staff. Still partial to country. In spite of his hair has a good reputation and is a persistent fusser.

VINCENT VOADEN

*"As Shakespeare said in Paradise Lost
"A sin in a man for a 'dint.'"*

"Vine" happened in Elgin County, June 8th, 1898. Hamilton Collegiate sent him to "School" in 1917. Between public dancing, free church-suppers and social pangs, he reached fourth year. The roped square and a thirty-six-inch punch finished his education. Identified by his fitful laugh, boyish face and dripping head.

CARL MCGIBBON BECK

"I've once to get up in the morning but it's best to be in bed."

Chiefly noted for getting into arguments. Commenced arguing in 1890 at Penetanguishene, continued it at Upper Canada College, and then with the Miners. He reorganized the School Debating Club, served on Engineering Society Executive and the Athletic Directorate. Played rugby with School and Varsity Seconds.

D. EDGAR CRAIGIE

*"It's not in mortals to command success,
But we'll do more, Scorpions, we'll deserve

Edgar received his early education at Hanover and Parkdale. He entered "School" in 1914, but left to go overseas. On the completion of the war he obtained his second year at Ripon. We leave him at "School" a friend of whom no one says ill.

GEORGE B. DONER

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men."

George was born in Stayner in 1898, having no brass band there to welcome him he has succeeded in making himself known. Educated (in more ways than one) at Stayner, Ont., he graduated to become a Miner. Very proficient in "Decorating the Labog- any."

T. C. FAWCETT

"The Northern Lights have seen queer sights."

Born at Dawson City in 1898 immediately contracting the gold fever; hence his course in Mining Engineering. Attended Gravenhurst High School and Orillia Collegiate. Favourite expression—"Mechanical error." Favourite pastime—"Snooker."

B. T. HANNAN

*"And still the wonder grows that head so small

Born in 1899. Red first picked shamrocks in County Kilkenny, Ireland. He attended Stonyhurst College, Lancashire, where he felt the rod of British discipline. "School" life should be much healthier when Red and his pipe graduate.

ARTHUR LANSON IRWIN

*"His heart and hand both open and both free,
For what he has he gives, what he thinks he shows."*

First yell back in '98. Matric at "Tech." '16. Began School life as President of "Prosh" year. Graduates in Metallurgy and will be heard of again.

PETER FINDLAY MCINTYRE

*"To speak no slander, no, nor listen to it,
To honor his own word as if his God's."*

No more need be said unless it is that he acquired at the University everything that a man should—

Knowledge—Friends—Physique—First Hockey and Track Teams and the Athletic Directorate.

ALBERT PRYSE MACKENZIE

"He's little, but he's wise, He's a musician in disguise."

1896—"Mac" bounced into Toronto, in and out of "Tech," finally landing in "School," President First, and Third Year, Representative on Athletic Directorate. Captain of Junior School Rugby Team, won "S" in hockey; "Tickler of Ivories" for whole "School."

ADRIAN EGBERT O'BRIEN

"One Damn Thing After Another."

"O'Bie" first opened his eyes in 1897 but between the fair sex and committees hasn't closed them much since. He came from Ottawa to Arts, where he learned the finer details of fussing. He transferred his Irish wit and giggle to the Miners where he again became popular as President of Mining Club.

HARDY EDWARD PURDY

"Surely, surely slumber is more sweet than toil."

"Purdy," one of Port Perry's brightest gifts to Varsity, arrived at "School" in 1915, a meek and looly worshipper at the Miners' Shrine. A keen witted, savor faire gentleman, who can exhibit a winged ankle equally well in a foot race or terpsichorean assembly. A soldier, mucker and versatile Gentleman who accomplishes anything possible with a mandolin or a moustache.

E. A. ROLPH

"Very good Eddie"

Eddie arrived in Toronto on the 20th Century Limited, Mar. 24th, 1900. Attended U.T.S. until 1917, when feeling in need of an education, he came to "School." Aspired for honors in Squash, Indoor Baseball and Tennis. He hopes to bloom forth as a Mining Engineer. After that—destination and occupation unknown, but success will surely await him—Somewhere.

HUGH MARTIN SHEPARD

*"Grew old along with me
For the best is yet to be."*

Hamilton claims the honor, for there Shep. first appeared on April 9, 1899. Matriculation Hamilton C.I., 1916. "School" first saw him running the gamutlet with the 'Tl freshmen. Secretary Mining and Metallurgical Club in his second and third years. A willing expounder of metallurgy.

FREDERICK WALTER SIMPSON

"Poor as Job, but not so patient."

"Simmie" announced his entrance into the Universe with a "School" yell on Jan. 1, 1895, at Toronto. It was therefore natural that after fooling the profs at "Tech," he aspired to be an "Integral" part of the "Little Red School" Original '18, but course interrupted when he "wig-wagged" his way to France.

WILLIAM JAMES ELSE WYLLIE

"R. I. P."

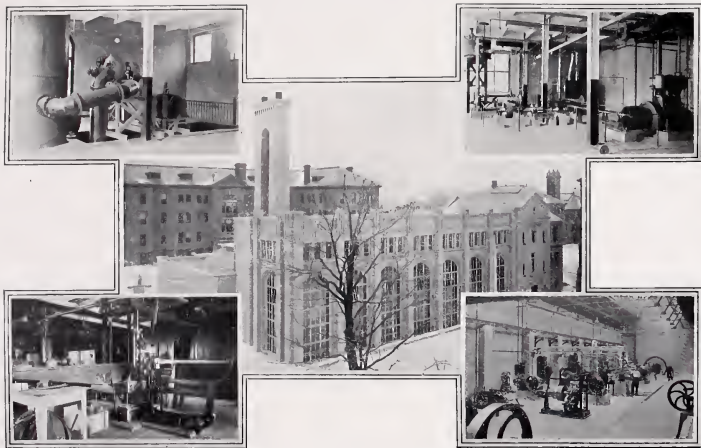

W. J. E., otherwise known as Adonis, saw his first comfort at Hyde Park, London, Ontario, but migrated to Kamloops, B.C. for development of Willie's wild and woolly ways. Missed no dances or games providing his friends had money. Became famous as a blow-piper and geological surveyor around the chemical labs. "Fax volucrum."

J. F. YOUNG.

"I, good gambler, but seldom wins."

Wandered down to "school" with the gang of '16. "Youngie" enjoyed life in his second year and dropped to '17. Was overseas with C.F.A. and R.C.A. Hopes to fool 'em for '21. His ambition is to find a mine in London.

The Engineering Society

The Engineering Society of the University of Toronto, the official student organization of the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering, is the oldest engineering society in Canada. The School of Practical Science was founded in 1877 and it began operation under an agreement with University College. As the "school" prospered and the student registration increased, the need of an official student organization became manifest and the result was the founding of the Engineering Society in 1885 through the efforts of T. Kennard Thompson and Herbert Bowman; Dean Galbraith was the first president. By 1886 the membership of the Society had reached 104 with 4 honorary members.

The original Society was designed to meet the needs of the students of the "School" both individually and collectively, the membership being open to all at a nominal fee, but students were not compelled to join until 1893 when a compulsory fee was instituted. The Engineering Society as it exists at present is a student organization composed of students and administered by an executive of students elected annually by the members of the Society. The executive, of which the President is the chairman, consists of 15 members and contains representatives from each of the four years and the five engineering clubs.

The Society operates a Student Supply Department through which all materials and supplies used by the students are available at a low cost. The Engineering Society is composed of five engineering clubs representing the eight departments in Applied Science. General meetings of the Society are held alternate weeks, in the interests of Engineering in general, the best Engineers and public men of the day being procured as the speakers. Each of the five clubs hold meetings monthly at which matters of local importance too technical and detailed for general consideration, are discussed. The clubs also assist socially in enabling the members of each department to become better acquainted. The Society through its executive promotes all the social functions of the faculty which consist of the Annual Dinner, Dance and the newly created "Stunt Night." Each of these functions in accordance with the policy of the present executive is carried out by a committee, the chairman being chosen from the executive and the personnel chosen by the chairman from the members of the Society. The publication known as "Transactions" issued by the Society from 1886 until 1907, was replaced in that year by a monthly magazine "Applied Science" which was continued till 1915. This year "Transactions" will be published in one volume with the "Year Book." The Society co-operates with the "Varsity" by appointing a chairman of the Press Committee, which committee is responsible for the reporting of the faculty news. A small publication, "Toke Oike," is issued every "now and then" by the executive.

The President of the Society and the presidents of each of the four years compose the Students' Administrative Council of the Faculty of Applied Science, which council forms an integral part of the Students' Administration Council of the University, and which is entrusted by the Senate with the governing and disciplining of the student body.

The Society co-operates with the Athletic Directorate of the University in the carrying on of sport within the faculty. It also co-operates with the Debating Club and the Students' Christian Association, both of which are local units of the University organizations of the same names. The Engineering Society is interested in and influences every phase of the student life.

The Toike Oikestra

"See to the desk Apollo's sons repair:—
Swift rides the resin o'er the horse's hair;
In unison their various tones to tune,
Murmurs the hautboy, growls the hoarse bassoon;
In soft vibrations sighs the whispering lute;
Twang goes the harpischord, too-too the flute;
Brays the loud trumpet; squeaks the fiddle sharp;
Winds the French-horn; and twangs the tingling harp."

One would never on first thoughts look to the School of Engineering as the home of a great University orchestra. But on second and wiser thoughts why not? Were not the walls of great Troy raised by music?

Some ten years ago a few brilliant minds among the School men decided that the reason modern building falls far short of ancient was the lack of harmonious sound. They started out under the classical title of Toike Oikestra and chose for their first leader Mr. Jack Temple '11. Mr. F. Johnstone '15 was librarian and Mr. G. Dean Maxwell Secretary-Treasurer.

Until the outbreak of the great war the orchestra was exceedingly popular and added zest and enjoyment to year and club functions, and even assisted at Alumni meetings.

The entry of School men into the war, forced the disbanding of the Toike Oikestra, along with other School organizations. It is to the everlasting honour of the School orchestra that its leader during the year 1912, Mr. H. O. Leach, gave up his life in France.

No attempt was made during the years of the war to re-man an orchestra and the memory of the Toike Oikestra was apparently fading. By the end of the war even the greenest freshman, who in his first year had dined and danced and smoked under the enlivening strains of the Toike Oikestra, had departed from the red school house. It seemed that the Toike Oikestra was to become ancient history.

However, it was not to be, for in 1919 Mr. G. Dean Maxwell, who had been active in the formation of the original orchestra in 1911, returned, after an absence of six years to complete his course. History repeated herself and the Toike Oikestra once more mingled with the whirr of engine wheels in the School life.

Mr. Maxwell led the band for nearly the whole of the year and assisting him were Mr. Huggill '20 as secretary-treasurer and Mr. T. M. West as librarian. Towards the end of the year Mr. C. Hamilton '22 became conductor. Under his able direction the Toike Oikestra performed to the satisfaction of even the critics at the Engineering Society dinner and the Engineering Alumni reception and dinner.

On the re-opening of Varsity for the session 1920-21, Mr. C. Hamilton assumed the responsibility of organizing the orchestra. His reputation as a choir-master and the results he achieved with the orchestra the previous year gave all the greatest confidence of success for the coming season.

At the first meeting the following executive were elected:—
President and Conductor—Mr. C. Hamilton, '22.
Secretary—Mr. T. M. West, '21.
Treasurer—Mr. W. L. Rundle, '23.
Librarian—Mr. G. H. Voaden, '24.

The orchestra got off to a good start and have now a well balanced organization of about 20 players. So far its activities have been confined to playing at the Engineering Alumni reception and dinner and the Engineering Society dinner.

Had it not been for the generous support of the Engineering Society it is safe to say that the orchestra could not have been the success it has. Their help has enabled the organization to improve materially its equipment and repertoire and it is hoped that the orchestra will not fall short of their expectations.

To the Graduating Class in Dentistry

by

DEAN WEBSTER

DEAN WEBSTER

Opportunity is the only thing a young person needs. Having this priceless commodity, every desirable thing in life should be attainable. Opportunity often stares young people in the face, and yet it is not seen. Some see it but faintly, and lack courage or mental vigor to grasp it.

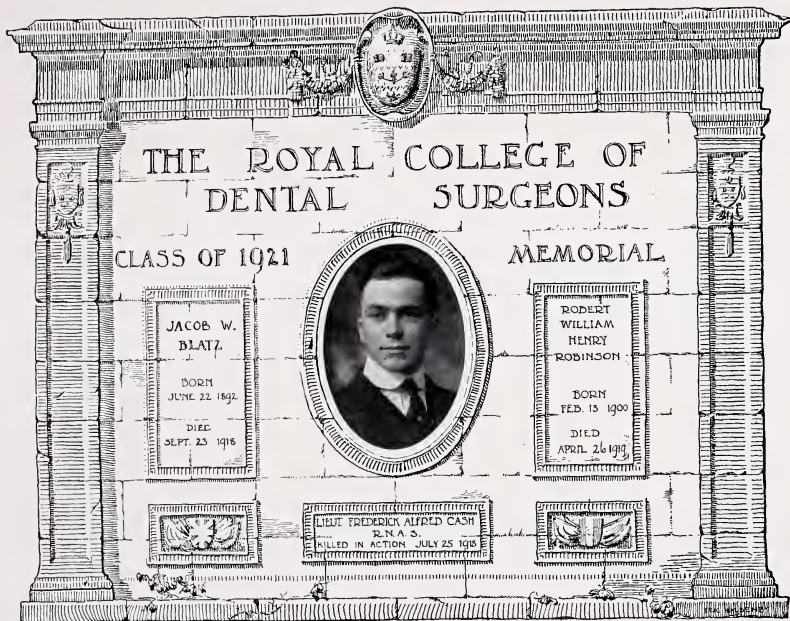

Dentistry is the calling of opportunity to-day. The young man who graduates in dentistry during these next few years is indeed fortunate. By a combination of circumstances it has gained the attention of the great mass of the people. Its scientific foundation engages the attention of the best minds, while its benefits are easily recognized by all.

While dentistry is a problem of medicine, mechanics, engineering and art, it is also one of comfort, happiness and longevity. With the past decade oral conditions have been recognized as a problem of public health as well. Kings, princes and paupers know its value. Governments, Legislatures, Councils, Universities, Colleges, Schools, Professors, Teachers and Armies have given it a place among the beneficent things of life. A demand has been created, not by over zeal on the part of a few, but by the steady-going every-day members of the profession who have applied themselves diligently in painstaking effort to relieve suffering and prevent discomfort and disease.

It was lives of service to mankind that accumulated a heritage for the young dentists of to-day. With a heritage of opportunity, the first duty is to be grateful to those who left it and avow that through diligence, honesty and perseverance the torch will be kept aflame for those who follow.

The Dean and the faculty have had four years of exceedingly pleasant relations with what may rightly be called "the ambitious and progressive class of 1921." They desire these relations to be extended and ripened in the years to come, and wish to express the belief that this class as individuals will gain the same place in the affairs of Canada that they have during their college career.

DENTISTRY

HARRY SMITH ABAR

*"Begins the day with a yawn,
And ends it with a smile."*

Birthplace unknown. First discovered at Campbellford, where he attended Public and High School. Matric. 1911. Entered pharmacy graduating 1916. Member of R.C.D.S. Oriental Club. Dental.

HAROLD ADAMS

*"This life is full of jess, too copious to last
And yet more exquisite when past."*

June 20, 1896. Harold was born in Peterboro, Ontario. Attended school there. Matriculating 1913. Entered Dentistry, 1917. Member Psi Omega Fraternity. Baseball his outdoor sport, politics his indoor one. Filled with a vision of the "West" he purposes practising there.

RUSSEL BERTRAM ADAMS

"He lives long that lives well."—Fuller.

Police records state that Russel originated in Toronto in 1899. After exhausting the educational possibilities of Humber College Collegiate, he chose dental surgery as his profession and entered the class of '21. His ability to play soccer fitted him for the position of representative in that sport in 1911 and 1912. However, his ability is not confined to soccer and we prophesy a brilliant career.

ROBERT GORDON AGNEW, B.A.

"There's all of honesty, manhood and goodly fellowship in thee."

Gordon was born in Toronto 1878. Senior Matric. from Humber College Collegiate fitted him for the active part which he has played in college halls. Fulfilled C.F.A. Graduate Victoria College '20. Assoc. editor of Varsity and Ilya Yaka; active on Toronto-nensis Board, class and Y.M.C.A. Executives and Choral Club; Chairman "Dentistics Night"; Des Moines representative. Hobby—Lecturing. Future undoubted.

SAMUEL CLEMENTS AKINS

*"Always cheery, always bright,
Never weary, never tight."*

Clements was introduced to this old world at Kinburn, and received his public school education there. Obtained matriculation at Amnrior. The call of the Great West summoned him to the Peace River District where he was engaged in surveying. A true survey of Canada's opportunities, however, brought him to the R.C.D.S. and his many friends unite in wishing him success.

H. ROSS ANDERSON

*"A merry heart goes all the day,
Your sad tires in a mile-a."*

"Andy" first smiled on Feb. 2nd, 1898, in the city of our Alma Mater, where he received his education. Entered R.C.D.S. in '15. "Andy" after wrestling 18-pounders for two years returned in '18 to graduate in 2T1. His success is assured and the best wishes of all are with him.

WILLIAM JOSEPH ARMSTRONG

"A youth, light hearted and contented."

The train stopped at Ottawa in 1897 and "Bill" began to worry the world. Matric at Ottawa College 1915. A year at Arts in St. Francis Xavier's, Antigonish, N.S., and another at U.C., Toronto, were preliminaries. He finally unearthed his talent by joining Dents 2T1. Popular with the boys as well as the girls. Served in R.A.F. Representative of At-Home Committee in Junior year. President. Newman Dental Society in Senior year. Success.

CURTISS WILLIE ASSELSTINE

"Labor omnia vincit."

Born April 26, 1878, at Odessa, Ont. His early education was received in Public and Continuation Schools of same town. Came to Toronto in '17 and matriculated from Jarvis Street Collegiate. Entered Dental College with the class 2T1. A lover of music, played in C.O.T.C. band and College Orchestra in Freshman year. Ambition assures Curtiss success in his chosen profession.

DENTISTRY

IDA MIRIAM BARBER

"There is none like her—None."

From Ottawa to class 21 fully equipped for the wars. Motto: "Great ability is knowing how to conceal one's ability." Aversions: 8.20 lectures, calories. Accomplishments: Evening gowns; puns for demonstrators. Favourite Author—Dewey. Stamping ground: Senior lab. Hobby: Riding. Future: The first sign of love is the last of wisdom.

ADOLPHUS FREDERICK BARNES

"A Friend to Mirth, and a Foe to Care."

"A Boy," the doctor said some twenty-three years ago last August, near Petrolia, Ont. Having matriculated from London C.I. Fred entered R.C.D.S. with class '21. With (Curly's) conscientious efforts and genial disposition, we do not hesitate to predict a very bright future.

LESLIE VERNON BARNES

"Few things are impossible to diligence and skill."

Leslie hails from Newdale, Man., where he was born in 1895. After spending his early years on the farm, he matriculated from Yorkton Collegiate, trained at Normal School and taught for one year. However he preferred Dentistry so entered the R.C.D.S. in '17. Leslie has caught the vision of a life of service, and his many friends predict a career of great success.

AUBREY J. T. BARTON

*"His hair was fair and very fair
His beauty made me glad."*

Barton from Beeton joined the ranks of humanity on Jan. 6, 1899. Foundation of education gained in home town. Senior representative on At-Home Committee. Overseas Service. Member of Psi Omega Fraternity. Man of many friends.

HARRY ROBINSON BATEMAN

*"And he was ever there,
With ready wit and rare."*

First opened his eyes in Mt. Forest, Ont., May 3rd, 1899. Trained in this condition and location until the year '17 when armed with a Mt. Forest High School Matriculation and certain dental inclinations, he took the R.C.D.S. by storm. Eerstwhile soldier, and popular at school. At-Home Committee, '17, '18, Vice-Pres. "Boeing, Fencing, Wrestling" '20.

HUGH CAMERON BAYNE

"Mark well this youth, we shall hear of him again."

Saw his first sunrise in Newbury, Ont., in 1898. Matriculated at Glencoe High School in 1916. Attended London Normal the following year. He then joined the C.A.D.C. in which he remained two and one half years. Member of Psi Omega Frat.

NEWELL BEATTIE

Arnprior, Ont., enriched the world with the sunshine of his smile January 1, 1900. Matric. at Arnprior n'everything. One of the youngest members of his class, being younger than the average freshman, "Ike" is the world's champion rugby and hockey fan.

RUSSELL JAMES BECKETT

"Of divers plans and lofty aspirations."

Beck first beamed upon this universe 1897. Matriculated B.C.I. 1915. Entered Dentistry 1916. Saw overseas service. An ardent supporter of college functions. Heralded by all as a good scout. He possesses a keen insight into the mysteries of his profession. His success is assured.

DENTISTRY

JOHN WYCLIFFE BELL

"His years but young; his experience, old."
Hamilton was placed on the map July 8, 1900 by the advent of "Slim." Educated at Highfield School, Hamilton, and Harvey Grammar School, Folkestone, Eng. Matriculated 1916. Enlisted and entered Dental College, Feb. 5, 1917. Served two years in C.A.D.C. Plays ukulele and Victrola equally well, while those black eyes play havoc with the nurses. Luck to you!

OZRO HERMAN BERTRAND

"On their own merits modest men are dumb."
"Bertie" smiled for the first time at Methven, Manitoba, in 1905. After matriculating at Brandon College, entered R.C.D.S. with the class of '19. One and a half years army life intervened and he now belongs to '21. Entered the state of matrimonial rapture in '18. Bertie has a disposition and a personality which promise a truly worth while career.

JAMES HAROLD BEST

"By nature, honest; by experience, wise; Healthy by temperance, and by exercise."
Harold entered the arena of life at Madoc, Ont., and later moved west, matriculating at Wesley College, Winnipeg. He registered at the R.C.D.S. in '17, and has shown a high standard of excellence in all his work, which augurs well for his future. Member of Psi Omega Fraternity.

ALVA OGLE BRADLEY

"Veni, Vidi, Vici, I came, I saw, I beat it."
First saw teeth in Gananoque, Ont., July 6th, 1900. Matriculated at G.I.S. where he cut a wide 'Dent' in athletics as well as scholastic attainments. Chose Dentistry as a profession and friends feel assured that he will make a success of his life work.

ROBERT THOMPSON BROADWORTH

"There are strange things done 'Neath the midnight sun."
Born at Tweed, Ont., on "Sept. Morn" 1896. Matriculated at Madoc High School 1915. Entered Dentistry with class 1T9. Enlisted in 67th Varsity Battery. Served in 15th Battery, France. Returning, joined class 2T1. Member of Xi Psi Phi fraternity.

HARRY SAMUEL BRYANS

"Much work is a weariness of the flesh."
Caromed into the sunlight at Toronto in the year 1899. Passed through Parkdale Collegiate Institute, Toronto. Matriculated '17. Entered R.C.D.S. with class '21. "Si" depends largely on luck and it seldom fails him.

JOHN ARTHUR BUTLER

"With loads of learned lumber in his head."
Our hero first opened his eyes in Ottawa in 1897, when a holiday was immediately declared. Matriculated from Pembroke High School, after winning the Junior championship in athletics, 1915. A very unassuming fellow, but not without congeniality. Of his skill and ability we will hear in the future.

ARNIM GEORGE CALBECK

"I only hope that fortune send A little more than I can spend."
Born at Brantford, Ont., October, 1897. Matriculated at Woodstock College and entered Dentistry 1915. Enlisted in Varsity Battery 1916. Returning, joined class 2T1. Yearly member of Jennings' Cup Team. "He's a masterhand with hook and line."

DENTISTRY

ELLSWORTH TEASDALE CAMPBELL

*"Here's to smoke and never the Blues,
A pretty girl and lots of Snooze."*

"Cam" was born in Rockland, April 28, 1898, and came in spite of himself. Matriculated from the R.H.S. A second Vernon Castle, he danced his way through Dental College. Due to the efforts of Dr. Joe Graham after years of study he is now an authority on Histology. "An alarm clock is his curse and a pillow his paradise." A member of the R.C.D.S. Oriental Club.

HILLIARD McCAULEY CODE

"A man who is the theme of Honour's tongue."

Hilliard was born in Havlock in 1897.
Coming to Toronto at an early age he continued his education at Humberade Collegiate and prepared himself for the teaching profession. Dental Surgery however, offered greater attractions so he joined the class of '33. Serious illness compelled him to resume his studies with '21. A favorite with students and nurses.

EDMOND GASTON CHARAVAL

"But what more can be said than that he is a gentleman of France."

Born Dec. 3, 1892. Education at St. Stanisla's College, Paris. Graduated as a Dental Surgeon in 1913, from Ecole de Chirurgie Dentaire de Paris. Enlisted Sept. 20, 1914, in the 4th Colonial and remained with them until the end of the war. Wounded seven times and received the Croix de Guerre.

"Life is a joke. All the world thinks it, Once I thought so, now I know it."

Born on a farm near Peterboro in 1893. Attended Peterboro Collegiate Institute. Later entered service of Bank, but wishing to study Dentistry, Matriculated at Port Elgin in 1914, aspiring to graduate in 1921. Dental.

GLENN E. TEAL

"Can any good thing come out of Ridgeway?"

Born July 13, 1897. Matriculated Ridgeway High School. Noted for late hours and early rising, wisdom and dry wit. Overseas. Esteemed member of Psi Omega Fraternity. May success follow him is the good wish of his many true friends.

DENTISTRY

FRED L. THOMPSON

"Bazy at anything."

Fred was first weighed in Perth 1891. Was educated at Perth Collegiate and decided to top it off by joining class '18. After three and a half years service overseas, joined class '21 where he is learning how to relieve and cause pain. Was Vice-Pres. of his 2nd and 4th year. Member of Psi Omega Frat. and Oriental Club.

GLEN A. THORNLEY

The most utterly lost of all days, is that in which you have not once laughed.

The best example of the proverbial minister's son. He turned up in the Manse at Iowa U.S., March 6, 1898. Since then he has followed his father hither and thither on his pastoral duties until he left the paternal roof in Collingwood, Ont., to pursue the knowledge of dentistry. Glen has served in the Siberian Expeditionary Force.

EBER R. UPTON

"A man's reach should exceed his grasp, else what's a heaven for?"
—Browning.

Eber was ushered in at the Capital City, January 27th, 1897. He received part of his education at Ottawa, but migrated West and matriculated from Calgary C.I. Took Normal training at Calgary and taught his mother tongue to the foreigners for a time. Left teaching to join the Army. Member of R.C.D.S. Oriental Club and also Western Club.

GEORGE WILLIAM WAGNER

"Why should a man whose heart is warm within, sit like his grandaunt out in shlooster."

December 25, 1898, clear, cold and frosty. "Wag" Rodney cradled his youth, but Kenfrew presented his education, public school and collegiate. His early aspirations were uncertain, but the attractive sphere of dentistry proved the greater force. "Wag's" chief characteristics are unbounded optimism and an ardent love for Terpsychore. May his dental efforts vary directly!

JOHN FREDERICK WARNICA

"A man he was to all the country dear."

Born at "Dulce Domum," Barrie, on June 4th, 1897. John attended Barrie Collegiate Institute and was known as the boy with the smile. He entered the ZT class of R.C.D.S. in 1917. John was always a noted dance enthusiast.

WYMAN E. WESSELS, B.A.

*"I have not known when his affections swayed
More than his reason."*

Born in Boteman, Montana. Educated in Winnipeg, receiving his B.A. degree from the University of Manitoba. Eminently successful in his scholastic career, he has also starred in many lines of athletics. With his all round natural ability, outstanding personality, and sociable disposition, "Wy" is bound to succeed in any sphere of useful endeavor.

ROBERT RONALD WHITAKER

"Oh where is my wondering boy to-night!"

Portage La Prairie is honoured in her son—witness Premier Meighen and "Whit"—the one came east, the other went west, neither returned. Robert has sampled five universities and two professions. Three years Engineering at McGill, U.B.C., and Iowa, served as a preparatory course for the subsequent siege of the Dental citadel at California and Toronto. Member Psi Omega Fraternity.

JAMES PATTERSON WHYTE

"Smile a while. It kills trouble and makes friends."

Born Pembroke 1898. Learned how to read and write and spin yarns at Eganville and Kenfrew. Entered the hunk, but in 1917 he drew a long breath and plunged into dentistry with class '21. Sec. Treas. of class in Sophomore year. Our most worthy and efficient President of this our final year. Y.M.C.A. executive two years. Member Psi Omega Frat. and Oriental Club.

WILBERT JOHN WILKEY

"Happy though married."

Became a resident of London, Ont., Nov. 24th, '95. Attended Public School and London Collegiate. Enlisted April '16. Served on Trans-Atlantic Transports till 1919. Manager and member of Championship Baseball team of London Camp, 1916. A friend of all the boys and a conscientious and skillful operator.

CHARLES BERESFORD WILSON

There are two days about which he never worries, and these are yesterday and tomorrow.

Charles was born at Wardsville, Ont. Educated Wardsville Public and High Schools. Wilson is very fond of music; former member of K.C.D.S. orchestra. Connected with Hya Yaka throughout College career. Member Torontontensis Board in his fourth year. Wilson will have many friends wherever he goes.

PERCY R. WILSON

Born in North Bay on July the 17th, 1893. Educated at North Bay Collegiate Institute and Woodstock College. Began professional career as druggist and later changed to Dentistry entering class '21. Was elected president of Freshman year, Junior Representative of students council and member of At Home Committee in Sophomore year and first Vice-President of At Home Committee in the junior year. Married during the junior year and graduated nevertheless.

HAROLD L. WINDRIM

"Now how can I work when there's no work to do."

Known as "Hall" in the fair forest city of London, Ont., since August 17, 1900. Took his preparatory training at London Collegiate, a Basketball representative of '21 and member of Dental teams '18, '19 and '20. President of Basketball and Captain of Senior Team '21. A Real Dent.

RUSSELL GILBERT WOODS

*And still the wonder grew,
That one small head could carry all he knew.*

Watford, Ont., can congratulate itself as having been the birth place of Woods. Education, Watford High School, London Normal, one year University of Michigan. Organizer of Psi Omega Fraternity at R.C.D.S. Senior Representative R.D.S. His chosen field is one in which we are sure he will make a success.

JAMES ZIMMERMAN

"Deeds, not words."

Born in Russia in 1894. Discovered the St. Lawrence in 1913. On graduation from Winnipeg Normal spread knowledge and wisdom in the woolly west for two years. Victim of Hymen while Soph, but nevertheless still retains his youthful pep. Fine sport and popular among his classmates. Dental Menorah Representative. Member of Board of Torontontensis. A bright future awaits "Red."

History of Class 2T1

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-one!" For four years we have been looking ahead to this time; we have called ourselves the class of '21, and we have eagerly awaited the time when our period of more or less intensive training would give place to the active practices of the profession of which we are justifiably proud. Now that time has arrived, and we find that it is with mingled feelings of anticipation and genuine regret that we contemplate leaving our college halls. Our course at 'Varsity has had a profound influence upon our lives; it has greatly enlarged our circles of friendships; it has immeasurably widened our sympathies; it has quickened and stimulated our interest in scientific development, and above all, it has helped us to look upon life and its opportunities from a larger, more rational and more altruistic viewpoint.

We were a large and frolicsome crowd when we assembled in the fall of 1917, some 130 in number, including three fair freshmen. Soon our presence was forcibly felt around the R.C.D.S. The privilege of subduing the sophomores in the traditional initiation was denied us, so we gave vent to our enthusiasms in many other ways. Soon after our arrival our dignity was greatly outraged when we were refused permission to join corporately in a downtown Santa Claus parade. With heartfelt indignation we protested in no uncertain fashion, and consequently we were all expelled for three days. However, with true stoic spirit we endured the estrangement and returned to our studies refreshed and invigorated. Under our first president, Mr. P. R. Wilson, we made our freshman year one well worthy of remembrance.

In our sophomore year we ably maintained the reputation which we had acquired. A deep shadow was cast over the first of the session on account of the sudden death by asphyxiation of one of our comrades, Mr. Blatz, who died just before the term opened. Another of our number, Mr. Cash, who enlisted at the close of his first year, was killed, to the deep regret of everyone. We tendered to the incoming freshmen the last Freshman-Sophomore banquet which has been held, and while it was the last, it certainly was not by any means the least, as all those who were there will remember. We often wonder if there is any significance in the fact that there has been no such banquet since, but we presume that it was feared that such magnificence as was displayed could not be equalled. Under our president, Mr. W. B. Black, we were instrumental in the inauguration of a fund for dental research, a project which is producing considerable and far-reaching results.

Just as the academic year was closing the sad death of Mr. W. H. Robinson occurred. "Robby" was a general favorite among the class, and his sudden death was keenly felt.

In our junior year, with Larry Martin at the helm, we continued progressing. With a view to developing oratorical eloquence a system of class debates and speeches was inaugurated. This venture was a decided success. By this time our numbers had increased considerably, due to a large number of returned men originally of other years, whom we cordially welcomed into our ranks, and who have indeed proven a valuable addition to our class.

And now our last year, under the presidency of Mr. T. P. Whyte, has drawn to a close. Soon we shall be scattered to all corners of the world, from the east to the west, and from the north to the south. And yet it matters not if even continents should separate us—there is a wonderful, potent, intangible something which binds us all together with invisible yet mighty cords. And it is the spirit of old 'Varsity, that true fraternity of spirit which has united us there and will continue to unite us as long as we stay above Mother Earth.

So as we go forth from our college halls we do so imbued with a firm determination to make our lives count for the greatest possible service, and to uphold at all times the finest traditions of our Alma Mater.

Hya Yaka

Tradition and usage seem to give to certain terms a significance that is only appreciable to those who are personally acquainted with them, and which seems to give to the terms an animation which is the embodiment of many diverse ideas and principles. Thus it happens that "Hya Yaka," a term whose significance we cannot definitely explain, bears the same relation to the life of the dental student as do the terms "Toiko Oik" and "Epistaxis" to the science and medical man, respectively.

It happened back in the nineties when the Royal College of Dental Surgeons became a department of the University of Toronto, and when the various Faculties of the University were beginning to establish traditions and each to cultivate a faculty spirit, that the students of the R.C.D.S. held a competition to secure a yell for the dental students. From a number the present one was chosen. Later, it was decided to organize a faculty magazine, and the first two words of the College yell were chosen as a fitting name for this, the undergraduate paper.

Hya Yaka is one of the oldest of dental magazines and the work that it has carried on has been of value, not only from the standpoint of the interesting and educative dental and literary articles which have appeared in it, but because of the fact that it has given the student organization something besides pure dentistry, of which to think. In acquiring a professional education which embodies much development of technique, the student is apt to neglect those other features of education which he can only acquire outside of his class room, and which are so essential to the man who hopes to take his place in the community, not as a dentist to the community, but as a member of the community, and one who bears his share of its responsibilities. It is a privilege for the undergraduate to assist in all undergraduate organizations, and no matter how much of his time is spent in this way, his will be the greatest benefit.

During the session 1920-21, the staff of "Hya Yaka" have labored hard to make this year's edition a real success, and to omit nothing that would tend to make it a dental students' magazine, fulfilling its functions as such.

The term "Hya Yaka" will always be present in dental history as it pertains to the Royal College of Dental Surgeons. It is the expression of the spirit of dental students in all branches of their student activities, for while we hear it echoing on the athletic fields, hurling challenges to opponents and stimulating our players with renewed vigour at the proper time, it expresses the feeling of good social fellowship at our social functions and is finally, through the undergraduate magazine, the expression and record of all student organization and thought.

Athletics (Dentistry)

From the time that the Royal College of Dental Surgeons was affiliated with the University of Toronto the Dental athletes have more than held their own in competition with the undergraduate members of other faculties. During the past year, 1920-21, our boys have certainly lived up to the high standard in athletics set by their predecessors. Not only in the interfaculty contests have they been well represented, but also in the personnel of the various intercollegiate teams. The admission of the Dental Students to Hart House and the granting to them of the same privileges and rights as students in other faculties, has strengthened an already strong athletic spirit among our men. The gymnasium classes have been well attended, and the interest taken in the various activities was very gratifying to those in charge of Dental athletics. They have taken part and distinguished themselves in every branch of sport, not only by playing themselves, but also by the loyal support and earnest co-operation shown to all the Dental teams.

The opening of the school year in September brought about a great activity among our track men. This sport has been dormant for a number of years, but interest was revived and enthusiasm shown by the Dental track meet. This was held in the early part of October at the Stadium, and the entry list, which numbered over sixty, speaks for itself. The meet was a success, and the Dental team took third place in the interfaculty meet one week later. On October 29th the Intercollegiate meet was held in Toronto, and Stevenson and Carson, of Dents, were both point winners for Varsity. The Harriers were also well represented, and on the winning Varsity team were two Dentals.

Soccer and Rugby started soon after this, and Varsity's senior team won both intercollegiate titles, the Rugby team playing off for, and winning the Dominion finals. On this team Hobbs, Westman, Ferguson, Phillips and Reilly were from the R.C.D.S. On the senior Soccer team Underhill, LeRoyd and Edwards represented the Dentals. Our interfaculty team was defeated by Knox College after a very close struggle. In the Mulock Cup series our Junior Rugby team won their group, but were eliminated in the semi-finals by Victoria. Langtry, Miller, Newlove, Coons and Sidenburg were among our best men, and all the boys tried their hardest to land the trophy, but it was not to be.

The swimming and water polo teams then came into prominence. The water polo team captured the Eckart Cup from S.P.S. The final game was a grand thriller and the Dents finally won out through the wonderful shooting of Woods and Reilly and the strong defence game played by Bennett. The swimmers were not so fortunate, losing out in the tournament a week or so later to S.P.S.

Boxing, wrestling and fencing, hockey and basketball were the attractions during the winter months. Lee Dodds, middle and welterweight champion of the University was a member of the graduating class but found time to manage and coach the Dental enthusiasts of the ring. Moyer carried the University colors into the ring in the City Amateur Boxing Championships and was only defeated by a small margin. He was a strong asset to the Dental team and no small factor in the good showing made by the Dentals in the Senior Assault-at-arms. Early in December the Junior Assault-at-arms was held and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the championship and one junior boxing and three junior wrestling titles were in possession of the Dentals—Much credit is due to the men for their interest and the large entry list certainly made possession of the eup certain.

Among the hockey men we had many stars. Langtry, Olson and Carson of last year's Varsity team, runners up for the Allan Cup, are Dentals. Westman, Ferguson and Brown are among our students and need no introduction as their names are bywords in the mouths of every hockey fan. The R.C.D.S. entered both Senior and Junior team in the Interfaculty series and showed up very well.

Practically all of last year's basketball men were back at college which gave our junior and senior teams a decided advantage in having played together for two seasons. "Stew" Holmes, crack forward of Varsity's senior team, is a Dental and coached our teams.

Three of the R.C.D.S. students made the University of Toronto's lacrosse team last summer and "Tibby" McClure was elected captain of the team. Phillips of the Sophomore year, won out in the interfaculty tennis tournament and represented Toronto in the inter-collegiate.

The graduating class have among their members men who were awarded their first "T"—Olson, Dodds, McClure, McLean. These men and others have ever been prominent in Dental and Varsity athletics and have not only nobly sustained the worthy precedent created by the men of former years but have themselves set a standard that calls for the best in every undergraduate of the R.C.D.S. should they live up to it.

Another encouraging feature in Athletics during the past year was the interest shown in sport by the various members of the faculty. They attended the games, acted as officials and were by no means unwilling to grant half holidays for championship games when the Dents were playing and when it could be arranged without interfering with the regular college work.

Dental "T" Holders, 1920-1921

LEE R. DODDS.

Born at Cavalier, North Dakota. Weighs 148 lbs. Welterweight and middle-weight wrestling champion at Toronto University 1919-20. Runner up for Canadian championship last year. Half back on Dents inter-faculty champion soccer team 1919-20. Played senior basketball with Dents. Track team 1919. Held pole vaulting championship of Saskatchewan 1916, also of Queen's University. Lightweight wrestling champion at Queen's. An ardent baseball player. Bachelor of Arts from Queen's. Editor-in-chief of Hya Yaka. President of Intercollegiate B. W. & F. Club 1919-20. Assistant manager U. of T. B. W. & F. team 1920-21. President of Western Club R.C.D.S. Won his "D" for soccer and his "T" for wrestling. A member of Psi Omega Fraternity.

W. F. McLEAN

Born at Brampton 1897. Went to Brampton High School and played on their senior and intermediate lacrosse teams, also played high school hockey there. Played on Senior Varsity Lacrosse team 1920 for which he received his "T." The team toured the States and acquitted themselves nobly. Member of Oriental Club and an all round athlete.

F. D. McCLURE

Born at Brampton, 1896, attended Brampton High School. Played junior hockey 1915 with Brampton, being defeated by Varsity for group honors. Played senior lacrosse with the Brampton team since 1915, when they won the Senior O.A.L.A. three years in succession. Plays inside home and defense. President of U. of T. lacrosse club 1919-20. Captain of U. of T. lacrosse team 1919-20 when they toured the States winning every game played. Played hockey with the Dental O.H.A. team 1919-20 as substitute goaler. The Western Club

One of the liveliest, most energetic associations at the R.C.D.S. is the newly organized Western Club. Though only a few months old it has already put several new ideas over and shows wonderful promise for the future.

The purpose of banding the students from the four western provinces together is two-fold. First to keep alive and foster the true Western spirit and secondly to further the interests and wellbeing of its members along social and fraternal lines. The membership roll now stands at nearly 100 and is growing larger day by day.

History of Class 2T1

"They talk of some strict testing of us—Pish!
They are all good fellows and 'twill all be well."

The class of 2T1 Forestry represents the remnants of many years of the good old days. The lure of the wilds was still strong and they answered the call, joining the class of "old contemptibles."

"Ab." Bentley and "Hughie," two of the landmarks, joined the bushmen in 1912. "Tom" Clarke blew in for registration in 1913. "Roaring" Ralph and "Wee" Alex. are survivors of those who hit the trail for a B.Sc.F. in 1914. "Harry" came along in 1917.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," and also, since the gang have slept together, eaten together and drank together, there is a spirit prevalent of good fellowship which binds them closer and closer, a broad understanding which will go a long way towards success on the borders of civilization.

Some of the class have seen half the staff come and go. Prof. Ross has left us. Good luck to him! Prof. Millar came, and all power to his teachings. The venerable and highly esteemed Dr. Fernow, Mrs. Fernow and "Rastus" have ceased to be with us in person, but not in spirit. Dr. White, our guide, philosopher and friend, represents the first of the graduates.

Our new Dean, Dr. Howe, will have his first graduating class in 2T1. May they ever live up to the high standard of his teaching.

FORESTRY

JAMES LINDSAY ALEXANDER

"It's the great, big, broad land, 'way up yonder."

We think of "Alex" of course as doing all the normal things at college, but we remember particularly his ability to infect us with his laughter and to assure us of the livableness of life. We secretly feel that Isaac Walton is his hero.

ALBERT WILLIAM BENTLEY

"Ye lofty pines, ye venerable oaks, Delicous is your shelter."

First disturbed the neighbors at Ailsa Craig, Matriculated Sarnia Collegiate and entered Arts and Forestry, 1912. After touring Europe he answered the call of the tall and lofty timbers and now finds himself among the remnants of the good old days.

RALPH SYLVESTER CARMAN

"There at the foot of yonder nodding beech, his listless length at noontide would he stretch."

"Roaring" Ralph was born in Iroquois, Ont., 1892. The desire for bush life seized him in 1914, and the army did the same the following year. But he came back smiling and may he ever have just cause for doing so.

TREVOR ATWELL CLARKE

"The wanderlust has lured him from the morris chols of ease."

Born in Toronto, Feb. 14th, 1894, attended Riverdale Collegiate and entered Forestry, 1913. Still going strong, "Tom," one of the landmarks, "on returning," still felt the lure of the wild so joined the class of old contemplables.

HARRY P. EISLER

"The moving finger writes and having writ, moves on."

Bugles sounding, early in the morning heralded the relief of Ludysmith and the arrival of Harry. He later found his way to Toronto in 1917, and has gained renown in the school as a student, in the field as a strong man.

HUGH McBEAN HUGHSON

"I found him under a tree like a dropped acorn."

He entered the world with decorum and has never allowed circumstances to upset his perfect poise. It is alleged that he had some mysterious connection with the foundation of Pinkerton's Agency and the introduction of Rubber Heels. He loves the ways of City-Folk and has a taste for most good things, but why he chose the Woodman's axe no one knows.

PRINCIPAL O'MEARA

PRINCIPAL O'MEARA

The graduate in theology is sure to be in keen and entire sympathy with the watchword of Torontonensis 1921—Progress! The man who answers the Church's call for leadership to-day inevitably feels himself caught in the full current of an unprecedented Forward Movement. You men, whose training for this responsibility of leadership has been carried on in and under the shadow of the wider life of the University, must be of all men most at home in such a movement. Both your College and the University have helped to make you so. In your studies the most obvious feature has of necessity been the technical instruction associated with your professional preparation. But this has gone on from day to day under the spell of two subtle and yet precious influences of which you may be more conscious in years to come than at this moment of graduation; these are realized in your College by the Chapel and what it stands for, and in the University by the touch with the miniature world that is its life. The one has deepened and enriched your spiritual convictions, the other has broadened and balanced your social and intellectual outlook. Lacking these influences, your formal studies might have become merely technical and utilitarian. Experiencing these inspirations, however, through your residence life on the one hand and your participation in the university on the other, you enter upon your life work keenly eager to find your place in the forefront of the forward movements of your time. Like Moses and St. Paul of old, you are called to lead the world into a new freedom of life and thought; like them you have been taught in the things you are expected to know as teachers in your vocation; and, like them also, your tuition has had this double inspiration—a clear and compelling vision of the One Who sends you forth, and a human and intellectual training that will enable you to "be all things to all men" with whom it may be your privilege to live and work. The "progress" that awaits you will present its problems even as all growth brings its growing pains; but both good and ill you will face prepared, expectant and unafraid.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE

WALTER BARLOW

Verbatim et literatim.

Before entering Wycliffe, Mr. Barlow had been Church Camp Missionary along the C.N.R. at the Alberta Coal Mines and the Welland Canal. He continued the latter work while in College. Was Assistant Secretary and Vice-President of the Mission Society, and Manager of the Soccer Team. Ordained 1919. A conscientious worker. For his views on inspiration see quotation.

ROBERT SHIELDS BOYD, B.A.

*"The Innate, the lover, and the poet Are of imagination all compact."
—Midsummer Night's Dream.*

Born in Toronto, 1894, Bob received his alleged education in China, Canada, England and France. While in France, he was associated with Princess Patricia and Emma C. In Canada he has patronized Ridley College, Jarvis Collegiate, University College and Wycliffe—also the Social Service Department. Expects to go to China.

PRINCIPAL GANDIER

PRINCIPAL GANDIER

You enter upon your profession as Minister of Christ's Gospel at a time when that which can be shaken has been shaken and structures on which men have based their hopes lie in ruin about us, when at last the debris begins to be cleared away and we start again at bed rock to build up a new world order. If ever the world needed the leadership of men who have faith and knowledge, ability and courage, it is to-day.

But the hopeful thing about the world to-day is the very general consciousness that we have missed the way, and need anew the guidance of the Holy Spirit of the good God. The assurance of a former generation that scientific knowledge is the one thing necessary to progress has received a disconcerting blow. We have witnessed in recent years the complete collapse of modern civilization as men have sought to build it upon a material basis apart from Jesus Christ. Christendom has seemed to have everything but the one thing needful, and because of that our very progress has been our ruin, and we know it.

With singular unanimity the leading men of our Empire, whether soldiers, sailors, or statesmen, have put themselves on record as hopeless for the future of the world apart from a quickening and renewal of the spiritual forces which operate in the hearts of men. At a meeting held in Britain recently the Navy League made this pronouncement upon the present world situation: "We are forced to the conclusion that the highest idealism of all is the only practical alternative to world suicide."

The highest idealism of all is the idealism of Jesus Christ, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many. If through humility and the disciple's willingness to learn of the Master, you can embody that idealism in your own lives and teach it effectively to others by subtle contact of your spirit with theirs, you are the leaders upon whom the world's progress waits to-day.

KNOX COLLEGE

WILLIAM ROLLINS ALP, B. A.

"Not stepping o'er the bounds of modesty."

"Bill" first appeared in Liverpool, coming to Canada in 1901. North Bay Collegiate prepared him for Queen's of which he is a graduate. During the war he served three years in France, and for the future will continue to serve humanity in his modest and effective way through the Presbyterian Church.

JOSHUA ERNEST ANDERSON

"A kindly heart, a will inflexible."

"Josh" entered this sphere of action on a farm near Forest. Since then Forest High School, Varsity, Western Mission fields, Westminster Hall and Knox have equipped him well for life's most noble calling. His genial nature and ready helpfulness will make lasting friendships.

LESLIE R. BALLANTYNE

"Let's have a drink with kirk, a book concise and a man with pep."

Landed in Atwood, Listowel C.I. and Stratford Normal graduated him a pedagogue. The 43rd Battery made him a soldier. Varsity hasn't made much change. It rests with Knox to try her hand. A man of influence. A friend of many friends.

DAVID ARCHIBALD COWAN, B.A.

"A man of Ideas."

"Archie" first began to make himself heard in the early nineties in Chesley, Bruce Co. He reached Varsity through the evening classes and graduated in 1918. Has held forth as assistant in St. Paul's, College Street, and Bonar. Will be a valuable acquisition to the church after the "Profs." have finished straightening out his theology.

CARMAN E. DYER

"Can nurse a little, play a little and preach a little."

Born in Dufferin County, Aug. 9, 1891. Calling at Orangeville High School and at Guelph Collegiate, he came to Toronto, an advocate of cellulose. Has a wee wife, a wee name, and bairns two. Organizer and leader of Knox College orchestra. A true friend.

JOHN GORDON GAULD, B.A.

"B'elt shant and fight for the Blue and White."

Became active in "yells" at Mimico, Aug. 1893. Mental activity got him safely past Parkdale Coll. (but not Parkdale ladies) and Varsity. Active Service led him from Pte. in P.P.C.I.L. to Capt. in Siberian Force. Wounds—M.C., Green Sub. of P.B.I. Knox could not curb his activity. The Ministry awaits his zeal. Varsity will miss her yell artist!

COLSTON GRAHAM JONES

"Common by name only."

Born Cardiff, Wales, March 15, 1893. When three weeks old persuaded parents to come to Brethour, Ont. Entered Varsity 1913. COTC training and active service in France with 10th Brigade Signals, and saw job completed. Discharged March 1919. Character jovial, witty and sincere. Wanting happiness, took "Edith" for life partner September 1919.

LORNE A. KNOX

*"Thou art an independent mind
With soul resolved and soul resigned."*

Lorne began this life's experience at Alma, March 1896. Since then he has added the required years at "The Little Red School-House," Elora High School, and Varsity—mere "stepping stones to greater things." Knox will guide her Knox over another step and then—a future.

KNOX COLLEGE

HUGH ALEXANDER MACMILLAN

It is e'er a man so humble and yet so worthy."

July 1892, enter "Hughie." Lucknow witnessed his adolescence. Then—Pedagogy—The Army—Varsity. Knox is next to gain. Enthusiastic Pres. of U.C., Y.M.C.A. A humour—his own. A character—sterling. A leader of men.

JOHN WARREN McALPINE

*"Love is a man of warre,
And can shoot from furre."*

Born at Glencoe, Jan. 11th 1894. Came to Varsity in 1914. Cast anchor for life at an unknown date. One of the Chelsea revellers and a man given over to dreams. A good bass voice, sincere sociability and romantic ruminations made him the friend of all.

CHARLES DAVID McLELLAN, B.A.

"Where'er he met a stranger, there he left a friend."

"Charlie" first honored Toronto with his presence, May, 1894. Matriculating from Harbord Collegiate, in 1912, Philosophy claimed him as her own. From her dreamy mazes he was rescued by the call of War. After France with R.G.A., he entered Knox, and now goes forth to serve his fellow-men.

JOHN ALVA McMAHON, B.A.

*"Nor do I beg this slender inch to wide
The time away, or falsely to beguile,
With empty flattery."*

Happened along, Exeter, Ont., Jan. 10th, 1894. Matriculated from Seaford Collegiate, sauntered through four years of Modern History at University College, and from 1915 to 1919 travelled abroad O.H.M.S. May further journeyings bring his friends' delight, and to himself, content.

WILLIAM JEFFREY PRESTON, B.A.

"His smile is sweetened by his gravity."

Tradition says that Jeff was born in Manitoba, though his earliest memories are connected with Stratford. He defended the "Blue and White" in Athletics and the Union Jack in the Great War. As President of the Undergraduates Association in 1921 he showed his ability, which will honour some parish in the West.

JAMES REIDIE

"Scotch, but has never touched it."

"Jim was born in Bonnie Scotland near Kierkealdy. Before coming to Canada in 1907, he selected one of Scotland's best to be his help-mate in a new land, and brought her with him. He is solid in more ways than one and thus is fitted for a great work in the church.

FRANCIS EDWIN RUNNALLS, B.A.

"Deeds are better things than words are."

Frank learned his first lessons in Mt. Brydges, and if we may judge from his attainments, he learned them well. He finished Arts in 1917 and entered Knox with '21. It does not yet appear what he will be, but he claims the world as his parish.

EXECUTIVE 1920-21, KNOX COLLEGE UNDERGRADUATES' ASSOCIATION.

The Ontario Veterinary College

To the Graduating Class of Veterinary College

by

C. D. McGILVRAY

C. D. McGILVRAY

The Class of 1921 should occupy a unique position as marking another advancement in the progress of veterinary science. To you belongs the distinction of being the first to graduate under the new curriculum which extends over a period of four academic years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Veterinary Science (B.V.Sc.). In your future work you should endeavor to reflect the high ideals of your profession in the essentials of citizenship. It has been said that in the transition and readjustment incidental to the present, that the standard of national usefulness might hereafter be measured in terms of service to the community, and towards mankind in general. In the expected revision of national values there is, happily, a bright outlook before you in the profession you have chosen. In this regard it is becoming more generally realized that veterinary science exercises an important function in supporting national progress and prosperity, through assisting successful agricultural development, in conserving the health of farm animals and preventing depletion of the herds and flocks of the nation by diseases which are preventable or communicable to large numbers.

The incidental transition which has taken place in our professional activities and usefulness, may require us to converge still more closely to rural problems and live stock development. The field of veterinary science, in fact, has only just touched the fringe of its possibilities and usefulness to agriculture. Towards this end you may assist materially through the various channels of public service, by preventing animal diseases gaining an entrance into the country from outside its borders, and suppressing those which may already exist. To prevent the entrance of diseased animals from outside sources, quarantine stations are maintained at suitable points, through which imported animals must enter and remain for such periods as may be necessary to determine their freedom from disease. These quarantine stations are in charge of qualified graduates whose duties are to make a careful and thorough inspection of all animals, and to use modern methods of diagnosis to detect specific diseases.

The suppression of diseases which may already exist in the country will be accomplished through the agency of graduates in Government service, as well as those engaged in private practice. Much investigational work will also be required to determine the specific cause and nature of certain diseases and to solve the problems of immunity.

In the general national re-development, veterinary colleges must exercise their best efforts for better education and training of young men, so that they may be able to render the service which the community expects of them.

The profession will continue to afford increasing opportunities for the young man of worthy ambitions. But with the enlargement of opportunity additional responsibilities will follow. May you therefore succeed in overcoming obstacles by renewed application and perseverance.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

W. L. BOLIN

"He who never dares can never win."

First saw the light of day at Hammond, Ill., July 29th, 1892. Educated at Pierson High School and Brown Business College, later becoming a professional horse trainer. Graduated from St. Joseph, 1918, and entered the Veterinary Corps of U.S.A. as 2nd Lieut. Veterinarian, 1919. Postgraduate course, O.V.C., 1920-21.

W. S. CLARKE

"Silence is the fence round wisdom."

Born in Toronto, the genial "Bill" was educated at Millbank Public School and Stratford Collegiate, matriculating from the latter institution. So expert was he in taking the college pulse that he became an associate editor of the "Canadian Veterinary Record," his specialty, being college news. W.M., the Omega Tau Signa, Secretary-treas. Class '21.

WM. CLARKSON

"Labor omnia vincit."

Born in Leeds, England. Pedigree goes back to creation. Was rough-riding during the late war when not hovering over the back of some refractory mule. Fond of animals from childhood and at the present day verified by his partiality for rare steak and major operations. Otherwise a good student and a firm friend.

TRACY J. COULTER

"Anything once."

Woodcock, Pa., had the honor, 1892. Earliest education from nature in the wilds of his native State, with the help of a Remington and the inevitable jug of cider. The passion for dissecting grew through dismembering frogs and woodchucks, has been satisfying it since 1917. A rival of Caruso. Secy-treas. of his first year. President of the Science Association, 1920.

ALBERT D. CONLEY

*"A woman is only a woman,
But a good cigar is a smoke."*

Born in Polk County, Iowa, 1896. Matriculated at Chicago Veterinary College, 1917. Remained there three years. Always makes it a point to come out somewhere near the top in anything he undertakes and the field of Veterinary science will be no exception.

RUSSELL G. COWIE

"I play a little, fuss a little and 'dunce' a little."

Markham first heard of it 1898. Toronto followed suit 1917, and ever since he has been cultivating the society of the fair sex and a superior libal adornment. The inseparable companion of the "Wild-cat" and permanent captain of the hockey team since his advent here. Chairman of Social Committee and Grand Councilman O.T.S.

R. S. FOSTER

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

Was first heard in Bathgate, N.D., April 7, 1895, where he attended Public and High Schools. Registered O.V.C. 1916, and proceeded to annex O.V.C.A.A. individual championship 1916-1920 also individual champion Inter-Faculty and Inter-Collegiate track meet, 1920. Saw service in France with A.E.F., 164 Inf. Member of the Omega Tau Signa.

N. L. GRAY

"I love my wife, but O! Girlst Girls!"

First gazed on the light of day at Gravenhurst in 1886. Remained in the wilds till 1904, when his roving spirit led him to the Prairies. Arrived at the O.V.C. 1917, and has since been striving to become more or less familiar with Anatomy and Materia Medica as related to the Equine and Bovine species.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

L. M. HEATH

"So little done, so much to do."

Believed to have first seen daylight in Barbados, 1892. Positive of first seeing snow in Canada, 1912. Called by courtesy of the Allies a soldier, 1914. Considered, through the boorishness of the Kaiser, a casualty, 1916. Contracted a grudge against the equine race 1915, so joined O.V.C. 1917.

GORDON G. McDONALD

"Little—but oh my!"

The event took place 1886 at Newmarket, Ont., but Saskatchewan had the care of his education. Chasing buck-rabbits and gophers was his chief pastime before 1917. He is now, however, devoted to comparative anatomy. Acquired the pseudonym "Assiniboia Wild-cat" after his initiation. Winner of the hundred yards, 1919-20. Member of Omega Tau Sigma.

J. W. NAISMITH

"It's nice to get up in the morning . . ."

Made his bow to the world near Bracebridge, Ontario, in 1894. Educated at the local public school and Bracebridge High School. Registered O.V.C., 1917, a bachelor and hopes to leave it a Bachelor (vet. Sci.) although a benedict. K.R. & S. of Omega Tau Sigma. Secy-treas. of O.V.C. Science Association.

E. E. St. G. PALLETT

"All's well that ends well."

Increased the population of Gravelly Hill, England, by his appearance, 1886, and later attended Malvern High School. Migrated to Canada, 1901, and ranched in Saskatchewan. As a member of the "Originals" was wounded at Glenrich, June, 1915. Inquisitiveness brought him to O.V.C., where he acquired the useful habit of "just getting there." Class President, M.W.M. Omega Tau Sigma.

J. C. PHILLIPS

"A goodly man and happily mated."

A native of Harrogate, England; tiring of Harrogate "waters" came to Canada. Returning as Canadian Immigration Representative, was influential in raising Saskatchewan's population by some two hundred, exclusive of his own five sturdy boys. Commenced college life at Chicago Veterinary College, completing his course at O.V.C. Grand Councilman of Omega Tau Fraternity.

G. F. REID

"He loves them all a little."

Took his first drink, 1897, at Lamont, Iowa, where he received his primary education. An inspiration induced him to aspire to a profession, so he entered Chicago Veterinary College, 1917. Thus far he has not regretted the step, and is nothing if not optimistic. Veterinarian in South Dakota had best sit up and take notice.

FRED C. SCHMIDT

"He planned his work and worked his plan."

Born 1889, Leipzig, Germany, where he was educated. Travelled for four years under the Union Jack. Since 1910 a loyal United States citizen and a breeder of Guernseys in Oregon. Enlisted in A.E.F., 1917. Was influenced by his friendly feeling towards Canada, to leave St. Joseph, Mo., and complete his studies in Toronto.

GEO. B. SENIOR

"Young in years, but oh boy! in experience."

First winked at a nurse Dec. 29th, 1899, in Grant City, Mo., later receiving his early education there. Matriculated at Chicago Veterinary College, 1917, where he remained three years in spite of the pseudonym "Blue Bird." Registered O.V.C. 1920, and hopes to have a new appellation 1921.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

THOMAS G. SPRAGUE

"Ah God! the petty fools of rhyme Can't do me justice at this time."

Bora, Hanapton, N.B., 1886. Early in life he migrated to Medicine Hat, Alta., where he received his primary education. His first rash act was when he matriculated as a veterinary student, but thinks he has about seen it through. "He rolls his own."

ARNOLD STOBART

"Let others haul the rising sun."

First demanded attention 23 years ago in Northumberland, England. Landing in Canada 1909, attended public and high schools, finishing in Victoria, B.C. In 1917 he started in pursuit of a degree in Veterinary Science. To date he has chased it through two schools, but thinks he has it cornered at last.

R. H. B. WHEATLEY

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy merits."

Native of South Shields, England, Attended St. John's School and South Shields High School. Matriculated from Educational Institute of Scotland. Commenced at the New Veterinary College, Edinburgh, but wishing to be a Canadian "Vet" entered O.V.C. Associate editor of Canadian Veterinary Record. Secy-treas. Students General Fund. Member of executive class 21 and M.F. of Omega Tau Sigma.

EDGAR D. WRIGHT

"Ambition is the pathway to success."

A son of Ohio since 1896, in which state he received his education. Went back to the land after matriculating, and thereby filling all requirements for a future president of the U.S.A. Introduced to O.V.C. 1918, and hopes to say au revoir 1921.

This Association was organized for the purpose of promoting the investigation and discussion of subjects pertaining to Veterinary Science and the live stock industry.

A great number of the diseases which are causing considerable economic loss to the country have been discussed, especially the means for their control and suppression. Besides discussions by the students prominent men connected with the live stock industry are invited to address the association from time to time during the college year. Such subjects as professional ethics and veterinary jurisprudence are also dealt with.

Let us hope that the Association will continue to be of service to the student, helping him to cope with every emergency, when he sets out in life for himself and exposes himself to public opinion, as young professional men must.

Athletic Association of Ontario Veterinary College

EXECUTIVE

Honorary President—Dr. C. D. McGilvray.
President—R. R. Ormiston.
Vice-President—D. J. Lawson.

Fourth Year Rep.—L. M. Heath.
First Year Rep.—J. G. Anderson.
Secretary-Treasurer—W. C. Hodgins.

The annual election of officers of the O.V.C.A.A. was held on the 15th October, 1920, for the session 1920-21, and the above gentlemen were elected to office.

Dr. McGilvray occupied the chair and in an interesting address drew attention to the importance of athletics to college life and expressed the hope that the same interest would be shown in sports as in past years.

Owing to the late opening of the college and limited amount of time for practice, only a few games of soccer were played this year, but under management as capable as Mr. Pallett's, the promising material in the team will no doubt make a good showing next year.

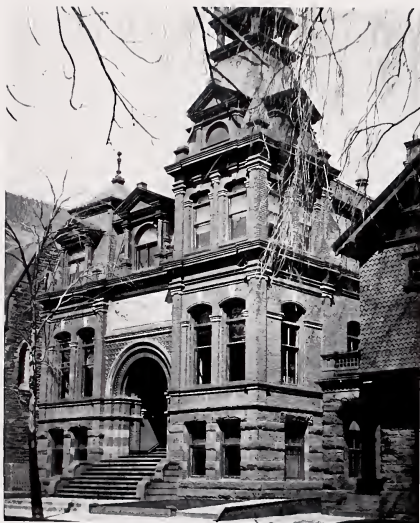

Hockey is probably the predominant sport in the O.V.C.; with a popular manager and the enthusiastic support of the entire student body, we hope to have a very successful season.

The Field Day was held at the Stadium Nov. 12th, 1920, and despite unfavorable weather conditions there was a good turnout, each event being well contested. R. S. Foster, winner of the individual championship at the Intercollegiate meet, and who also holds the Intercollegiate record for the discus, won the greatest number of points, with R. G. Cowie second and T. J. Conlter third. The Freshmen demonstrated the fact that brawn and brain are not associated, by winning the tug-of-war. The results of the athletic year as a whole we hope will be creditable to the College.

The Ontario College of Pharmacy

To the Graduating Class of Pharmacy

by

DEAN HEEBNER

DEAN HEEBNER

The Pharmacist is both a business man and a professional one and the general public's recognition that our calling has a professional aspect is one of the most valuable possessions and we should strive to advance our standing as professional men.

There has been recently a considerable development of the commercial side of the drug store and we are in great danger of becoming mere buyers and sellers of goods. Some pharmacists now seem anxious to exchange their birthright of recognition as professional men for a mess of pottage in the form of commercialism. If we are to continue to be more than mere tradesmen, it is necessary for pharmacists to realize this present danger and to overcome it by living up to the traditions of their profession.

The ideal pharmacist is the one who has retained his professional standing and used it to aid him in achieving commercial success. There is no incompatibility between professionalism and commercialism in pharmacy if they are developed side by side; each in its own proper proportion and not at the expense of the other. It is obvious that a man cannot become a successful pharmacist unless he is a good business man, but neither can he become a successful pharmacist unless he is a pharmacist.

Hence, pharmacists must continue to show that they are professional men with professional training and standards and be capable of assuming the serious responsibilities of the dispenser of medicines by having acquired a thorough grounding in the basic subjects of pharmacy.

PERCY J. MORTON

First began to take notice of things at Campbellford, Ontario, 1891. Spent greater part of time since on the Pacific Coast except for four years overseas. Mixes a little with sports in general. Member of Pharmacy Soccer Team.

CLARENCE E. NETTLETON

"It matters not whether she be dark or fair."
—L.M.V.

"Net" first started the town of Penetanguishene in 1898. Matriculated from F.H.S. By Royal Warrant toured Europe under the guise of a "Wig-wagger" of flags. Returning resolved to quench his thirst for pharmaceutical knowledge, he landed at O.C.P. A recognized authority on the "Poetry of Foot Motion." We wish him every success.

HAROLD PARKE

"Greater ambition has no man than he, Who would dedicate his life to Pharmacy."

Our friend Harold first gazed upon this frivolous world on Dec. 12, 1894, in the Torontonians Suburb of Hamilton. Matriculated at Hamilton Collegiate Institute, and obtained a degree of Bachelor of Arts from Toronto University, despite the above facts. Service in France and Siberia. President of class. Chief hobby—Chemical Research.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

ROBERT PAUL

"When you've nothing to say 'Say it'."

In May '95 at Almonte arrived.
A pair of Pauls—"Bob" survived—
Although short and small he is full of pep
And as a pianist he vamps and chords and trills with zest
And syncopates those "Rags" the best.
But now his main ambition
Is a Phm.B and a good position.

FRANK BURROWS PENNEBAKER

"Oh! How I hate to get up in the morning."

Born Dec. 12, 1898, at Clinton, Ont. Matriculated at Clifton Collegiate. Served apprenticeship with J. E. Hovey, Clinton. Later with R. H. Thompson, Toronto. Member of "Over the Top" class O.C.P. 20-21.

W. LEONARD PRATT

"There's a wee drop in the bottle for the Moru."

"A Farmer's Son." Born April 9th, 1896, brought up on the outskirts of Orangeville, educated there. Matric. in 1916 from O.H.S. The same year, he made a stand for himself coming to Toronto, where he got his preparatory, "as a druggists' devil," winding up his apprenticeship in Soc. Ont., which is the country of the timber wolves.

RUSSELL ROY QUIGLEY

"As a matter of fact."

Born at Warton, Ont., May 3, 1898. Matriculated from Warton High School. Apprenticed to Dr. H. Wigle of the same town, 1916-1920. Over the top class O.C.P. 1920-21.

MORLEY EDGAR RACE

"Aut vincere aut mori."

Was born in Toronto, but the call of nature being too hard to resist; he moved to the country. He cheerfully wended his way to the seat of learning, where he rhymed his lessons to the tune of the hickory stick. He attended high school at Weston and later entered pharmacy.

N. RAY ROBINSON

Born Dec. 27, 1899, in N. Orillia. Educated Orillia Collegiate Institute. Junior Matriculation 1916. Senior Matriculation and Carter Scholarship for Simcoe, 1917.

HAROLD AUGUSTINE ROONEY

"Opportunity knocks not only once—but often."

First saw the light of day in the Tunnel City, Sarnia, May 28th, 1895. In spite of this handicap he proceeded to matriculate from the Sarnia Collegiate Institute. Still undaunted he continued his struggle with the R.A.F. His ambitions are to out rival Michael Faraday as an analytical chemist. Secretary of class and a good head. Nuff sed.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

HAROLD EDWARD ROSS

"First things first."

Born in Mt. Forest, Ont., Feb. 1898, where Public School Education was received. Received Junior Matriculation Stratford Collegiate Institute. Began drug apprenticeship Sept. 1916. Served country May 1918 to Aug. 1919. Again entered C. E. Nasmith & Co. employ till Sept. 1920.

WM. McLEAN ROWLEY

*"I've often said to myself I've said,
Cheer up old thing, you'll soon be dead,
A short life and a gay one."*

Undaunted by the chill of January 19th, 1898, he made a smiling debut; though changed to a grin, it persists. Matric. Penetanguishene High School 1914. Served with C.F.A., wounded 1918. His goal is now Phm. B. instead of the D.C.M.

FREDERICK WILLIAM SCHULTZ

*"A scillitz powder, some salts, a pill,
He says, will cure most any ill."*

Jan. 26th, 1896, Hespeler, Ontario, found underneath a cabbage leaf. Matriculated Galt Collegiate Institute, apprenticeship Phil's Drug Store, Hespeler. Tennis enthusiast, active in young men's social welfare. Secretary Wycliffe Young Men's Class three years. President two years. Champion debater. Member Methodist Church. In Pharmacy '21.

WILLIAM CLYDE SHAW

"The orator is made, but the poet is born, Thus I have no phrase to put in this form."

Born in the Imperial City (Sarnia) Ont., April 1st, 1898. Matric. at Sarnia Collegiate Institute in 1916. Highland dancing a specialty. President of Y. M. C. A. at Pharmacy. Member of Federal Cabinet. University Y. M. C. A. Pharmacy. Four year's apprenticeship served with Homer Robertson at Sarnia.

DAVID ALEXANDER SHEPHERD

"A handful of life is worth a bushel of learning."

Matriculated at Barrie Collegiate Institute. Then returned to Toronto the city of his birth and there served his complete apprenticeship. Diversions: A good novel, a good play.

EARLE S. SIMMONS

"For he is one of us."

The "oilcan" was born in the Ambitious City on Aug. 27, 1897. Matriculated from said Burg 1914. Knocked around Montreal, Detroit, Windsor and Toronto during years of apprenticeship and finally called a halt at 42 Gerrard St. E. and he says, "Oh, Boy! When I get out. Hot dog!"

RUSSELL GALLOWAY SIMPSON

"How are you going to keep him down on the farm after he's seen Forcee."

Born May 1st, 1898 at Sarnia. Matriculated at Sarnia Collegiate in 1916. Active in all sports. Member of baseball, basketball and football teams. Served in France with 16th Battery C.F.A. Pharmacy.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

WILLIAM B. SLOANE

"For he's a jolly good fellow."

Born in the ancient city of Cornwall in '88. Matriculated in '16. Entered Pharmacy and served apprenticeship with W. C. Burns, a home town druggist. Plans to amass a fortune and own his own pill emporium.

WM. H. SMALLMAN

London first saw Bill in 1897. The Collegiate Institute last saw him in 1914. He fell for the call of the mortar and pestle. After three years overseas he returned still "redly."

GEORGE FREDERIC CLEVERDON SMITH

"Music Hath Charms."

Born at Port Hope, February twentieth 1898. Attended Port Hope High School. Matriculated 1916. Apprenticed with T. Geo. Watson, Port Hope. Being a Methodist naturally a singer by inspiration, but this time more the gift. Gives vent to his feelings by that most talented instrument the violin.

W. GORDON STEPLER

"The rain strikes him first."

August 1896 was the time, Strathroy the place. Educated at Strathroy Collegiate Institute. Spent part of a year at Varsity Arts; enlisting with 67th Battery. Served overseas with 4th Battery C.F.A.

UNA KINLOCH STEWART

"But there is one above the rest has wit, an' sense, an' a' that."

That one is Una; we accept the Latin nominative singular as confirmation, but utterly discard the nominative plural since knowing her. Cornwall, Ont., claims credit for her clever career, prior to entering O.C.P. Member of class executive 1921. Vice-Pres. S.C.A.

MURIEL EDNA STRUTHERS

*"Thou art so very sweet and fair
With such a heaven in thine eyes."*

Muriel favored the town of Durham, Ont., with her baby yells. At a tender age, she induced her parents to accompany her to Brandon, Man. Here, she accepted a Public and High School education and is now at O.C.P. to get a degree.

MRS. MARY (nee Sweeney) SULLIVAN.

*"Alas not that I thus suddenly proceed
For what I will, I will, and here's an end."*

Born in Wellington County about the early 80's; attended Arthur High School and Guelph Collegiate; popularity and ability recorded her a valued School Teacher near Elora; married and successfully practiced agricultural husbandry; the reassertion of youthful determination and the mysteries of the Apothecary proved irresistible and Pharmacy gains.

ROBERT SULLIVAN

"Cui bono?"

Jan. 6 1900, introduced IT, to the populace at Brighton, England. Matric at Coll. Inst., Lindsay, Ont., 1912. Secretary S.C.A. (Pharmacy). Pharmacy '21.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

HERBERT GEORGE TAYLOR

Born, Watford, Ont. Educated Public and High Schools. Favorite sports—Boxing, snooker. Favorite subject—Botany.

W. EWART TAYLOR

"An allotropic modification."

First took up oxygen June 15, 1898. Been shooting hot air ever since. Liable to have the wind taken out of my sails at any time. Matric. Oakwood Collegiate 1916. Overseas with C.T.C. 1918. O.C.P. 1920-21.

ALFRED REGINALD THOMSON

*"He keeps his object ever full in sight,
And that assurance holds him firm and right."*

Born in the Queen City in the year 1897. Received his Public School education in the same place. Matriculated from the Meaford High School in 1915. Served in France with the 1st M.G.B'n. Pharmacy 1920-21.

F. DUNBAR ULLMAN

*"The rank is but the guinea's stamp
A man's a man for a' that."*

First saw light July 2nd 1896, Prescott. Overseas, 1916-18. All roads led to O.C.P. for "Bmit," and although there were several windings, there he may be found with the class of '21.

FREDERICK JOSEPH UNGER

"Nor are these empty-hearted, Whose low sound reverbs no hollowness."

Born and educated in Ottawa, Ont. Received his primary schooling at St. Joseph's School and matriculated from the Ottawa University 1915, and began his apprenticeship with W. A. Henderson, Ottawa. If his success academically and during the period of his apprenticeship may be taken as a criterion, then Fred's success in the field of Pharmacy is already assured.

ARCHIBALD J. WAGNER

*"To dance or flirt is very wrong.
I don't."*

*"Wild youths chase women, wine and song
I don't.
You wouldn't think I have much fun.
I don't."*

Family records give event as May 14, 1897. Matric. and apprenticeship Collingwood, Ontario. Champion High School middle distance runner 1913. Presbyterian, in Pharmacy '21.

IVAN T. WALKER

"I play a little and dance quite a bit more."

Hails from City of Niagara Falls. Entered profession under G. D. Troup. Hobby for fast automobiles, dancing and a woman.

BLAKE WATERHOUSE

"An empty wagon makes the most noise."

The happy landing occurred at Corbyville, Ont., in the late nineties. Educated at the good old Belleville High School. Matriculated 1916. Although not pretending to be an athlete is deeply interested in the Canadian National games of Baseball and Hockey.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

CHARLES D. WATSON

"A little cramming, a little sport, eat a lot and you have 'Short'."

Admitted March 29th, 1896, Dundas, Ont. Matric. at Thamesville, Ont. Continuation School in 1916. Apprenticeship with D. A. Watson, same place. Pharmacy 20-21.

DUDLEY J. WEBB

"And he gave himself a 'Webb' of knowledge."

Blew into this world at Springdale, Ont., May, 1897. Matriculated at Aurora. Decided to follow the sign of the mortar. Served apprenticeship with F. E. York, Aurora, and Moore's Limited, Toronto.

ROSINA M. WEHRLE

"Always reliable, always kind, She makes a good, true friend you will find."

Born in Ansonia, Connecticut, she came "across the border" to finish her course in the Ontario College of Pharmacy. "And though we'll walk divided pathways now, And we no more may see thee to the end, We weave this little chaplet for thy brow, That other hearts may know and hail thee 'friend'."

RAYMOND WILKINSON WESTON

"Secundum Naturam."

Born in Saginaw, Mich., June 16th, 1897. Matric. at Sarnia Collegiate Institute in 1916. Captain S.C.I. baseball team in 1915. Overseas one year. Member Anglican Church. Pharmacy.

C. C. WHITE

"He has taken to drugs."

Born at Orangeville, Ont., April 25th, 1898. Spent his youthful days in Gaelch, but the scenes of his childhood held more attractions than the Royal City and he returned to the "village" in 1911. The fact that he returned frequently during this year shows that there are still "attractions." A member of the A.F. & A.M., and a regular attendant of University Lodge.

JOSEPH CLIFTON WILSON

"Your ill health is our business."

One of two, born March 13, 1898, at Wheatley, Ont. Matric. 1916. Four years addicted to drugs. Main object—Sports still have the 13 well in hand and going strong. Pharmacy.

JAMES A. WOOD

"A man's a man for a' that."

—Burns.

Ask him to pronounce Auchterless, and you will know he comes from near Aberdeen. He was told about finding gold in the streets of Toronto, and he is still on search for it. Was over in "La Belle France" being "too proud to stay at home." Pharmacy "scrap of paper" his next objective.

Do You Know Your University ?

University Associations

Men's Students' Administrative Council, 1920-21

It is hardly probable that the year through which we have just passed will be regarded by future generations of students as one of the great years in the history of the University. But this session of 1920-21 has been an important one, not because of its relation to the war, or to any other outside factor, but on account of the events of importance which have taken place while we have been poring over our books.

This has been the year of the University Commission. At the time of writing, the report of the Commission is in process of preparation. The Alumni Association has carried on a vigorous campaign among its members throughout the province to stimulate support of and interest in the University, and the Undergraduate body, through the Students Administrative Council, has shown that it is a factor to be reckoned with and has rendered assistance by circularizing the members of the Legislature.

Within the University an event of great and lasting importance has been the final organization and proper establishment of the Students' Court. This august body has fortunately had little to do this year, beyond placing itself on a permanent working basis. However, it is none the less a duly and decently constituted court, having no inconsiderable powers vested in it by the Caput, so that they who come after us will have to walk warily, lest falling into error, they suffer under the heavy hand of student law and order.

But the year just passed has been unlike any recent college year. We seem to have got back somewhat to normal pre-war conditions—but has the year really been more normal? It has, unquestionably, been more ordinary than any in the near past. The stimulation and exhilaration of war-time have passed—the thanksgiving for the blessing of peace is well-nigh forgotten—and but for some labour unrest, and periodic outbreaks of murder across the sea, we have for the most part settled down to the old round of duties, interests and pleasures—many of each minor in importance, narrow in scope and petty in character. The lofty ideals that were so real to a nation—and to a University—enthusiastically engaged in the prosecution of war, have become the every day platitudes so casually accepted—by a nation and a University—complacently engaged in the pursuits of peace. Herein lies a great danger. The lessons we learned when we sat at the feet of Mars must not be forgotten now that we no longer face the same problems as during the war. The man who placed himself before his fellows or his country during the war was despised—he is no less despicable now. We must not forget that the opportunity for unselfish service of our fellows is as great to-day as it was in 1914.

It should be the aim of any University to develop an ideal of unselfish service of one's country and of the World. It should be the aim of every student organization, whatever else may be its aspirations to foster this spirit in the student society. In the firm belief that in that ideal lies the secret of a successful and useful life, and the secret of real progress, the Students' Administrative Council of 1920-21, wishes the graduating Classes of 1921 every success and happiness, and wishes succeeding Councils as pleasant and profitable sessions as we have enjoyed this year.

Women Students' Administrative Council

The Women Students' Administrative Council is the only official organ of all University women. All colleges and faculties are represented on the Council in proportion with their registration, and the Executive is formed of the Presidents of the Undergraduate Associations of the four colleges, University, Victoria, St. Hilda's and St. Michael's, and of the Faculty of Medicine.

There is an Advisory Board in connection with the Council composed of the Dean of Queen's Hall, the Resident Head of the University College Women's Union, the Deans of Women of Victoria and St. Hilda's Colleges, alumnae representatives from St. Michael's College and the Faculty of Medicine, and the President of the United Alumnae of the University.

The object of the Council is to act for the women of the University as a centralizing and unifying force by which all general administrative and disciplinary measures may be carried out, and the co-operation with the men in the affairs of the Joint Executive tends to broaden and deepen that catholic spirit which is so vital a part of the life of any true university.

The University of Toronto Sketch Club

The club makes its bow to readers of Torontonensis for the first time, although it has been in existence for several years. In the spring of 1917 some far-sighted undergraduates, realizing what a place could be filled in University circles by an Art Club, found a very sympathetic listener in the person of Mr. Vincent Massey, who set aside for such a club, a large, well-lighted room in the basement of Hart House.

During the Spring term of 1917, the club was quite active, but the war curtailed its activities during the next two sessions. In the Spring of 1920, however, upon the completion of the Sketch room in Hart House, reorganization took place, and the room was formally opened by an exhibition of the work of the students in the Department of Architecture.

This session the club has carried on with considerable success. The influx of new members has proved that the Sketch Club is filling a long-felt want in the University, and it is hoped that as the tradition of Hart House grows, the Sketch Room will be used more and more as a work-room.

At the general meeting of the club held monthly men prominent in the various Arts address the members on such subjects as Illustrating, Poster-work, Etching and other Graphic Arts. The Club also visits the exhibitions at the Art Gallery of Toronto and it is intended to keep the members continually in touch with this institution and other artistic centres in the city.

In conjunction with the University Press the Club has conducted a competition for a University Christmas Card and the results were very gratifying. It is felt that it is in just such matters as this that the Club can be of very great use to the University—it will be glad to do all it can to further the artistic interests of the University.

The University of Toronto Y.M.C.A.

The present year is a memorable one in the history of Student Christian work in Canadian Universities.

During the Christmas vacation a Student Conference representative of practically all the Men's and Women's Christian Organizations in the various colleges and universities of Canada met at Guelph and initiated the Student Christian Movement of Canada. This movement co-ordinates the activities of the Christian organizations in the various colleges and faculties and at the same time gives each local association complete autonomy. If the aims and purposes of the local associations are in harmony with that of the movement they may become a part of it and still preserve any affiliations they may have with other Christian organizations.

In the form of organization the University Y.M.C.A. is like the University itself, a federation. In it are comprised eight distinct associations operating locally among the men of the faculties of Medicine and Science, and of University, Victoria Dental, Veterinary and Pharmacy Colleges. These local Associations each with its own executive co-operate through the federal cabinet in matters touching the common interest.

The aim of the Student Christian Movement is to seek an understanding of Jesus Christ through Whom we have the means to a full realization of life and a knowledge of the will of God. This is the ideal of the Y.M.C.A. and its function is to develop and conserve the religious life of the University. To accomplish this purpose some of the strongest speakers of Canada, United States and the British Isles are introduced to the men of the University through the Y.M.C.A. The main inspiration of the Movement, however, is derived from a study of the Bible—the climax of which is found in the records of the life and teaching of Jesus. The Association regards as its primary activity, the promotion of the honest study of this life and teaching through informal study groups under the leadership of students or members of the faculty who have the best interest of students at heart.

The activities of the association seek to give practical expression to the spirit of friendship and service which such study inevitably stimulates. Thus, the student, when he comes to the University in the autumn, is given a handbook prepared with a view to its usefulness among the men of his Faculty; he is aided in the selection of a suitable rooming-house; through the Book Exchange he is enabled to dispose of text-books which he does not require and to purchase used books at moderate prices; if he is a freshman, he is invited to a reception where he may meet his classmates. The association seeks also to carry this friendly spirit of campus service out beyond the University into community service. By working through the established social agencies in the city the University Association introduces students into such activities as the teaching of English to foreigners; the leadership of boys' clubs; assisting at noon-hour "sing-songs" among factory workers; entertaining at the Settlements, at the Military Hospitals, and so forth. Such activities as these, while not great contributions in themselves, serve to bring university men into something more than academic contact with the human side of social and industrial life.

The National Conference at Guelph has already been the means of developing a national consciousness among Christian students which has never before existed. Students from the Pacific Coast and Maritime Provinces have met and a spirit of comradeship has been developed so that the ties which have been formed can never be broken. But the Canadian Student Christian Movement has a vision much broader than the Dominion of Canada and interests much wider. The students of Europe and Asia and other lands beyond the seas are our brothers and when they need our help we must come to their assistance. We cannot live to ourselves alone. Through the closest co-operation with the Student Volunteer Movement the Movement seeks to carry the spirit of service to the uttermost parts of the earth, and we look forward to the day when "all men shall brothers be the whole word o'er."

The Political Economy Club

The Political Economy Club was organized during the month of November, 1916, on the suggestion of Prof. MacIver. At a meeting to which all men taking Honour Economics in their Second, Third and Fourth years were invited, a committee was appointed to draft a constitution. The suggestions of the committee were received and adopted on November 27th, the constitution being later approved by the President of the University and the Club was formally recognized by the Caput.

In 1917 women were admitted to membership and during recent years the Club has grown from some twenty members to almost one hundred.

The purpose the Club has always had in view is to acquaint students with economic conditions as they actually exist and by holding these up against the theory of the classroom to reach definite conclusions on world problems. Prominent public speakers have been secured to speak at the fortnightly meetings and at the annual banquets. The members of the staff in the Department of Economics have always most willingly assisted in any of the work and the closer relation and co-operation between the students and the staff, which has resulted from this will always be recognized as most valuable.

The Anglican Club

The Anglican Club is a University organization whose purpose is to promote fellowship among Anglican women students, and to give special opportunities of deepening and broadening the Christian life.

Through the college year regular monthly meetings are held when the members hear and meet prominent Anglican leaders. There is also an enjoyable programme of hikes, roasts and skating-parties, suitable for the season.

Another important feature of the Club is a Sunday afternoon Bible Class under the leadership of Miss Janie Thomas, M.A. To meet the need of students it is desired that the tone of this group should be devotional, rather than purely intellectual.

An opportunity for social service is given to Club members in connection with the Church of England Deaconess House.

University of Toronto

Athletics

Athletics

The Athletic record for the year 1920-21 is one of great achievement and progress.

Building upon the foundations of the post-war reorganization of the previous year intercollegiate athletics have reached a standard not surpassed in any previous year.

Varsity teams have won all but three championships in the Inter-collegiate competitions, the details of which will be found on this and the following pages. In last year's Torontonensis it was confidently stated that while there would be new conditions to be faced we could look forward to the building up of the old Varsity spirit, and the results this year have amply justified this confidence.

(In the photographs reproduced in Torontonensis it is not possible, owing to the necessity of going to press early in the year, to collate all the teams of the current academic year. The Rugby, Soccer, Tennis, Track and Harrier are for the teams that represented the University in the Autumn of 1920. The Hockey, Basketball, Wrestling, Boxing and Fencing, etc., are for the teams of the Spring of 1920, i.e., the previous academic year 1919-20.)

Rugby

The Rugby Club commenced their activities on Tuesday, the 14th of September, when a large number of players turned out two weeks before term opened to endeavour to make a team. Under the Honorary Coach Mr. Hamilton Cassels, Jr., a "Varsity" man and a rugby player of prominence, and Capt. J. M. Breen, S.P.S. '21, a senior team was built up which won the Yates Cup emblematic of the intercollegiate championship and the Earl Grey Cup for the Canadian championship. Only one game was lost, namely, to McGill in Montreal after which due revenge was taken in Kingston in the play-off resulting in a victory for Varsity in a score of 14-6. On December 4 Varsity met the winners of the Inter-provincial Rugby Union, the Argonauts of Toronto, and decisively defeated them for the Earl Grey Cup.

The Intermediate Rugby Team were also successful in winning the Intercollegiate championship, defeating St. Michael's and Western in the Western group and Queen's, the winners of the East. The Captain was J. C. Patterson, Meds. 24, and the team was ably coached by Dr. Frank S. Parks, a prominent Ruby player of pre-war days.

The Junior team lost their group to O.A.C. of Guelph.

In the Mulock Cup Series fourteen teams were entered, Victoria winning for the first time in many years, defeating Senior Meds. in the finals.

Soccer

The First Team won the Intercollegiate championship defeating Queen's both here and in Kingston. In the Inter-faculty series 8 teams were entered, the winners of the Faculty Cup being the S.P.S. team who defeated Knox in the finals.

Tennis

The Tennis Tournament was this year held in Toronto and McGill sent up a wonderfully strong team. Varsity notwithstanding a strong quartette of players was unable to hold the Cup which has again been taken to Montreal. The Interfaculty tournament again brought out a large number of contestants.

Track

This year is noted for the great revival in outdoor track sports. Three meets were held, the first on October 8th being a revival of the inter-scholastic meet. In this meet representatives are invited from all the secondary schools and Collegiate Institutes in the Province. There were a large number of entries, the winning team being that of Hamilton Collegiate which won 9 out of 11 events.

The Inter-faculty meet was held on October 17th, S.P.S. team winning the championship by 31 points, Meds. coming second with 27. Two records were broken, namely, the 120 hurdle and the discus throw.

Athletics—Continued

The Intercollegiate meet was held in Toronto on October 29th and won by McGill with 62 points to Varsity's 55. Representatives from the University of Manitoba were here by invitation and made a remarkably good showing. Two records were broken, namely, by G. F. Leigh (U.C. 1—Wye. 3) who did the three miles in 16' 15 1/5", and J. C. Farthing of McGill who won the 120 yds. hurdles in 16 2/5". The individual champion was R. S. Foster of Vets.

Harrier

The Inter-faculty Harrier meet was held this year on November 6th, 70 men being entered. The Brotherton cup was won by Meds., O.A.C. coming second and Dents third, with little difference in points. The first man in was L. D. Croll, Med. II., who made the run in 34 minutes 2/5 seconds.

The Intercollegiate meet was held in Toronto on November 13th, the Varsity team winning the Cup. G. F. Leigh was first and R. L. Hamilton of McGill second.

Hockey

In the senior Intercollegiate Series Varsity won all four games and the Cup. The same team was entered in the O.H.A. Series and after a hard season tied for second place with Kitchener who were defeated and then defeated Granites in home and home games for the John Ross Robertson Cup and earned the right to challenge for the Allan Cup. They defeated the Soo in both games and again met McGill (this time the champions of the East) in a sudden death game winning by a score of 11 to 0. They left the same night for Winnipeg, where they won the Allan Cup and the Championship by a score of 8 to 3 on the round.

The intermediate team won their group in the Intercollegiate but lost in the final round to Queen's. The same team played in the O.H.A. and after winning their group lost to Belleville in the play-off.

The junior team commenced the season by winning the S.P.A. Trophy and then tied with De La Salle for group honours in the Junior O.H.A. They were beaten in the play-off. The juniors then played Queen's for Intercollegiate honours which they lost.

There were 17 teams entered in the Jennings Cup series and Junior Meds., Senior Dents, Victoria, and Trinity were group winners. The final game was won by Trinity from Victoria.

Too much praise cannot be given Captain W. B. Ramsay of S.P.S. '22, and Hon. Coach W. A. Dafoe, '20, for a record that has not been surpassed in Varsity Hockey.

Basketball

A very large number turned out in Basketball. In addition to the intercollegiate team four teams were entered in the North Toronto and District League and an attempt was made to start an intermediate intercollegiate series by playing games with O.A.C. and Western University. The senior team won the championship and the cup by defeating McGill and Queen's both here and away.

In the Sifton Cup interfaculty series sixteen teams were entered, the group winners being Junior U.C., Senior U.C., Trinity and Junior Dents. The final game resulted in a victory for Junior University College.

Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing

The Interfaculty meet was held on February 9th, the Davison Cup being won by Dents with 51 points.

The Intercollegiate meet was held in Montreal on February 25 and 26. Varsity clinching the championship by winning the majority of the bouts.

Swimming and Water Polo

The Inter-faculty meet was held on December 3, the Fitzgerald Cup for swimming being won by S.P.S. team with 33 points and the Eekardt Cup for water polo by Dents team.

The Intercollegiate meet was held in Toronto and was won by McGill by a small majority of 2 points, and new intercollegiate records were established in nearly every event.

In Water Polo Varsity won the first game in Toronto but was defeated in Montreal the following week, McGill winning the round by 7 to 6 points.

Athletics—Continued

Lacrosse

The Lacrosse team made its usual Spring tour in the United States visiting several sister Universities. They won nearly all their games and added greatly to the reputation of the University of Toronto in athletics. F. D. McClure of Dents '21 was Captain and N. J. Taylor, U.C. '20, Manager.

Gymnastics

The Gymnastic Club were successful in bringing about the first intercollegiate contest that has been staged for many years, however only McGill were able to enter this year. It is hoped that it will not be long before Queen's and R.M.C. will be participants. The Toronto team carried off the majority of the honors in the various events.

Rowing

The Rowing Club was organized in the Spring of 1920 and arrangements made with the Argonaut Rowing Club for accommodation on the bay front. Professor A. F. Coventry of the Biological Staff and an old Oxford "Blue" was appointed Hon. Coach and although supplied with raw material he was successful in rounding into shape a crew that captured not only the senior but the junior "eights" at the Canadian Henley Regatta in August. As a result they are the holders of the Hanlan Memorial Trophy, a distinction to be proud of.

Alpha Omega Alpha Honour Fraternity

ALPHA OF ONTARIO, 1906

This is a non-secret fourth and fifth years Medical Honour Society, membership to which is based entirely upon scholarship, moral qualifications being satisfactory. It was organized at the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois, Chicago, August 25th, 1902, and is the only order of its kind in Medical Schools on this continent. Its definite mission is to encourage personal honesty and the spirit of medical research. The Oath of Hippocrates was taken by the Greek medical student upon entrance into his chosen profession. Candidates for membership in this Society are asked to subscribe to the spirit of this ancient pledge.

Nearly all of the schools of the highest rank in Canada and the United States are represented, and it is only to those attaining such rank that charters will be granted.

It is not a social organization, and it is the custom to devote the Chapter meetings to the presentation of clinical cases and scientific papers with discussion. Once yearly a banquet is held, followed by a public address by a distinguished member of the profession.

Some Facts About a Great Canadian Institution

HE T. EATON CO., founded by the late Mr. Timothy Eaton in 1869, has expanded from a modest store to a vast concern embracing Mail Order Departments and Factories, and employing 12,200 people in Toronto alone.

What are the reasons for this growth? Apart from causes inherent in the prosperity and expansion of the country, there is the potent fact that this is a business established and conducted on definite principles. Complete satisfaction for every customer and the well-being of every worker were tenets dear to the firm's founder, and they are incorporated into the very fabric of the business, so that all are working with service for their aim.

To mention the various ways in which the Store is uniquely equipped for service is not now possible, but among those particularly interesting to University men and women, one might cite:—

The manufacturing plant, which employs more than 4,000 workers and uses over 3,000 electric power machines. In these factories are manufactured men's and women's clothing, leather goods, furniture, and so on, and each article is sold directly to the consumer.

The Research Bureau, which guards the customers' interests by inspecting and testing materials, yarns and foodstuffs that are sold in the Store.

The pneumatic cash tube system, with 187 stations and miles of brass tubing, through which shoot thousands of cash carriers at an average speed of 16 feet per second.

The twelve engines driving dynamos generating electricity capable of an aggregate output of 3,475 H.P.

The five rotary converters operated by Hydro current with a capacity of additional 3,350 H.P.

The automatic sprinkler system for fire protection, behind which is a pressure of from 120 to 130 pounds to the square inch.

The telephone system, which consists of 425 local telephones constantly in use and over 400 Bell telephones.

The Eaton Boys' Camp, where boys may stay for two weeks at a time during the summer months.

The Eaton Girls' Club, with gymnasium, rest-rooms, swimming tank, class-rooms, music hall, etc.

The Welfare Department with its secretaries, and visiting nurses care for the health of the employees. Two hospitals in charge of trained nurses are maintained for customers and employees, and a dental office for examinations and X-Ray is another activity for the benefit of the workers.

That the individual is of value even in the immensity of this commercial organization, these various activities testify. Great educational institutions train people to think logically and constructively; great commercial institutions enable them to apply that training in the world's work. The personal factor, individual enterprise, energy and the cultivated mind are developed and conserved in the business of this firm.

SELDOM

Yes, very seldom, indeed, does one tire of a really good article.

Just think for a moment of the "really good" things you have ever bought—a motor car—a hat—a suit of clothes—a ring—a picture—a necktie—it is not of the good ones you tire, but the poor ones, the "make-believe" kind.

That is specially true of diamonds, for they never wear out—they last for all time.

The "Ryrie diamond" always means quality, value and permanent satisfaction. That's why our diamond trade is now greater for an average week than it was for an average year at one time in our history.
